NITTI'S DEATH THREATS TOLD

30,000 in Draft Will Be Called Nov. 18

SET ARMY GOAL AT 800,000 MEN BY JUNE 1, 1941

More Guard Troops to Be Summoned.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson tonight announced that the war department plans to call 800,000 of the young men who registered for selective service yesterday to the colors by June 1, 1941.

Henry L. Stimson.

The army plans to have the first batch of conscripts enrolled in service Nov. 18. The first quota call will be for 30,000 men. Calls will come at intervals of about two weeks for increasing numbers of recruits until March 5. After March 5 there would be no call until June 1, when 200,000 men are to be summoned.

At the same time Stimson disclosed plans to call 130,000 additional guardsmen into federal service between Jan. 3 and Feb. 3, 1941. The call will include the 33d division of Illinois National Guard, officers said.

Over 17 Million Register.

Stimson made his announcement as selective service officials reported that yesterday registrations were near and would probably pass the 17,000,000 mark. It had been estimated that about 16,400,000 would register.

Date.	Number of Conscripts.
Nov. 18	30,000
Dec. 2	60,000
Jan. 3	60,000
Jan. 15	90,000
Feb. 10	160,000
March 5	200,000
June 1	200,000

When the selective service act was passed the war department announced that it planned to have 400,000 men called to the colors by Jan. 1. Lack of facilities to accommodate such a large number of recruits made it necessary to revise the plan downward to the 90,000 announced today.

Skeptical About Housing.

A large number of army officers were frankly skeptical of the secretary's revised estimate. They said the army will be fortunate if it has accommodations for more than 50,000 conscripts by Jan. 1, and doubted that the army will be ready to receive 800,000 on March 5 next.

Under the selective service act the army plans to give a year's military training to 5,000,000 young men in the next five years. The law provides that not more than 900,000 can be called in any one year.

Of the 130,000 guardsmen 126,000 will be mustered into active service between Jan. 3 and Jan. 19. These compose eight divisions. The remaining 4,000 guardsmen will be mustered in Feb. 3.

Uncertain About Future.

Stimson was asked if events might not dictate other calls for selective service between the dates he listed.

"Only God and Hitler know what will happen to the United States," was his reply.

Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, director of the selective service machinery, assumed his post today upon his arrival here. He has obtained a leave of absence from the University of Wisconsin, of which he is president, to direct the draft.

Shoes with Wood Soles—Latest Thing in Berlin

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—Berlin's smartest shoe shop today displayed shoes with wood soles as the latest thing in winter footwear. These shoes, said to be an improvement on similar footwear brought out this summer, have either stiff or flexible soles. It is claimed they are as durable as leather, keep the feet warm and assure the wearer a maximum of comfort.

NEW DEAL STIRS WAR AS CLOAK, WILLKIE WARNS

Sees Effort to Hide Peacetime Failure.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 17.—Wendell L. Willkie raised the question tonight of whether the New Deal administration intends to send America into war in order to cover up its peacetime failures.

The Republican Presidential nominee addressed a capacity audience at the St. Louis arena on foreign affairs, looking at the troubled world scene from the viewpoint of the Mississippi valley.

Willkie declared that the New Deal has not been wise or effective in foreign affairs.

"I believe," he said, "that it has contributed to war."

In this view Willkie found support from statements of Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain, who declared in 1937 that the New Deal policies were contributing to world unrest.

Queries Indispensable Rôle.

More than this, however, Willkie, looking at the present day situation and taking cognizance of the belief in the nation's capital that war is drawing near, asked what rôle it is today in which the New Deal finds itself indispensable.

"Is it," he asked, "that we should send an expeditionary force over there? Is it that we should join in a foreign war again? Is that the reason for the provocative statements, the gratuitous insults, the whispers, the rumors that keep coming out of Washington?

"I ask the question frankly. I ask it in dead earnest. Because you and I know that we cannot play that rôle.

"Are you confident that this administration will never send our boys over there, in a desperate and futile effort to cover up its own productive failure?"

Blames New Deal Policy.

Willkie developed the theme that if the New Deal had not brought financial and political disorder to America in the critical years when the aggressors were building their power in Europe the present conflicts might not have developed. Then he looked at today and what might still be done in the direction of peace for America.

"The rôle of the United States among the nations," he said "is not the settlement of boundary disputes or racial disputes. It is not the maintenance of a balance of power in Europe. The peacetime rôle of the United States is far more congenial to our people. It is to create purchasing power and to raise the standard of living, first for ourselves, and, as a result, for others. During the last seven and a half years we have failed utterly to achieve that aim. And we have seen a great part of the democratic world collapse."

Greeted by Big Crowds.

Willkie spoke here tonight after crossing southern Illinois from Evansville, Ind., to St. Louis. He was escorted in a hundred car parade thru the streets of St. Louis, lined thickly with people for miles, white with paper snow.

During the day Willkie addressed a protest to President Roosevelt against delay in sending aid to Great Britain. He asked that congress and the people be informed at once regarding further dispatch of materials and that no third term politics interfere with this action.

A speech which the candidate had been asked to deliver later tonight before the Downtown Kiwanis club was canceled because the club was giving a concert by the United States Navy band and Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox decreed it could not play if Willkie appeared.

Tomorrow Willkie will travel in Missouri and Illinois, and in the evening he will speak at Springfield, Ill.

TRACES FOREIGN OUTLOOK

"Here in the valley of the Mississippi we can look outward in our mind's eye, across the Alleghenies to

Five Political Talks Planned by Roosevelt

New York, Oct. 17 [Special].—President Roosevelt is to make four political speeches, in the interest of his candidacy for a third election, between Oct. 23 and Nov. 2. This was announced tonight by Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman.

The first speech is to be made on Oct. 23, in Philadelphia. The second is to be delivered in New York's Madison Square Garden on Oct. 28, and the third in Washington on Oct. 30. The fourth is scheduled for Nov. 2 in Cleveland, O.

On election eve, Nov. 4, Mr. Roosevelt will make a fifth speech by radio from his Hyde Park home. Radio time has been reserved for all the speeches, Flynn disclosed.

Make Platform Speeches.

Republicans commented on the fact that three of the public appearances would be in states where the Republicans have been claiming gains—New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio—and whose loss might well prove insuperable to the third term candidate. It was said he would give train platform greetings in a number of cities in these states.

It was indicated that the tours would be under the sponsorship of, and with expenses paid by, the Democratic national committee.

Some inkling of the President's attitude in going on an avowed political mission was given by Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York in a talk at Pittsburgh, Pa., tonight. He read the following telegram from Mr. Roosevelt:

"There has been so much deliberate misrepresentation in this campaign I am determined to correct these misstatements and give the true facts to the people."

Here's Flynn's Explanation.

Flynn's explanation was shorter.

"He just wants to do it," the national chairman said.

Flynn added that the President and the national committee were not concerned over the election prospects.

In his speech to the Democratic convention in Chicago in July the President said:

"I shall not have the time or the inclination to engage in purely political debate. But I shall never be loathe to call the attention of the nation to deliberate or unwitting falsifications of fact, which are sometimes made by political candidates."

IT'S BUILDERS' TURN TO SCREAM WHEN THEY SEE 2 STONE EAGLES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 [Special].—Two massive eagles were on the way to a New York reducer today after they had been found too heavy for their perch. The birds are 31 ton carvings from Indiana limestone ordered for decorations on the new social security building.

The modeling cost $3,000, not including the stone. However, architects found, after the eagles had been hoisted to the top of the building, that they were too heavy for their supports. They were sent back to a New York stonecutter.

ANSWERS MANY QUERIES: YES, YOU CAN VOTE G. O. P.

Election board officials said yesterday that thousands of voters have inquired whether, because they voted Democratic in the last primary election, they will be prohibited from voting for Wendell Willkie, Republican Presidential nominee, on Nov. 5. They also want to know whether a vote for Willkie will force them to vote Republican in the next primary.

The answer to both questions, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki reminded all voters, is "No." The judge said, "A vote in the primary has absolutely no binding force so far as voting at the general election is concerned."

"At the primary each list of party candidates appears on a separate ballot," he explained, "Consequently, a primary elector is obliged to declare his party affiliation in order that the judges of election may know which ballot to hand him. In the Nov. 5 general election all party candidates will be on one large ballot and the voter does not announce his party affiliation when asking for a ballot, nor indicate it later."

JOHN L. LEWIS OF C. I. O. MEETS WITH PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP).—President Roosevelt conferred for 20 minutes today with John L. Lewis, C. I. O. chief. The meeting took place soon after the President's breakfast and before he went to his private office. Lewis refused to tell reporters what he talked about.

We're Not Like France, Turks Warn the Axis

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Oct. 17 (AP).—The official Turkish radio said in a broadcast tonight that if the axis powers attempt to drive thru Turkey or Greece to Egypt and the Suez they will find that Turkey "resembles neither Holland, Belgium nor France."

The commentator accused Germany and Italy of trying to conquer Jugo-Slavia, Bulgaria, and Greece by various methods and said they had demanded that Greece give up her British guarantee or "she will be made to regret it."

"Our resistance in the Dardanelles in the last war is recalled and there is no doubt our resistance this time will be even stronger," the radio said.

Premier-Dictator John Metaxas of Greece received the German and Italian ministers at Athens today, the broadcast reported.

Turkey, speeding her defense preparations, today decreed that all vehicles may be requisitioned in an emergency and authorized the use of prisoners in digging air raid shelters.

150 Nazi Planes in Rumania.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 17 (AP).—German circles tonight said that 150 Nazi bomber and fighter planes already are in Rumania and 150 more are expected tomorrow, accompanied by 800 pilots, mechanics, ground crewmen, and instructors.

The disclosure followed closely upon Rumanian press warnings against spreading rumors "about the number of German troops in Rumania, what kind of food they are eating, where, and how much."

60 More Trains Suspended.

Sixty additional trains on regular passenger runs were suspended today, making 120 discontinued. It was said they would not resume normal runs until Nov. 1 or later. [The explanation was censored.]

Vote Probers to Call Jarecki and Courtney

Senator Lister Hill [D., Ala.], chairman of a senate subcommittee seeking evidence of election frauds in Chicago, announced last night that State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney and County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki will be called today or tomorrow to tell what they know of voting irregularities.

Mrs. Harriet Robertson.

Courtney conducted a grand jury investigation of illegal voting practices after the last primary election. It was supplemented by an inquiry launched by investigators from the board of election commissioners. Between 50 and 100 precinct judges and clerks were found in contempt of court and sentenced by Judge Jarecki.

Discloses Widespread Inquiry.

Senator Hill and Senator Clyde M. Reed [R., Kas.], who is the other member of the subcommittee, said the evidence produced by these investigations would be vital to the study of vote frauds which the senate is making on a nation-wide scale.

Testimony at the opening session of the hearing in the Palmer House yesterday was offered by volunteer workers marshalled by the Better Government association, the Woman's Civic council, and the Honest Ballot committee. Among them were watchers, checkers, canvassers, and minor officials. They told of political workers buying votes for sums ranging from 25 cents to $15, of illegal registration, ballot stuffing, chain balloting and other abuses.

All agreed that without collusion between Republican and Democratic election clerks and judges in a polling place few of the frauds described could be perpetrated.

Tells of Mass Voting.

Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson, president of the Woman's Civic council, charged that a Democratic precinct captain in the 27th ward illegally obtained applications for ballots for 136 voters, went to their houses and had them signed, and then told them they would not need to vote at the election the following morning.

The next morning the captain's workers presented the signed applications, obtained the ballots, and voted them. Alert election officials would have detected the fraud, she said. One of the judges, she asserted, was so intoxicated he couldn't tell Republican from Democratic ballots and had to be tied to his chair so that he wouldn't fall out.

Price of Votes: $15 to 25 Cents.

When it came to buying votes the highest price cited was $15. Mrs. Marion E. Force, a member of the civic council, said she knew several women in the 47th precinct of the 6th ward who received that amount in the mayoral primary last year. The lowest price for a vote, 25 cents, is enough to corrupt a flop house lodger in the 1st ward, according to Robert E. Baer, a volunteer canvasser.

One woman refused to testify after she learned that her name might be published in the senate report. She said she was afraid her precinct captain would "get even" with her. Other instances of terrorism were related by Negro witnesses in the "bloody" 20th ward. Several witnesses told of fictitious registrations from vacant lots and even from Grant park.

HOW GANGSTERS TAKE A UNION IS PUT ON RECORD

Ousted Chief Bares Inside Story.

A soft voiced veteran of union warfare told the inside story yesterday of the way Capone gangsters, with guns and threats of murder, seized control of the Chicago Bartenders' union with its 4,200 members and a rich treasury.

The story teller was George B. McLane, the union's business agent and former president. It was he who recently went to court to get the union thrown into a receivership, and the gangsters' control broken. His fight brought about the appointment of Roy D. Keehn as receiver and the indictment of Frank [the Enforcer] Nitti of the old Capone gang and six associates accused of grabbing the union.

Story Told to Grand Jury.

Testifying before Attorney Isidore Brown, Circuit court master in chancery, McLane yesterday repeated in a calm but determined voice the charges on which the grand jury returned the antigang indictments. He swore:

1. That Nitti boasted of gangland rule over many unions and that this dictatorship had placed in power George E. Browne, president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employés and Moving Picture Machine Operators; the late Mike Carrozzo, gangster czar of 25 Chicago unions, and George Scalise, former president of the Building Service Employés' International union, who was sentenced to prison for looting his union's treasury.

2. That Browne, Willie Bioff, and Nick Cercella were present when Nitti plotted the seizure of the Bartenders' International union. [Bioff is the Hollywood movie union czar who recently completed a sentence here for pandering. Cercella, also known as Nick Dean, is an ex-convict who is Browne's personal representative in Chicago, as well as the owner of a night club.]

3. That Harold Levy, widely known Criminal court lawyer, was present when Murray Humphreys, Nitti's No. 2 gangster, and Louis Romano, now president of the union, drew guns and announced that they were taking over his union, which is officially local 278 of the Bartenders and Beverage Dispensers.

4. That Danny Stanton, another Capone mobster, demanded—and was refused—$500 from the union treasury for a trip to the Kentucky Derby.

Hearing on Injunction.

The hearing yesterday was ordered by Judge Robert Jerome Dunne on McLane's petition for an injunction against continued control over the union by the Romano forces. McLane told his story under questioning by his attorney, A. C. Lewis.

Q.—What happened in the spring of 1935? A.—I received a telephone call in the union headquarters from Danny Stanton. He wanted $500 to go to the Kentucky Derby and said he would send two men for it. I told him I had no right to give out union funds. Half an hour later the men came. I refused to give them the money. They telephoned Stanton and he told me, "You son of a ——, we'll get the money and take the union over."

Gets Threat of Death.

Q.—What was your next contact with the gang? A.—Two or three weeks later I received an emissary from Nitti, who wanted to see me at the La Salle hotel. I told him there about Stanton. Nitti said, "The only way to overcome this is to put one of our men in as an officer." I said that was impossible. He said, "We've taken over other unions. You'll put a man in or get shot in the head."

McLane said the next meeting was at the old Capri restaurant on the third floor at 123 North Clark street, and volunteered, "You couldn't get in unless the elevator operator recognized you."

[It was recalled that Izzy Schwartz testified at Scalise's recent trial in New York that Scalise met the Chicago mob in the Capri when he came here to discuss his prospects for gaining the presidency of the Building Service Employés' International union.]

Names Gangsters at Meeting.

Chicagoan Gives Picture of Vital Highway.

Winding dizzily thru steep mountains for much of its length, the Burma road, except for the sections just outside Kunming, capital of Yunnan province, southwest China, will offer a poor target for Japanese bombers. In any event Japanese bombs are not likely to be able to put the highway out of operation for longer than a day or two at a time.

This first hand information on the reopened Burma road was given yesterday by C. W. Van Patter, a traffic executive for the Keeshin Motor Express Company, Inc. Van Patter, Andrew Bassi, and Maurice E. Sheahan were in China for many months under a contract which J. L. Keeshin had with China to reorganize its transportation.

Sitting in Keeshin's office, Van Patter and Bassi recounted their experiences in China and gave a vivid picture of the Burma road. Sheahan has left the Keeshin company.

Main Road 725 Miles Long.

The main section of the Burma road runs from Lashio, Burma, to Kunming, a distance of about 725 miles, Van Patter said. Goods destined for China are brought from the port of Rangoon, Burma, to Lashio by rail and transferred to truck. At Kunming they are shipped on to Chungking and other parts of free China.

"The road is quite good from Kunming to Hsiakwan, China, about 300 miles," Van Patter said. "It winds thru mountains and reaches altitudes close to 10,000 feet. The road in this region is well engineered, with wide, safe curves. A considerable part is 35 feet wide.

"However, after leaving Hsiakwan, the road becomes extremely tortuous. At one river crossing when a truck driver leaves in the morning he can see above him the place at which he will spend the night. Over some sections a truck can't make much over 100 miles a day and it takes about seven days to make the entire trip from Lashio to Kunming.

Crosses Malaria Country.

"One section of the road travels thru malaria country and the toll from disease is heavy.

"A large part of the road is made of what we call metaling base, in which stone and clay are mixed. Having a smooth surface, the road is pretty good and is fairly easy to repair.

"No section of the road can be bombed sufficiently to halt traffic for more than two days. The Japanese must fly 2½ hours to attack the road at the point nearest their new bases in Indo-China, and the Chinese have a considerable amount of anti-aircraft protection."

Van Patter said the maximum amount of freight that can be transported over the road by one shift of truck drivers is about 9,000 tons a month.

Van Patter said that so far as he knows the Chinese are running the truck transportation system themselves. The Keeshin group set up 11 shops for servicing trucks in free China and four along the Burma road. Exclusive of the military, the Chinese have about 13,500 trucks, mostly American made.

Gives Chinese Chance to Win.

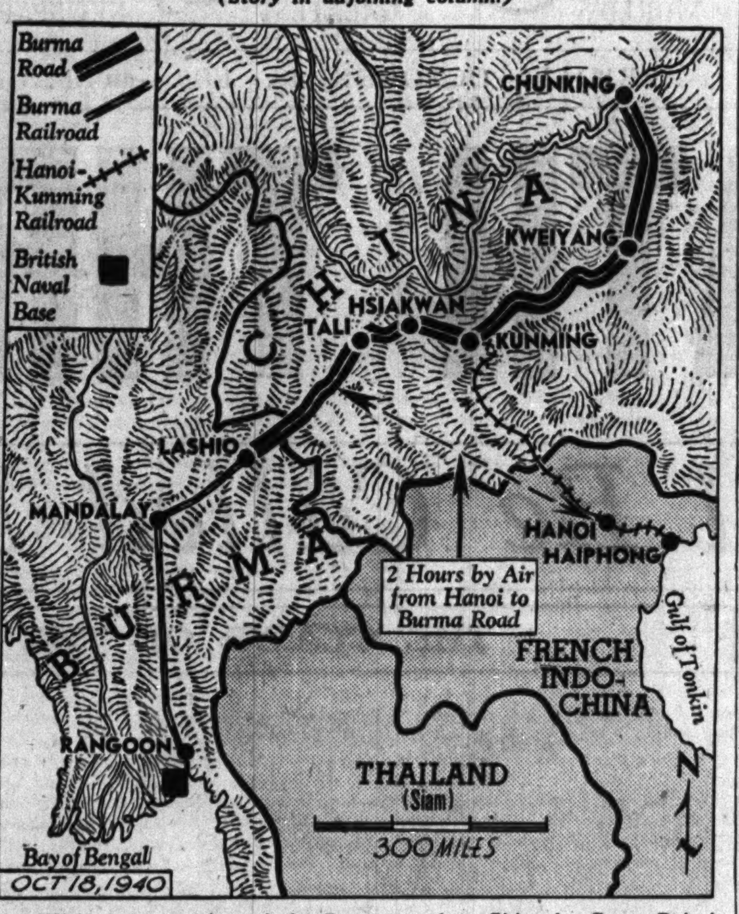
Van Patter said the Japanese bombs have served to unite the Chinese people. Before the first disastrous raids the Chinese felt no particular malice toward the Japanese, but with the killing of large numbers of Chinese their hatred has been growing. He said the Chinese have a good chance to win the war because their food supply is good and their internal financial structure sounder than the Japanese.

"It is a nickel and dime war for the Chinese," Van Patter said, "but it is exceedingly costly for the Japs. Chinese industry is completely decentralized, with small munitions plants scattered thruout the country, so there are many others to take its place should one be destroyed. In this respect the Chinese situation is comparable to our own when we fought the British in the revolutionary war and the colonists relied on many small foundries and arms plants for their munitions."

Sheahan, now president of the Monark Motor Freight system, yesterday told how 150,000 Chinese coolie laborers in seven months built 200 miles of the Burma road, using only adzes for tools. They had to chip their way thru granite on mountain grades, he said.

Japanese Threaten to Close Road

(Story in adjoining column.)



With the reopening of the Burma road to China by Great Britain yesterday, developments moved forward in the far east. Japan threatened to close the road by bombing, using planes based in French Indo-China.

12,000 JAP TROOPS LEAVE INDO-CHINA, HANOI INFORMS VICHY

VICHY, France, Oct. 17 (AP).—The Vichy government tonight announced receipt of a report from Hanoi, French Indo-China, that 12,000 Japanese troops were being taken out of the country via Haiphong under the French-Japanese agreement, which limits Japanese forces in Indo-China to 6,000.

[Domei, Japanese news agency, broadcast Wednesday that some 10,000 Japanese troops who fought their way into northern Indo-China would remain because of Chinese pressure on that border. Whether the French report supersedes this was not made clear.]

REPORT BRITAIN ORDERS MACHINE GUNS IN AMERICA

Hear Johnson Weapon Uses U. S. Bullets.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 [Special].—Observers here were speculating tonight on the possibilities involved in reports that a "friendly foreign nation" [presumably Great Britain] is not only buying the Johnson machine gun in quantity, but also is having the weapons chambered for standard American ammunition.

The Johnson gun, invented by Capt. Melvin M. Johnson of the marine reserve corps in a Boston machine shop, has been turned down by the United States in favor of the Garand light gun.

The military experts said that if the reports were accurate it might mean that the British are expecting to buy large quantities of ammunition in this country. This would greatly increase their ability to keep all their units using small arms supplied.

Canadian forces already have about 500,000 United States Enfield rifles which use the standard American cartridges. Some of the commentators said the change to the same ammunition for Johnsons might not be willing on the part of the British; they might be purchasing whatever they could get.

The disclosure that a Rhode Island firm, the Universal Winding company, soon would start making Johnson rifles was made by Gov. William H. Vanderbilt of that state. He added that the machinery for manufacture already had been purchased.

REOPEN BURMA ROAD; SUPPLIES ROLL TO CHINA

British Resume Traffic Despite Jap Threats.

CHUNGKING, China, Oct. 18, Friday (AP).—China's trucks of war are rolling again on the Burma road under the threat of imminent Japanese bombardment. At midnight traffic was resumed across the border with British Burma after a three month closure by the British in a futile appeasement gesture toward Japan.

[A British broadcast heard in New York last night said the first contingent of 200 trucks over the Burma road was reported to have arrived in Kunming, capital of Yunnan province, after an "uneventful" journey.]

Instead of using the three months to seek a settlement of the three year old China war—or "China incident" as the Japanese call it—Japan won, with pressure on French Indo-China, closer bases for an aerial offensive against China and the great highway itself.

Threaten to Close Road.

Facing this possibility, Chinese labor squads were drawn up today at strategic points to reconstruct as fast as the Japanese could destroy. As added measures of defense Chinese trucks will travel at intervals, chiefly at night.

Once again the road shook under Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's heavy motor transports, bringing in the supplies to carry on against Japan and taking out exports to pay for them.

The Burma road, virtually the last lifeline of the central Chinese government, runs from the Burmese railhead at Lashio to Kunming, southwestern China, where an extension carries it to Chungking, Chinese capital.

1,600 Trucks to Use Road.

The three month closing gave China's coolie corps time to improve the highway, widen its curves, and reduce grades.

Francis K. Pan, director general of the Chinese national transport administration, said about 1,600 trucks would operate over the road. All are American made except 300 British lorries. Pan said Chinese authorities believed 15,000 tons of supplies could be shipped monthly over the road.

Pan said precautions against Japanese raids and sabotage had been completed. He added that "considerable amounts of the outgoing cargoes are destined for the United States and Russia."

Bomb Damages Deanery of Canterbury Church.

LONDON, Oct. 18, Friday (AP).—Long, uneasy lulls between the booming of bombs and the blast of antiaircraft fire early today marked the 41st consecutive overnight German air attack on London.

The raiders, which had come over in mass flights all thru Thursday, stabbed at the city by dark in small groups or singly to drop their bombs. The Germans also harassed Liverpool, where the dock area was a target of the Nazi bombers.

The deanery of Canterbury cathedral, ancient home of British religious tradition, was damaged by bombs in a Thursday raid, but the old church itself suffered no harm. Only last week its substitute windows, put in at the beginning of the war to replace priceless stained glass, were smashed.

During the day hundreds of warplanes had been flung at the aerial line of defense drawn by British pilots over the southeast coast, and while most of them were declared beaten off in their five raids, some broke thru to strafe the capital.

Declare Casualties "Not Heavy."

How many had died here was not stated, officials saying merely that casualties "are not expected to be heavy."

It was a day of mass attack—a change in tactics from the alternative Nazi technique of using small numbers of craft in quick and relatively formless thrusts—and much of the action was fought high above the clouds. The west and southeast coasts were hit heavily.

Last night a statement said that during the day's air fighting four German planes and three British fighters were destroyed.

British bombers flew thru a thick mist last night to blast the French "invasion coast" so heavily that the detonations shook the Kentish shore.

German Guns Open Fire.

Just before 9 p. m. German guns heavily shelled the channel for about 10 minutes from the direction of Dunkirk.

In a rarely accomplished broad daylight raid, British pilots were declared to have heavily bombed the Nazi held French naval base of Brest on Thursday.

It followed the same pattern of night assaults a few hours earlier on the German naval base at Kiel, where fires were said to have sprung up, and on the ports of Hamburg, Bremen, and Cuxhaven. The synthetic oil production plant at Leuna, Germany, was hit.

Nazis Boast New Weapon.

BERLIN, Oct. 17 (AP).—Germany boasted a new air defense weapon—a super searchlight to blind nocturnal British flyers—while reports of havoc wrought by the incessant bombardment of England piled up tonight.

DNB, the official German news agency, claimed for the light a sort of candle and moth attraction. So blinding are its rays, DNB said, that the light seems to make an attacking plane fly directly into German defense positions and antiaircraft guns.

The high command's review said German bombers, flying in unfavorable weather, hit London "full force" Wednesday night with "retaliatory attacks" in which "the resulting fires" lighted the night sky.

The German radio broadcast an account of a forenoon bombardment which returning airmen said sent huge jets of flame into the sky northwest of Waterloo bridge" and caused "extensive conflagrations" north and south of the Royal Albert docks.

Hit Liverpool, Birmingham.

Aside from London, Germany's night raiders made an "especially successful" attack on an airport south of Liverpool and hit other places, including industrial Birmingham, it was stated.

In the war at sea Germany reported the submarine sinking of three armed steamers totaling 21,000 tons, repulse by shore batteries of British warships trying to raid the western French coast, and the sinking of a British submarine in the English channel by a Stuka [dive bomber].

Husband Troubled

Mrs. Joyce Houghton, whose husband joined the National Guard and now faces alimony row if he does not pay before going to camp.

For $76 Daniel G. Houghton, 25 years old, can avoid two kinds of jail. Houghton, an insurance clerk, joined the 106th cavalry, Illinois National Guard, after his wife, Joyce, 22, of 6544 North Fairfield avenue, sued him for separate maintenace.

He is to go on active duty on Nov. 7. But if he does, Attorney Herman Shaprin told Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday, Houghton will be out of the court's jurisdiction.

So Judge Desort ordered that the young man pay $76 attorney's fees and court costs by Nov. 1. If he doesn't he will be in contempt of court and will be sent to alimony row. If he is in alimony row he will be unable to join the 106th cavalry on Nov. 7 and will be marked absent without leave, a guardhouse offense, according to Attorney Shaprin.

NAZIS REPORTED CALLING ON REDS FOR MORE FOOD

But Observers Doubt They Will Get It.

Envoy Sees Molotov

MOSCOW, Oct. 17 (AP).—Count Friedrich Werner von der Schulenburg, the German ambassador, visited the Kremlin tonight and is understood to have conferred with Premier Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov. Count von Schulenburg only recently returned to Moscow from a leave in Germany.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 17.—Foodstuffs and war politics are the chief topics of discussion in Moscow between representatives of the German and soviet governments, according to diplomatic information received here today.

The negotiations are the sequel to a conference in which Moscow's refusal to permit Germany to retain her profitable and growing trade in the Baltic states was the chief subject. When these earlier negotiations broke down, the German delegation, headed by Herr von Schnurre, returned to Berlin for further instructions.

Germans Want Food.

The German delegation is reported to have presented several suggestions to the Moscow foreign office. These include the possibilities of the soviet supplying millions of tons of grain and other products needed to feed Holland, Belgium, and northern France during the winter; a proposal for economic coöperation which would permit Germany to retain part of her market in Bessarabia and the three Baltic countries—Latvia, Estonia, and Lithuania—recently annexed by Russia, and determination of the direction of Russian expansion.

Members of the German delegation have told their diplomatic colleagues that trade between Russia and Germany has been developing satisfactorily. However, they wish to greatly enlarge Russia's food exports to combat the famine confronting Holland, Belgium, and northern France. Political observers said that if Germany can provide food for the inhabitants of these occupied areas she probably can win the support of many who now hate their conquerors.

Report Russian Food Shortage.

Neutral observers in Moscow are not optimistic about the possibility of Russia enlarging her exports of grain, meats, animal fats, and vegetable oils because of the shortage existing thruout Russia.

These observers also are skeptical about German allegations of enlarged trade with Russia. They maintain that, while the soviet has been supplying Germany with naphtha products, manganese, and other raw war materials, other articles such as grain and oil cake have been supplied in restricted quantities which do not alleviate even Germany's domestic food problem.

The German conferees also are said to have told Russia that attempts to extend soviet influence further into Europe must cease; that Germany and Italy intend to protect the Balkans from further Russian penetration. Russia also is reported to be interested in obtaining an outlet on the Persian gulf thru Baluchistan.

Protest Policy in Baltics.

The German delegation also is reported to be protesting the soviet policy of degrading the former high standard of living in the Baltic states to the low level which exists in Russia. The new soviet governments of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania are ruthlessly eradicating all vestiges of German influence and culture in these countries, it is reported.

Many German merchants in the Baltics, who a year ago had obeyed the Berlin order and evacuated the Baltic states, were ordered by Germany to return to Latvia and Estonia with their belongings and reopen their businesses under German protection. Today they are packing again, for their second trip back to Germany.

ACCUSE BRITISH M. P. OVER PART IN FINANCE DEAL

Commons Told to Probe Member's Conduct.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill today called upon the house of commons to investigate the financial conduct of one of its own members, Robert J. Boothby, parliamentary secretary to the food ministry.

Boothby, Churchill declared, had asked to be suspended and the prime minister told the house that he was prepared "to take the necessary arrangements for that."

Foundation of Charge.

The charge against Boothby had its genesis in the German occupation of Czecho-Slovakia, and the subsequent action of the British in freezing certain Czech assets in Britain as protection for citizens who had claims against the Czech government and other institutions in that country.

Churchill declared that Boothby, soon after this development, became chairman of a committee which urged payment of claims against Czech assets in Britain. Evidence recently submitted, Churchill said, indicated that Boothby had a financial interest in one large claim.

This, the prime minister explained, appeared inconsistent with a statement Boothby had made to Sir John Simon, former chancellor of the exchequer.

Motion by Churchill.

A motion presented in commons by Churchill asked that "a select committee be appointed to investigate the conduct and activities of Boothby, the collection and payment out of assets in the country of claims against the government of and institutions in the republic of Czecho-Slovakia; to report generally on these matters, and in particular to consider and report whether the conduct of the honorable member was contrary to usage or derogatory to the dignity of the house or inconsistent with the standards parliament is entitled to expect from its members."

When Churchill became prime minister Boothby was regarded as a promising politician. He is 40 years old and up to 1935 was a partner in a firm of stockbrokers and a member of the London Stock exchange.

HEAR NAZIS MASS 1,000,000 TROOPS FACING RED ARMY

[Copyright: 1940: By the New York News.]

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Germany, in the last four weeks, has concentrated more than 1,000,000 men in occupied Poland facing the Russian frontier, a source close to the soviet embassy said tonight.

Germans stated that the troops were being sent eastward from the French "invasion coast" for "recuperation."

The movement into Poland, timed to precede slightly the German penetration of Rumania, extends the armed soviet-German frontier in an almost unbroken line from the Black sea to the Baltic. The move is accepted in Moscow, the soviet informant said, as an open threat and demand for freedom of German action in the Nazi drive to the southeast.

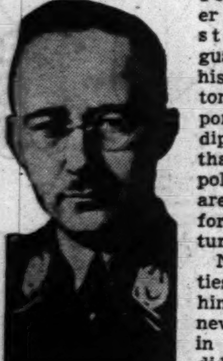
HIMMLER ON WAY TO WIN SPANISH HELP, NAZIS HINT

Predict Important New Events Soon.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—Heinrich Himmler, chief of the German GSP [Secret Police] and leader of the Schutzstaffel [Hitler guards] was on his way to Spain tonight as reports spread in diplomatic circles that "important political events" are in the cards for the near future.



Heinrich Himmler.

Nazi authorities dropped the hint that some new activity is in the offing but did not encourage inquiries as to its nature. Correspondents were "advised" unofficially not to speculate on the possible purposes of Himmler's trip altho it was said the visit was another link in the steadily strengthening chain of friendship between the two dictatorships.

Await Spain's Decision.

The appointment of Ramon Serrano Suner, minister of interior, as Spanish foreign minister so soon after his visit to Berlin and Rome, where he conferred with Adolf Hitler and Premier Benito Mussolini, was taken here as an indication that the Spanish situation may be beginning to tell. A decision by Spain in accordance with "axis advice" may be the activity anticipated in Berlin.

[Madrid dispatches said political observers regarded the appointment of Suner, who is Generalissimo Francisco Franco's brother-in-law, as certain to be welcomed by Germany and Italy. Suner replaced Col. Juan Beigbeder y Atienza.]

A number of diplomats are expected here in the next few days, among them being Franz von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, who will report on the Turkish reaction to Nazi infiltration in the Balkans.

Deny Changes in France.

Correspondents who inquired about the expected visit of a foreign diplomat from a nearby country were warned to make no mention of this report. At the same time it was denied that Gen. Charles Huntziger, one of the French plenipotentiaries at the signing of the armistice with France, is to come to Berlin.

It was also denied that any important change is contemplated in the present French political setup.

CLAIM 40,000 NAZIS HIT IN CHERBOURG BY BRITISH RAIDS

LONDON, Oct. 17 (AP).—A Madrid dispatch to the London Daily Express said today that German losses in Cherbourg, France, in British air raids had been estimated at between 40,000 and 50,000 killed or wounded. This information the dispatch attributed to neutral observers reaching Madrid.

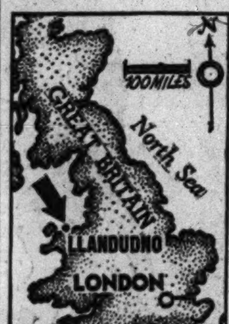
"Almost every civil and military hospital from the Belgian to the Spanish frontier has been requisitioned," it added.

Reliable sources in London said it was impossible to estimate the German casualties but remarked: "Of course, the R. A. F. has been pounding military objectives and invasion ports heavily—including the bombing of troop trains."

England at War: Two Pictures

Two dispatches from England last night portrayed great contrasts in conditions in London and the nation's industrial area. The dispatches:

LONDON, Oct. 17 (AP).—There has been an "ominous increase" in the wartime spread of cerebrospinal fever, Malcolm MacDonald, minister of health, declared in the house of commons today.



Arrow locates town to which department of government moved.

[Cerebro-spinal fever is cerebrospinal meningitis, also called camp fever. It has been a common military disease. The precise cause of its rise in wartime is not known, but it is presumed to come from crowding, such as in air raid shelters and in other intimate contact. The disease is attributed to an organism in the nose and throat, presumed to be air borne.]

Government to Stay.

As MacDonald spoke, informed parliamentary sources disclosed that Britain's government is staying in London, and is not yet ready to order compulsory evacuation of the bomb strafed capital.

It was announced later, however, that the board of trade, which corresponds to the United States department of commerce, had moved its offices for the registration of business names to the Grand hotel at Llandudno, Wales.

TELL HEALTH PROGRAM

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Minister of Health Malcolm MacDonald today outlined a 10 point program to guard against dangers arising from the congestion in air raid shelters. The points follow:

1. Evacuation to prevent overcrowding. Some 489,000 school children or 56 per cent of the total have left London, and mothers and their children are leaving at the rate of several thousand daily. Five hundred expectant mothers are leaving London each week.
2. Dispersal of those who came to London earlier in the war when it was not under heavy bombing.
3. Provision of bunks for night shelterers to assure proper rest.
4. Introduction of new sanitary facilities.
5. Regular inspection of shelters by medical officers.

First Aid Posts.

6. First aid posts for shelters holding more than 500 people.
7. Sick bays in large shelters for those whose partial isolation is necessary.
8. Trained nurses in every large shelter each night.
9. Medical aid available for every large shelter.
10. Removal of infectious or seriously sick people to hospitals.

Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin also told commons that the government was considering arrangements for war workers in the bombed areas to take short rest periods in quieter parts of the country.

Leave Jobs Early.

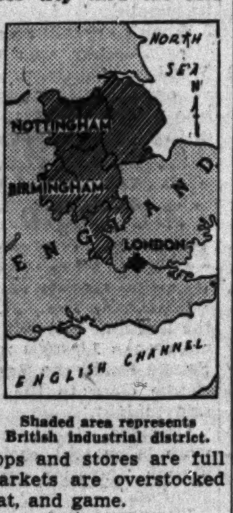
Department stores are gearing themselves to blitzkreig conditions by maintaining skeleton staffs which sleep on the premises, closing earlier, and providing special facilities for employés with difficult journeys.

Harrod's, one of London's biggest department stores, will have 500 of its employés sleep on the premises. This will enable the store to carry on in an emergency. The staff will spend winter nights in a basement equipped with a snack bar, restaurant, smoke room, games parlor, and radio lounge.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 17.—A traveler making a crisscross trip thru the Midlands, the great industrial center of England, returns to London with a feeling of great security for this country. The atmosphere of the roaring '20s in the United States exists in the Midlands. Hotels and picture shows are crowded. Shops and stores are full of people. Markets are overstocked with food, meat, and game.



Shaded area represents British industrial district.

There seems to be a great abundance of food all over the country. In addition to the quantities of food observed in the towns and villages, the fields abound in hay, straw, big heaps of potatoes, cabbages, turnips and sugar beets. Farms are overflowing with fat cattle, sheep, horses, tractors, hogs, and poultry. Every small body of water has its quota of swans, geese, and ducks.

Harvest Fall Crops.

The fall crops are being harvested and winter grains are going in. I counted 40 men, women, and children, two tractors, and three horse implements in one 20 acre field. Fertilizer was being liberally applied.

In the industrial cities and towns, smoke pours from all stacks. There is no visible bomb damage. Inquiry elicits the remarks, "We had two bombs the week before last, but they did no damage" and "We heard some airplanes overhead three nights ago."

Highways are full of traffic. Trucks and motor cars move in all directions. A surprising number of new vehicles is noticed. Roads are being repaired and new ones built. New houses, stores, and factories are going up.

Railroads are busy both with passengers and freight. Passenger trains are running late but getting there.

Rails Cause a Wreck.

The service is better than in the United States during 1918 and better than the train service in north Germany six months ago.

On my return to London the train was held up by a wreck in front, caused by faulty rails. The passengers changed to a nearby electric train, which in turn was held up by damage to a bank on the right-of-way. Switched to the subway, we arrived in London late but safe.

DENIES ENVOYS ASK GOVERNMENT TO LEAVE LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 17 (AP).—Vernon Bartlett, News-Chronicle commentator and member of parliament, said in his column tonight "one of the stranger statements of the German radio of the last few days is to the effect foreign embassies and legations have urged the British government to move the foreign office from the 'London inferno.'"

"No such request as far as I can discover has been received from any diplomatic mission in this city," Bartlett added.

[The German radio in a broadcast heard by CBS in New York last night said "differences of opinion arose" recently between Prime Minister Churchill, Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax, and members of the diplomatic corps over transfer of the government from London. The German announcer said Churchill "vigorously opposed this suggestion."]

CANADIAN EDITOR TELLS WARTIME BURDEN OF PRESS

Cites Responsibilities Its Freedom Entails.

In war or in peace, no right maintained by the United States or the British empire excels in importance the right of a free press, Napier Moore, Toronto editor, declared yesterday.

Moore, editor of McLean's magazine, addressed the 27th annual meeting of the Audit Bureau of Circulations at a luncheon in the Stevens hotel. He spoke on North American coöperation and predicted that when the present war is over, the United States' investments in Canada will be "still secure, still profitable."

Press' Responsibility Heavy.

British and American freedom of the press now carries a responsibility tremendous in its weight, he said.

"Our responsibility is one that will grow, not diminish, when the tide of war recedes," Moore continued.

"For upon the manner of our reconstruction must depend the future happiness and liberty of mankind.

"What form the reconstruction will take I do not know, do not presume to forecast, but to me it is inconceivable that the voices of all English speaking people will not be heard in some way."

And they are heard, he added, only thru a free press.

Canada, with its national income of about $12,300,000 a day is spending $3,000,000 a day on its war effort, he said, whereas in the first year of the last war it spent $475,000 a day and in the last year $1,400,000 a day.

Its people work 40 days a year to pay for its military services, he said; 10 days to pay for its naval services; 18 days for its air services [$1,000,000 a day]; four days to pay for supplies; four days for other war expenditures; 40 days for the budget of the Dominion, 15 days for education, protection, and health.

Feels U. S. Capital Is Safe.

More than 1,000 United States controled and affiliated companies have 2.1 billions of capital invested in Canada, he said. Altogether, with loans and other interests, 4 billions of United States capital are invested there. What of these?

"Well, the war of 1914-'18 ended with United States investments in Canada still secure, still profitable," he said. "When the finish of this one comes, I am certain they still will be secure.

"If not, the reason will be that the whole foundation of democracy, in which there is honest endeavor to fulfill pledges, has crumbled. I do not believe that we of the North American continent will see that day come."

BRITISH ARE TOLD THEY HAVE MORE COAL THAN EVER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Britons, in response to government appeals, are stocking up in advance with fuel for the winter and their cellars "now are filled with more coal than ever before in history," according to H. W. Cole, director general of the coal distribution emergency scheme. The object of the scheme, which has been in operation two months, is to avoid a repetition of last winter's coal shortage. It provides for the pooling of distribution facilities and man power and to accumulate large quantities of coal in dumps near consumers. Thruout the country consumers have been advised not to insist on deliveries of special brands of coal and to accept whatever is available.

PLANES ATTACK BRITISH SHIPS AT ALEXANDRIA

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Oct. 17 (AP).—Alexandria was raided twice tonight by planes that tried to bomb British warships and military objectives in and around the city. One plane was hit and badly damaged by antiaircraft fire.

The fleet and coastal defenses raised a terrific barrage around city and harbor as the planes came over from three directions.

A communique issued by the royal air force at Cairo also reported an enemy attack on Alexandria last night, but said the planes were driven off by defending aircraft.

ENGLISH SAILORS UPSET BY LUXURY ON U. S. WARSHIPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 17.—English sailors who brought over age American destroyers to England tossed aside the spring mattresses in their bunks after a couple of days at sea and slept on blankets instead. The tars aboard the destroyer on which I was a passenger first regarded the mattresses as something extra special, but they soon changed their minds. The mattresses, they said, had too much motion in rough weather.

A large number of the sailors were having their first taste of life at sea. They came from volunteer naval stations in England. The older hands were veterans of sinkings and bombings and some of them were out of Dunkirk. The first lieutenant was a fair haired boy of 24 years, who was wearing a Distinguished Service cross for his exploits in Norway.

Become Experts Rapidly.

The veteran petty officers soon rounded the green hands into wartime shape, and when the flotilla was in submarine waters the crews acted quickly and accurately. They maintained their action stations on the slippery steel decks in weather that even the veterans called "bloody."

An American naval officer who was quoted as saying these destroyers had plates "thick enough to keep out water and small fish" was only slightly exaggerating. A minor collision with a tug stove in the bow plates of our ship. Nevertheless, the vessels took the heavy seas without damage.

Soup Flies High.

The destroyers evidently were not prepared for the Atlantic weather they encountered. Wardroom chairs were not shackled to the deck, and there were no boards to hold plates on the table. Soup flew at every meal

In the face of threatened submarine attacks and air raids, the officers remained calm always. Nothing could interrupt their afternoon tea, served every day in the wardroom. They kept double watches thruout the voyage and their eyes were red rimmed and weary when we finally reached England.

SEEK WAR PILOTS FOR ENGLAND AT CHICAGO OFFICES

U. S. Sympathizers Set Up Bureaus Over Nation.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

A group of Americans sympathetic to the Canadian and English cause in the European war have opened headquarters in the Morrison hotel to interview experienced middle western flyers. Airmen who show themselves to be qualified will be invited to join either the Canadian or English air forces or to lend a hand to the military forces of those countries as civilian ferry pilots. [Ferry pilots are those who fly, or ferry, planes from one point to another for delivery.]

This became known yesterday with the arrival on a Transcontinental and Western Air transport of Clayton Knight, aviation artist and illustrator, who heads a national organization that is assisting American pilots to join the British forces. Knight has set up similar interview centers in New York City; Los Angeles and Oakland, Cal.; Dallas, Tex., and Kansas City, Mo.

No Recruiting Being Done.

"We definitely are not recruiting," Knight declared. "We merely are interviewing candidates, giving them physical and flight tests, and then recommending them to the Canadian authorities."

Frank Coffyn, one of the Wright brothers' earliest students and a flight instructor during the last war, who is in charge of the Chicago office, said:

"First of all it should be understood that we are not recommending any one who is a member of the army, navy, or marine corps, or the reserve units of these forces. Neither are we willing to recommend any one who has qualified as a re-rated instructor under the civilian pilot training program.

"There are many flyers, however, who may want to know about opportunities in Canada. They must have from 400 to 1,000 hours of flying time on their logs.

"In addition to the military flying services, pilots are needed for ferrying of warplanes in England, and for ferrying of long range bombers across the Atlantic."

Citizenship Isn't Affected.

Joining the English air service will not affect a flyer's American citizenship, Knight said.

Pilots joining the flying services receive regular English army pay, which averages $300 a month for ranks equivalent to first lieutenant in the American army air corps. Pay for the ferry pilots in England is $150 a week.

Those who sign contracts to fly bombers the 1,900 miles from Botwood, N. F., to England, will receive $400 a month base pay while not flying, and $500 a ship for every ship delivered to England.

NAZI OFFICERS WHO QUIT UNDER FIRE FACE DEATH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—German officers who surrender their commands without having exhausted every possible means of defense are subject to the death penalty, under terms of the revised military code made public today. The code specified the death penalty for commanders of fortified positions, commanders on the open battle field, or commanders of war vessels whose capitulation is regarded as unjustified. Desertion at the front is punishable by death, and the penalty for insubordination or instigation of mutinies is death or a prison term.

Mayor Carl Zeidler of Milwaukee was the honored guest last night at the annual fall banquet of the German Club of Chicago, held in the Palmer House. Mayor Kelly was present to greet the Milwaukee executive. Joseph P. Immel is president of the German club and Julius M. Altenhofen was in charge of arrangements for the dinner.

Exonerate Puerto Rico Official in Political Slaying

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Oct. 17 (AP).—Miguel Angel Garcia Mendez, speaker of the Puerto Rican house of representatives, was exonerated by Attorney General George Malcolm today in the death of Roque Perez Roig during a political argument Sept. 29. The speaker's chauffeur, Ovidio Velez Hernandez was ordered held on a second degree murder charge. A final report showed Roig was slain by a bullet from the chauffeur's pistol.

CHIEF MULLANEY PERILED IN FIGHT ON A 5-11 BLAZE

Anthony J. Mullaney, first deputy fire marshal, narrowly escaped death or severe injury last night during a fire in a three story building at 1548-54 Cortland street. Mullaney was knocked off his feet by a stream from a fire hose and nearly fell under the wheels of a passing hook and ladder truck.

The fire, which did damage estimated at $25,000 by Michael J. Corrigan, fire commissioner, brought about 40 pieces of equipment to the scene, held up trains on the Chicago and North Western tracks, and blocked auto and street car traffic on Cortland street and Elston and Ashland avenues. A 5-11 and several special alarms were turned in.

The blaze spread from the Cortland street building to two in the rear, but most of the damage was in the first building. The property is owned by Harry A. Brown, president of the Squire Dingee Pickle company, which has offices in the building.

Offer De Mille Chicago Site for Movie Production

Cecil B. De Mille, motion picture producer, has been offered a 21 acre tract of land free of charge, it was learned yesterday, on condition that he move his production activities to Chicago. The offer was made by Mayor Kelly and David Mayer Jr., president of the State Street council. De Mille will discuss the proposal when he comes to Chicago next week.

NEW DEAL STIRS WAR AS CLOAK, WILLKIE WARNS

Sees Effort to Cover Up Peacetime Failures.

the Atlantic, and across the Rockies to the Pacific. We can see in giant perspective the position of America on the earth.

"We can see in Europe the advance of bloody armies across nations that were once numbered in our democratic world. We have seen those armies advance across fields where some of our boys lie buried.

"And when we turn in the other direction and look out across the Pacific we find that the same insatiate and aggressive dictator who has made a shambles of Europe, has now joined in alliance with Japan—an alliance that seems to be aimed at the United States.

"We may, perhaps, take comfort in the fact that Japan is very far away. We may, perhaps, also take comfort in the recent intimation by the Japanese foreign minister that the new alliance is not really aimed at us. We deeply hope that he is right.

Necessary to Keep Guard.

"Nevertheless, in the light of the record, we must view that alliance with profound misgivings. We cannot afford to assume that it is meaningless. We must be on our guard.

"Now, my fellow Americans, this situation has been brewing for a number of years—since the world war, and even before that. But tonight I want to confine our discussions to the last four or five years.

"In those four or five years the administration in Washington has been active in foreign affairs. It has been active, so it tells us, in promoting the cause of peace. And it has been extremely successful in persuading the American people of the wisdom of its foreign policy.

"There are some persons in America today who admit frankly that this administration has failed in its most elementary duties at home. They admit frankly that the New Deal has demoralized American industry, created widespread unemployment, and brought America to the verge of bankruptcy.

"And yet these same persons tell us that this administration has been so wise and so effective in its foreign policy that it ought to be reelected for a third term.

"I am in agreement with many of the basic international objectives of this administration at the present time. I shall return to some of those objectives in a moment, to define them.

"But I wish to make it plain tonight that I do not think the New Deal has been either wise or effective in foreign affairs. I do not believe that it has contributed to peace. I believe it has contributed to war. And I believe it has done so because of a fundamental misunderstanding—a fundamental failure to understand—the rôle that America must play among the nations of the earth.

America's Proper Function.

"In order to define what I believe to be the proper rôle of America, the proper function of America, I am going to quote some passages at considerable length. They are written about America by a European statesman—the most courageous, and I believe the most farsighted statesman in the world today. I am referring to Winston Churchill, prime minister of Great Britain.

"The first passage was written in December, 1937. I have read it before in this campaign. I want to read parts of it again because it defines, better than any words I know, America's rôle in world events.

"'There is one way above all others,' said Mr. Churchill, 'in which the United States can aid the European democracies. Let her regain and maintain her normal prosperity.' A prosperous United States," he says, "exerts an immense beneficent force upon world affairs. A United States thrown into financial and economic collapse spreads evil far and wide, and weakens France and England just at the time when they have most need to be strong.'

"Now mark this next passage well. This is what Winston Churchill said just after the New Deal had wrecked the recovery that had started here in America in 1937. 'Even in time of peace,' he said, 'even in time of peace the economic and financial policy of the United tSates may exercise an appreciable check upon the war preparations of potential aggressors.'

"In that most critical year of 1937, the United States might have exercised 'an appreciable check' upon the rise of Hitler. That is what Winston Churchill said.

"But what did this administration do? Let us listen to Mr. Churchill, writing a year later, in 1938.

"'Economic and financial disorder in the United States,' Mr. Churchill wrote in 1938, 'not only depresses all sister countries, but weakens them in those very forces which might either mitigate the hatreds of races or provide the means to resist tyranny. The first service which the United States can render to world causes is to be prosperous and well armed.

"'The warfare between big business and the administration continues at a grievous pitch. These great forces do not seem to realize how much they are dependent upon one another. The President continues blithely now to disturb, now to console, business and high finance. He blows hot, he blows cold, and confidence does not return. Immense use is made of the national borrowing power for relieving unemployment which would largely cure itself, if even for a single year the normal conditions of confidence were restored.' This is Winston Churchill talking, not Wendell Willkie.

Broad Oceans No Barriers.

"That was what America looked like in 1938 to a statesman beyond our shores. It is not the carefully decorated picture of American foreign policy that the New Deal has drawn for the American people. It is a forthright picture drawn by the man on whom has fallen the terrible task of defending the democratic world.

"Now I know that there are many who believe that the Atlantic and Pacific oceans are so broad that we in America need not worry concerning what happens on the other side of them.

"These oceans are indeed broad. We can say with the utmost confidence, standing here in the center of America: We do not want to send our boys over there again. We cannot and we must not undertake to maintain by arms the peace of Europe.

"But, my fellow Americans, those broad oceans are not supposed to be barriers. They ought to be broad blue highways of commerce and trade.

America's Rôle in World.

"When trade travels across the oceans and the frontiers, a new demand is set up—directly and indirectly—for the products you manufacture here in St. Louis, and the crops you grow here in Missouri. That demand, in turn, is created by the purchases of American industry—by the buying of tin and rubber and nickel and other commodities that our industries need.

"The rôle of the United States among the nations is not the settlement of boundary disputes or racial disputes. It is not the maintenance of a balance of power in Europe. The rôle of the United States—the peacetime rôle—is something far more congenial to our people. It is to create purchasing power and to raise the standard of living, first for ourselves and, as a result, for others.

"That is the aim. When we fail in that aim we weaken the democratic world. During the past several years, since Winston Churchill penned those penetrating words, we have failed utterly to achieve that aim. And we have seen a great part of the democratic world collapse.

Indispensable—For What?

"But, you say, all that is water over the dam. We may perhaps look forward to some future time, under some future administration, when America may have a chance to play that peacetime rôle. Today the world is at war. The New Deal—so they say—is necessary to the fulfillment of the wartime, not the peacetime, rôle of the United States.

"But I ask you: What rôle is this? What is this rôle to which the New Deal is so indispensable?

"Again we are speaking here in the middle of this continent. And as we look out across those oceans what do we find standing between us and the decline of our kind of trade and commerce?

"What do we find standing between our free enterprise and the totalitarian method of production by slavery?

"What do we find standing between our free instutions, which we cherish, and the barbaric philosophy of slavery to the state?

What Should We Do?

"We find those people across the Atlantic. We find them to the north of us in Canada. We find them more remotely, and in smaller numbers, across the Pacific in Australia and New Zealand.

"As we stand here looking out to the east and to the west we find the British people living on the rim of our freedom.

"So I ask again: What is the rôle that we should play? What is this rôle to which the New Deal says it is so indispensable?

"Is it that we should send an expeditionary force over there? Is it that we should join in a foreign war again? Is that the reason for the provocative statements, the gratuitous insults, the whispers, the rumors that keep coming out of Washington?

"I ask the question frankly. I ask it in dead earnest. Because you and I know that we cannot play that rôle. We cannot send an expeditionary force out to that rim. We have no such force. And even if we had the force it would do no good. It isn't what those people need. It isn't what they have asked for.

Rate of Production.

"The reinforcement of that rim of freedom can be accomplished in one way, and only one way. It can be accomplished only by production.

"We must produce more, and more, and more. We must produce airplanes. We must produce hundreds of other things. That is our rôle. That is the rôle that we must play to reinforce the rim.

"But when we have reached that resolution we uncover a terrible fact. It is a terrible fact. We have not got those things to send to Britain. We haven't even got them ourselves.

"And here is another terrible fact. Here is the worst fact of all. We are not even making these things. We are not making them in any quantity. We are not helping the way we ought to help, the way we must help if we are not to be left utterly alone in this bloody and barbarous world.

"And why is this? Why are we so incapable of doing the very thing we know we ought to do?

"It is because, for the last five years, this administration, which knew, which could not help knowing, what was happening in the world, failed—utterly and completely failed—to grasp the real function of America in a war-torn world.

Saw Need of Defense.

"This administration failed to see—failed most tragically to see—that the key to war, as well as the key to peace, is American production.

"I have shown on many occasions that this administration has been aware of the need for adequate defense for nearly five years It said so in January, 1936.

"But what was done about it? Our agencies of production were abused, attacked, smothered under a wave of political propaganda. Our navy was not built up. Our army was not modernized. Our arsenals were allowed to sink into decrepitude. Our aircraft industry was not encouraged—we have today only a few hundred modern military planes.

"As a result we haven't even the capacity to make these things.

"And as a further result, everything we send to Britain is a sacrifice to our own defense. We must make the awful choice as to whether to supply Britain first or ourselves first. We cannot supply either one adequately, much less both.

Industry Is Demoralized.

"I have said before that I favor aiding Britain at some sacrifice to our own defense program. But I want to point out here, that it is a sacrifice, and that it is the New Deal's fault.

"And worse—much worse—our entire industrial system is demoralized. The expansion of our capacity will be even slower than it would have been had we been producing even on a normal peacetime basis. We do not start this huge task from a normal level. We start it from a depression level.

"Therefore, my fellow Americans, I put this proposition to you very seriously.

"Here is an administration which has maintained itself in power chiefly by attacking American industry.

"Here is an administration which does not understand industry—which does not understand, which has never studied, the most elementary principles of production.

"Here is an administration which, from 1933 thru 1937, failed to understand the relationship of America to a world at peace, and from 1937 onward has failed to grasp the relationship of America to a world at war.

"Here is an administration which even now—even now—refuses to give adequate powers to men who understand production; which insists upon clearing the entire defense program over the desk of a single man who is running for a third term.

"Do you seriously believe that this administration is capable of meeting this crisis, which it has so largely brought upon itself?

"Do you seriously believe that it is capable of reënforcing the rim of freedom quickly and effectively?

"Do you seriously believe that it can supply America with the indispensable weapons of defense and at the same time supply Britain?

"Are you confident that it will never send our boys over there, in a desperate and futile effort to cover up its own productive failure?

Greatest Production Job.

"In the history of the world there has never been such a huge production job as that which lies ahead of us. It surpasses what we attempted in the world war.

"And I can also truthfully say that no administration in the history of America has ever understood less about the problems and necessities of production.

"Let us not be fooled by scenery. Let us not be fooled by poses and attitudes and clever words.

"America has contributed to make the crisis in the world today. And the men responsible for that fact are the men of the third term party, who are now seeking reëlection on the international issue.

Make Peace a Reality.

"More than ever before in history, the American people now hold the fate of other nations in their hands. More than ever before in history, it is for them to mould the shape of things to come. This shape, this unknown shape, will be born on a single day: On that day next month when the people choose their government for the next four years.

"On that day let them not choose a government for which peace is just a word; a government of attitudes and poses, a government whose promises still are, and will remain, on order.

"Let them choose rather a government that will make peace a reality; a government that will get things done to make them strong; a government that can turn to any dictator and say:

"'This is America. And it is all on hand.'"

Willkie Tells Green: "You're Making a Winning Fight!"

BY THOMAS MORROW.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

East St. Louis, Ill., Oct. 17 [Special]. — "Dwight, that's a winning fight you're making against the Kelly-Nash machine," Wendell L. Willkie, Republican Presidential candidate, smiled as he shook hands and welcomed Dwight H. Green, nominee for governor, aboard the Willkie special today.

Mrs. Willkie walked across the car and added her congratulations.

"We're getting Kelly-Nash conscious," she said.

"That man is a stretch runner," was Green's comment concerning Willkie. "He's got a fighting heart and he's picking up every day."

Green and C. Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for senator, were the first of an increasing stream of Illinois candidates and political workers which boarded the train as it crossed Illinois. County candidates, committeemen, county chairmen, and ward workers joined the caravan during the day.

Say the Upswing Is On.

Some were knowing and assured; others wore their store clothes with an embarrassed ill ease. But all brought repeated tales of ever growing majorities.

"The upswing is on," they said.

These stories and the large crowds which greeted the train as it moved thru southern Illinois, heretofore known as Democratic territory, turned the trip into a triumphal tour.

Stelle's Town Turns Out.

In McLeansboro, home town of Gov. John Stelle and a hamlet of 2,200 persons, 6,500 persons stormed the train. They cheered Willkie and while the Presidential candidate spoke they fought their way back to the back platform to shake hands with Green and Brooks.

One spectator, who identified himself as Hazen Harl of Albion, was asked to explain the turnout.

"Well," he said, "Dwight [Green] and Curley [Brooks] are aboard, and they have a lot of friends down here."

AT 90 AND 100, TWO YOUNG 'UNS 'GO WITH GREEN'

Candidate Meets Party's Old Standbys.

White Hall, Ill., Oct. 17 [Special]. —John Gottlieb Kessi strode into the Republican rally here tonight and allowed he would like to have a look at Dwight H. Green. The Republican candidate for governor had planned to drop in on John after the meeting, but Kessi, who is only 90, took down his cane and came over.

Set Type on Lincoln Death.

"Been a Republican since '72," he told Green.

"I set the type telling about Lincoln's assassination. That was in Biel, Switzerland. Came to this county in 1866."

"You must be the oldest Republican in Greene county," Green observed.

Slightly aghast, the candidate went to the Wood home and met Miss Mary Wood, born here 100 years ago.

"Better Be a Republican!"

"Hmm," she observed from her rocking chair, "candidate for governor, eh? Better be a Republican! That's the only kind I know.

"I met President McKinley and I talked to President Grant right in the White House."

She peered at Green thru her spectacles when he inquired if she was going to vote this time.

"You bet," she chuckled. "Long as I can make it."

OPEN NEW FIGHT TO FREE OFFICER HELD IN SPY PLOT

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 17 (AP).—Another attempt to obtain the release from prison of John S. Farnsworth, former navy lieutenant commander, got under way today before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, sitting here.

The action was on appeal from the decision last January of District Judge E. Marvin Underwood denying a third writ of habeas corpus brought in behalf of Farnsworth, who is serving a four to twelve year sentence in the federal penitentiary here on a charge of conspiring to sell naval secrets to Japan.

Judge Underwood has denied two other habeas corpus petitions of Farnsworth and the Circuit court upheld the decision each time.

Faces Murder Charge

A coroner's jury recommended yesterday that Walter Berry, 17 years old, be held to the grand jury on a charge of murdering his father, Steve Berry, 40. Young Berry shot his father Sunday in the Berry home at 2239 Fullerton avenue. The son told the coroner's jury that he fired to protect his mother, Mrs. Blanche Berry, 38, after his father had threatened her.

Mrs. Berry wept thruout the hearing. Frequently she cried, "Why did you kill daddy?" Sometimes she murmured, "Everything's going to be all right." She testified that her husband had been drinking all day before the shooting. The elder Berry forgave his son before dying in the Alexian Brothers hospital Wednesday night.

BALLOT FRAUDS PROSECUTOR TO ACT IN CHICAGO

Maurice M. Milligan, United States attorney in Kansas City, Mo., arrived in Chicago yesterday to confer with United States Attorney William J. Campbell while a senate subcommittee was hearing vote fraud evidence here.

Milligan, who has been appointed to head a national vote fraud inquiry, will begin presenting evidence to a grand jury this week.

"I'm going into this thing seriously—as the law intends I should," he said. "The investigation will be no political football. Republicans, if they have committed vote frauds, will be involved along with any Democrats found violating the election laws."

TELL GUARDSMEN ON DUTY OF THEIR RIGHTS AS VOTERS

Illinois Authorities Make Special Provisions.

The war department has instructed officers commanding National Guard units on active duty to acquaint the militiamen with their right to vote in the Presidential election of Nov. 5. This was announced in Washington yesterday.

The instructions are being given to the men in coöperation with state authorities since they, and not the federal government have jurisdiction. [Early in the nation's history most states disenfranchised those in military service thru fear of military domination.]

Many Will Vote by Mail.

The war department's action means that of 95,000 National Guardsmen now on active duty, those may cast their ballots who come from states that permit registered voters to do so by mail. Guardsmen who are on duty in their own states and not far from their homes may be given furloughs to vote at the discretion of their officers.

Members of Chicago's 202d coast artillery [antiaircraft] who are on duty, 1,450 strong, at Fort Bliss [El Paso, Tex.] were notified of their rights early this week, according to Lieut. Frank X. Meyers, publicity officer.

Up to yesterday, 233 guardsmen from Chicago and Cook county and six from outside the county had applied for absentee ballots. Illinois, along with Arkansas, Delaware, and Pennsylvania, has made special provision for facilitating militiamen's voting. Ballots will be collected where the men are stationed.

6 States Lack Absentee Plans.

Only six states lack provision for voting by absentee ballot. These are Kentucky, Mississippi, New Mexico, South Carolina, Florida, and Louisiana. States which make specific provision for those in service to vote individually by mail are Maryland, Missouri, Nebraska, and [recently] New Jersey. Certain other states limit the scope of voting by the military, permitting it only in time of war.

Conscripts under the draft will not be a problem at the Presidential election, the war department announced. None will be in active service by election day. For future elections conscripts will be instructed in their rights, it was stated.

NEW CAMP FOR 202D

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 17. [Special].—A new camp site for Chicago's 202d coast artillery was included today in a 3 million dollar contract awarded by the war department. Work will start immediately on the new cantonment, which will be situated on 1,800 acres just east of Fort Bliss.

It will house 12,000 additional National Guardsmen expected to be stationed in the area within the next few months. The 202d, whose men have been living in tents since early in September, will take over the first part of the cantonment to be completed. The probable date is Dec. 1.

BRITAIN NAMES NEW NAVAL CHIEFS; SEE CHANGE IN STRATEGY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 17.—A more aggressive British naval strategy was foreshadowed tonight by an admiralty announcement of two important changes in command. Vice Admiral John C. Tovey has been appointed commander in chief of the home fleet and given supreme command of Britain's naval defenses in home waters, succeeding Admiral of the Fleet Sir Charles Forbes.

Rear Admiral Harwood.

Rear Admiral Sir Henry Harwood, who proved himself a master of naval strategy in the battle against the Graf Spee off Montevideo, was promoted to lord commissioner of the admiralty and assistant chief of the naval staff. He succeeds Vice Admiral Sir Geoffrey Blake, who has been selected "for special duties at the admiralty."

Admiral Tovey is 55 years old and since 1938 has been in command of the Mediterranean destroyer flotillas. Admiral Harwood, who is 52 years old, led the British warships which were victorious over the Graf Spee.

Lord Beaverbrook's Express proclaimed:

DRAFT AGE MEN CAN REGISTER UP TO LOTTERY DATE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP).—State selective service directors were instructed tonight not to classify as delinquents those men who failed to register for the draft yesterday but who voluntarily report to their local boards before the national draft lottery. The lottery is scheduled between Oct. 25 and Nov. 1.

TRAGIC FAILURE TO REARM LAID TO WHITE HOUSE

Economic Showdown Hit by Dewey.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 17 [Special].—The myth about President Roosevelt being an indispensable man has been shattered by the President with his belated plea for top speed in defense industries visited on his "nonpolitical" tour, Thomas E. Dewey, district attorney of New York said in an address here tonight.

This urgent plea for haste is a dramatic admission, Dewey said, of the seven years of economic slowdown, deterioration, unemployment and neglect of this country's national defenses.

It has made conclusive, he added, parallel between the popular front which wrecked France and the New Deal, which left America defenseless in time of crisis, a parallel which proves that the only indispensable thing about the New Deal administration is that we get rid of it at the earliest possible moment.

Fault Is Roosevelt's.

Speaking at a Republican rally in Hunt armory here under the auspices of the Allegheny county Republican committee, Dewey said responsibility for the tragic failure to rearm this country lies right in the White House.

Asking significantly whether this gross negligence might be the result of deliberate policy, Dewey recalled that in 1932 Mr. Roosevelt advanced the principle that "our industrial plant is built" and even as late as 1939 spoke contemptuously of putting heavy industries to work.

That philosophy, Dewey charged, is the corner stone of the New Deal for the policies of the present administration were devised deliberately to carry out these utterances of the President.

Costs 740 Millions.

After seven years of blunders, Dewey said, Mr. Roosevelt now has to ask congress to appropriate 740 million dollars of the people's money to build the plants he said the country didn't need.

Dewey said the motto of the New Deal, before the third term campaign began, was billions for boondoggling but not for national defense. Now the President is beseeching industry to make up for his total failure to prepare in time.

The prosecutor scoffed at Mr. Roosevelt's "nonpolitical" tour of the nation's defenses, humorously directing attention to the President's failure to make any inspection trips to army maneuvers in the "solid south."

"A few days ago," he told the Pittsburgh crowd, "a distinguished visitor came to your city. I do not know when, if ever before, this gentleman visited a steel plant. But now in the crisis of an election year, he is very busy looking for plants which have survived these last seven years—plants which would provide a good background for newsreel pictures.

"The visit to your state was, of course, strictly nonpolitical. That is why Mayor Scully and Joe Guffey went along to discuss the defense program—the political defense of the New Deal.

"Your visitor took with him to the steel plants and the nail factories that great authority on national defense, the tree surgeon who is the Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio.

A Word of Admonition.

"After driving thru these plants, in company with such great authorities on national defense, your visitor left with this admonition:

"'The one thing to work for in speeding up this program is more speed, the quicker, the better.' He also said: 'To you, who are a part of defense . . . I give you the message—speed up all you can.'

"Those words—which should have been truly nonpolitical—in fact settled one political issue in this campaign. They settled the issue of the indispensable man. They settled it because they dramatize with greater force than the words of any other man could do, the seven years of economic slow down, the seven years of deterioration, the seven years of unemployment, the seven years of neglect of our national defenses. They make conclusive the parallel between the popular front which wrecked France and the New Deal which left America defenseless in time of crisis.

"It is that parallel—that deadly similarity between the American New Deal and the French new deal—which we propose to break in this election.

"You all know that we have practically no tanks—only enough to make one third-term campaign newsreel. We have few modern airplanes, a handful of modern rifles, not even adequate shelter for the men now enlisting in the army. In this election you and I must place the responsibility for these tragic conditions. In placing that responsibility let us talk only from the record of facts. Here they are:

"With all Europe trembling on the abyss—in January of 1939—Mr. Roosevelt opened the year with a special message. In that message he declared that 'no responsible officer' of the United States would advocate developing our air forces to match those of 'certain other nations.' You know the reversal that took place just 17 months later when Mr. Roosevelt called for 50,000 airplanes—more than all in those 'certain other nations' put together. But the damage already was done.

"Today our vital fighter airplanes still are largely 'on order.' Today we find we cannot have the planes we need for two long years at least.

"In January of this year, with the world at war, Mr. Roosevelt told the congress of the United States that the $1,800,000,000 then in the budget, was, and I quote him, 'In my judgment, a sufficient amount for the coming year.' Only five months later he started asking for funds totaling $10,000,000,000 more.

Why Didn't Army Act?

"In other words, in his own express judgment, Mr. Roosevelt was wrong, desperately wrong, by more than ten billion dollars out of twelve. Wrong by 10 out of 12—that is the record on which this administration seeks a third term grant of power.

"You may properly ask, 'Why didn't the army demand more money in these recent years?' 'Why didn't the navy demand more money in these recent years?'

"You may well say, 'If the President failed to see the crisis, at least they should have seen it.'

"The answer is, they did. And what happened? They were turned down. It is all on the record—the record of a bureau which is now and always has been under the personal control of Mr. Roosevelt—the bureau of the budget.

"In short, the army and the navy could not recommend to congress an appropriation for a single gun or a single airplane unless the President's budget director first approved. So now we know exactly where to place the responsibility for the tragic failure to rearm this country. It lies right in the White House. That's another reason why this country needs a new administration.

"Now, did the army and the navy wait for the catastrophe of May, 1940, to make their requests?

"Way back in the fall of 1939 a request was made for $45,000,000 for plant enlargements for the navy's share of the expansion of the aircraft industry.

"And what happened to the request when it was made? Admiral Towers told what happened. He said, 'The bureau of the budget cut it out.'

"Asked 'Why?' he added, 'I have never quite understood.'

"On August 13—just two months ago—Admiral Towers was asked about a new ten million dollar request for airplanes for the navy: 'Why wasn't this money asked for in the regular bill?' the admiral answered: 'It was asked for when the supplemental [request] went up to the budget [bureau], but it was cut out. As a matter of fact, the figure was approximately twenty million dollars, instead of ten million dollars, and it was cut out.'

"Now what happened to the army? Why is it that we are now learning of the total absence of critical items of equipment in every line? Was it the fault of the generals? The records of the senate say no.

"In the fall of 1939, after the war in Europe had actually started, the President's budget bureau cut out 552 million dollars certified by the army to be for critical and essential items. 552 million defense dollars cut out!

"Last December in Minneapolis I called attention with all the force at my command to the danger to America from Mr. Roosevelt's philosophy expressed in his San Francisco speech. He said, 'Our industrial plant is built. . . . The problem just now is whether under existing conditions it is not overbuilt. . . . A mere builder of more industrial plants . . . is as likely to be a danger as a help.'

"That philosophy is the corner stone of the New Deal. That philosophy we Republicans reject.

"The tax policies have deliberately discouraged savings from going into new enterprises. The undistributed profits tax was frankly designed to turn money away from expanding and building new plants.

You Know the Result.

"You know the results. You know the results in loss of opportunity, in lack of security, in lack of new jobs.

"We are fighting many battles in this campaign. We are fighting to restore the right of every American to a job. We are fighting to restore the dignity of every individual human being. We are fighting to restore the future for your children and mine.

"But the New Deal doesn't seem to believe in these things. It was founded on the principle that 'our industrial plant is built.' And it clung to that deadly principle.

"Even as late as 1939, Mr. Roosevelt spoke contemptuously of getting the heavy industries to work, of getting 'private investors to put up the money to build new buildings and new machines.'

"What has happened? After seven years of blunders Mr. Roosevelt now has to ask congress to appropriate 740 million dollars of the people's money to build those very plants he said we did not need. In the last three months the New Deal has made the most complete aboutface in American political history. Terrified by the results of its own policies, but never admitting it, it is now borrowing 740 million dollars to build those plants for national defense—those plants which could have been built and operating during all of those destructive New Deal years.

"I leave it to you: Is there anything indispensable about this administration? I leave it to you: On such a record can any one honestly claim that this administration can safely be given four more years? Do we want 12 continuous years of failure?

"I did not come to Pittsburgh merely to urge the election of a Republican President. I did not come to Pittsburgh merely to urge you to vote for Wendell Willkie and Charles McNary. I came to Pittsburgh to say to you that in the light of the record it is desperately dangerous to leave this administration in power."

Source of Power

The key to the outcome of the November election in Illinois may lie in 16 wards in the heart of Chicago. Sixteen hundred young Chicagoans are working in the Chicago Business Men's 1940 Election committee. They contend that these 16 wards are ruled by a tainted bipartisan loyalty, wards that are the club of the Kelly-Nash machine.

In these 16 wards, they contend, lies the balance of power, sufficient to turn elections. The wards are these: 1st, 11th, 14th, 20th, 21st, 22d, 23d, 24th, 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 31st, 32d, 42d. In 1936 these 16 wards built up a Democratic majority sufficient to elect the late Henry Horner governor over Wayland C. Brooks. In 1938 they converted a substantial lead for Richard Lyons, Republican candidate for United States senator, into a 255,277 majority for Scott A. Lucas, Democratic candidate. In the 1939 mayoralty election they converted a majority for Dwight A. Green, Republican candidate, to a majority of 184,401 for Mayor Kelly.

"These 16 wards have carried the state of Illinois in the last three elections," Henry Pope Jr., hosiery manufacturer who is chairman of the group, explained. "They can always come up with a 200,000 majority when needed. Our job is to reduce that majority.

SUSPECT VOTERS HIT INEFFICIENT BALLOT SURVEY

Call Challenges Cheap Political Trick.

More than 1,500 men and women crowded into the offices of the board of election commissioners in the city hall yesterday to answer suspect notices. Most of them demanded to know why their right to vote was questioned.

The notices were mailed to 125,000 persons after election board canvassers had attempted last Friday and Saturday to locate every registered person. The notices were mailed to persons the canvassers said they were unable to locate. An individual who received a notice was asked to come to the election board office and assert whether he or she lived at the address shown.

Prove Right to Vote.

Most of those who came in proved they were not at home when the canvasser called and that they should be retained on the registration lists.

Miss Caroline Lustig, who lives with her sister at 5212 North Damen avenue, was indignant over the suspect system.

"Instead of making me leave my office and come over here I should ask you for one good reason why I can't vote," she told a board worker.

Rosiro Notoro, 1319 North Halsted street, a WPA worker, came in to get his wife's registration record straightened out. He said his wife didn't see the canvasser last Saturday but Mrs. Notoro got a suspect notice in the mail, and yet he did not. They have lived at that address for 18 months.

"Such things I can't understand," Notoro said. "Last year I voted Democratic, but this year I don't know. It's monkey business."

Mrs. Sarah Friedman, 4715 Ingleside avenue, a housewife, said she had to leave her work at home and come downtown because some election board typist made a mistake and recorded her address as 4712 Ingleside.

He Works on Railroad.

Lee M. Gaines, 4601 South Vincennes avenue, colored, a Pullman porter, said he is tired of bringing suspect notices to the election board office every election. "I'm out of town when the canvasser comes, I work on trains," Gaines complained, then added, "I think all this is just the work of small time politicians."

Suspects started to come to the election board office Monday and will continue to do so thru Oct. 23. The office is open from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. week days and Sundays. Mable G. Reinecke, election commissioner, estimated that 1,500 have come in every day and will continue to do so.

Sixth Ward Willkie Club Holds 1st Meeting Tonight

The first meeting of the 6th Ward Willkie club will be held in club headquarters at 6314 University avenue tonight. Attorney Homer L. Davenport is chairman and Mrs. Mary G. Crawford is vice chairman of the club. Davenport said the headquarters will be open daily from 9 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. and that meetings will be held every night except Sunday.

Prof. De Long to Address Young G. O. P. in 7th Ward

Earl H. De Long, professor of political science at Northwestern university, will address a first voters' meeting sponsored by the 7th Ward Young Republican club, 7515 Yates avenue, tonight. Gordon Allot, national director of the Young Republicans, will attend the meeting and will be presented with a photograph of Wendell L. Willkie, G. O. P.

Witnesses

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Mrs. William F. Hatch, Chicago housewife, was also a witness.

HERSHEY MEETS MAN WHO VOTED FOR HIM IN 1908

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Collinsville, Ill., Oct. 17.—Emil Smith, a coal miner around here for more than 20 years, knocked off work at 3:30 this afternoon and posted himself on Main street. He loaded his pipe, cocked his ears and strained his eyes to the east.

Many pipe fills and three hours later he let out a whoop. A big red car drove up and out climbed Harry B. Hershey, Democratic candidate for governor.

"Emil, how are you?" shouted Hershey.

"How's yourself, kid?" inquired Smith, who is 70 years old. Then they exchanged reminiscences. Smith lived for many years in Hershey's home town, Taylorville, and knew the Democratic nominee when the latter was a youngster.

Recalls Vote for Debs.

"I voted for Eugene Debs when he was the Socialist candidate for President in 1896," Emil related. "But I've been a Democrat since 1900. Remember back in 1908, Harry?"

"Sure," Hershey recalled. "I was running for state's attorney of Christian county then."

"Yes, and I helped you get elected," Emil said. "And now I'm going to help make you governor."

Smith then joined a crowd of nearly 800 in the Will Rogers theater where Hershey spoke. Other Democrats who spoke included John C. Martin, nominee for state auditor, State Senator Harold G. Ward, nominee for attorney general; Senator James M. Slattery, Homer Mat Adams, candidate for state treasurer, and Walter J. Orlikoski, candidate for congressman at large.

Ridicules G. O. P. Pledge.

Hershey, in his address, ridiculed Republican promises of economy in state government. He challenged his Republican opponent, Dwight H. Green, to "name one reason why the voters should believe that you will reduce the costs of state government." He said that at the last legislative session, under Republican Speaker Hugh Cross [now that party's nominee for lieutenant governor] the G. O. P. economized by spending $15,229.30 more than at the previous session, which was dominated by the Democrats.

Slattery, Martin and the other candidates declared the election of Wendell Willkie would be "a tragedy for the people."

Cong. Dies to Address Lake Shore Club Members

Congressman Martin Dies, chairman of the house committee on un-American activities, will speak in the Lake Shore club, 850 Lake Shore drive, on Oct. 25, Elmer C. Hill, president of the club, announced yesterday.

Rough Stuff
goes places this Fall
HERE IT IS — smash hit of the year. Tweed at its best, with a dozen new variations. Rich shetlands that look like ready money. Geared to put bounce in your step, without taking the bounce from your bankroll. At BOND'S, of course!
Want a "calling card" that'll get you past the toughest private secretary? Wear a Bond Kirkstone Tweed—and notice the difference. Here's "Rough Stuff" with that smooth approach so important to success. A vigorous, expensive-looking weave—favorite with men who get the big orders, and give them. Thirty dollars does the trick, at Bond's!
Let's go stepping. "Rough Stuff" is right there with that same well-pressed nonchalance you saw in your mirror this morning. This is no "sissy suit"—that needs rest periods to keep it in good shape. You can wear it 'round the clock—with admiring glances from "that sweet young thing", every hour on the hour. Try it and see.
"We want a touchdown"—and another derby bites the dust. Between halves, steal a look at your well-dressed neighbors. "Rough Stuff" will head your scorecard—10 to 1. Lusty shetlands, wide herringbones, jaunty cheviots—all-stars with a punch! And by no mere coincidence, the identical line-up you'll see this week in Bond's windows.
two trousers are included with every suit

Ousted Leader Accuses Capone Gangsters.

Campagna, and Paul Ricca. [Campagna and Ricca are listed as public enemies. All four were indicted for conspiracy to pirate the union, along with Romano, Thomas Panton, and Frederick Evans, who, prosecutors say, is the financial chief for Nitti.]

Q.—Any others? A.—Joe Fusco and Jack Guzick. [Two others of the old Capone gang.] Nitti called me to his table. He said I had to put one of his men in as an officer of the union. I said it was impossible without the executive board and ratification by the membership, and that the man had to be a member of the union. He said, "Give us the names of any who oppose. We'll take care of them. We want no more playing around. If you don't do as we say, you'll get a shot in the head. How would your wife look in black?"

McLane said his next summons to the Capri came in the middle of July. There he met Nitti, Humphreys, Campagna, and Evans.

"This Is Last Chance."

Q.—What happened? A.—Nitti said: "Why haven't you put a man in as an officer? What are you stalling for? The slugging of your pickets and intimidations of your business agents will stop if you put our man to work. I'll give you a man without a police record. The places that are syndicate owned will join the union. There will be no pickets and no bother." I told him about the last meeting of the board. [It had refused to accept a gangster as an officer.] Nitti and Humphreys demanded the names of those who opposed, but I refused to give them. "We'll take care of that," said Humphreys. "This is your last chance. This is the only way we'll stand for anything. Put in our man or wind up in an alley." I went back to the board.

Q.—Were you terrified? A.—Yes! I told the board about the threats to me and to them and what it meant. They had no alternative. They agreed, in the latter part of July, to putting the man on.

Romano Put on Pay Roll.

McLane said he was next called to the Capri in early August, and met Nitti, Campagna, Humphreys, and Ricca.

Q.—Go on. A.—Nitti said: "Here's your man" and brought over Romano and introduced him. I'd never met Romano before. "He has no police record," Nitti said. "He'll go along with you as an organizer and an assistant. His salary will be $75 a week. Provisions must be made to raise it later. He'll 'adjust' trouble on the picket lines and see that all the places join the union."

McLane said he took Romano back to the union and introduced him.

Q.—Was there any more slugging of pickets or of organizers? A.—None. Most of the strikes were settled.

Q.—At that time did you know who owned or controled the places being picketed? A.—I did not.

Ordered to Push Brands.

McLane said that he met Nitti next at the Auditorium hotel at the behest of Louis Greenberg of the Manhattan brewery. Nitti told him, McLane said, that he wanted McLane's bartenders to push certain brands. McLane said these were Manhattan and Great Lakes draft beer, Badger and Cream Top bottled beer, Gold Seal Liquors, Inc., products, Fort Dearborn whisky and products of the Capitol Wine and Liquor company. The witness continued:

"I said I was afraid the organization would get in trouble with the Fair Trade Practice act. He said: 'See that your men do this, and let us worry about fair trade.'"

McLane said he did not follow instructions, however, and later Romano took him to see Nitti at the Bismarck hotel. The questioning continued:

Q.—How did you find Nitti? A.—Romano took me up to his room. Johnny Patton [the boy mayor of Burnham] was there. He was connected with Sportsman's Park. We had a conversation about liquor and beer at the track. The bartenders weren't pushing the right stuff.

McLane said he explained the troubles of a bartender, and that the public refused to drink the syndicate stuff. Nitti then said: "If the bartenders don't push it they'll get their legs broken."

Plan to Get Presidency.

McLane said he met Nitti again at the Seneca hotel, and that Fusco, who said he was representing Gold Seal liquors, was there.

Q.—When was the next meeting? A.—In June, 1938, in the Bismarck. There were Nitti, George Browne, Nick Cercella, and Willie Bioff. They discussed my candidacy for general president at the international convention in August. Bioff was to see about getting the west coast support lined up. Browne said he would line up the east thru his connections. All they wanted was the general presidency for two years. They said they would make enough in two years to give the union back to us. I said you are going against a 22 year old organization and it will be a fight. Nitti said they had made other international presidents and why couldn't they make me?

Q.—Did he mention any names? A.—Yes. Browne, Carrozzo, and Scalise.

Refuses to Seek Job.

McLane said that, under those conditions, he refused and worked by telephone to ask important labor men to see to it that he wasn't elected and that the delegates took a neutral position.

Late in 1938, McLane said, Robert Santchi, president of the union local, died in Michigan. Humphreys demanded that Romano be made president and threatened McLane again. Romano was given the unexpired term and later elected to another term.

On Aug. 4, 1939, McLane said, Romano and Levy came into his office.

"Romano started to talk," continued McLane. "In came Humphreys and Evans. Romano said to me, 'I'm taking over.'

"My desk drawer was open a few inches and they noticed it. Humphreys and Romano pulled pistols and ordered me away from the desk.

"Just Shut Your Eyes."

"Romano said: 'We're taking over. You will receive your pay. What goes on around here that's not right—well, just shut your eyes.'

"I asked Levy, as attorney for the outfit, where he fitted in this picture. He said, 'Turn it over to them.'"

This testimony brought a bitter dispute between McLane and Levy. The attorney called McLane "a damned liar." Levy denied after the hearing that he was present during the gunplay.

IF YOUR NOSE "CLOSES UP" TIGHT AT NIGHT

HINDERS BREATHING—SPOILS SLEEP

3-PURPOSE MEDICINE

Here's mighty good news . . . If your nose "closes up" at night and makes breathing difficult, put 3-purpose Vicks Va-tro-nol up each nostril.

Va-tro-nol does 3 important things: (1) shrinks swollen membranes; (2) soothes irritation; (3) helps flush nasal passages, clearing clogging mucus, relieving transient congestion. It brings more comfort, makes breathing easier, invites sleep.

VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

TRUE BILLS REPORTED VOTED AGAINST THREE IN RELIEF FRAUD CASE

The grand jury was reported to have taken action yesterday in the Bremen township relief scandal by voting true bills against two former township relief officials and a former Midlothian grocer.

Otto Ziebell [top] and James Bennette.

The former officials are Otto Ziebell, who was township supervisor for 25 years, and James Bennette, who was bookkeeper in the township relief office at 147th street and Cleveland avenue. They are reported to have been accused, in three true bills, of conspiracy to obtain money by false pretenses and of forgery by padding relief disbursements and forging relief checks.

Thomas G. Herndon, the former grocer, was reported named in one of the true bills. This accuses the three men of obtaining $2,458 in padded disbursement orders and $928 in forged relief checks. Herndon is charged with cashing the checks.

The other two true bills charge Ziebell and Bennette with forging and cashing two relief checks for $391.75 and $299.59. Assistant State's Attorney Emmett Moynihan, who presented the evidence to the grand jury, said at least $15,000 was obtained thru the frauds.

A Chef Cuts Himself In on a Slice of the Profits

Andrew Evangelos, part owner of a restaurant at 7844 Cottage Grove avenue, gave $200 to the chef yesterday. He told Grand Crossing police the chef had a large knife and insisted. Police are looking for him.

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly in Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wabbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at any drug store.

2 STUDENTS WIN SOARING PLANE PILOT LICENSES

Students in the first class of the Frankfort School of Soaring won glider pilot licenses yesterday after they passed written and flight tests given by Inspector George M. Murchison of the Civil Aeronautics authority at the Joliet glider port, four miles southwest of Joliet. The school is operated by the Frankfort Soaring company, Joliet soaring plane manufacturers.

Two students, William L. Ewart of Aruba, Netherlands West Indies, and Art Hoffman, 921 Eastwood avenue, Chicago, won their commercial glider ratings. Two others, James Richter, 1612 North Wells street, Chicago, and Stanley Johnson, Frankfort, Mich., won private pilot ratings.

James Smiley Jr., president of the manufacturing company, said Inspector N. N. Shapter from the Kansas City, Mo., office of the CAA's aircraft airworthiness section will be at the company shops today. He will oversee tests of wings for new single place and two place soaring planes.

STELLE ORDERS ADAMOWSKI TO START INQUIRY

Gov. John Stelle said in Springfield yesterday that he had instructed State Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski to make a checkup of the situation in the office of the public administrator of Cook county. The governor's announcement said only that inasmuch as he was responsible for the office he wanted to know more about its affairs.

Stelle denied that Adamowski had appointed attorney for the administrator, John F. Cahill, as was announced Wednesday by Cahill. Stelle said Adamowski might be named legal adviser by Cahill in future cases, but that there was no authority to appoint a single attorney to the office.

Wallace Talks Tomorrow Before Agricultural Club

Henry A. Wallace, Democratic nominee for the Vice Presidency, will address the luncheon of the Agricultural Club of Chicago at noon tomorrow in the Morrison hotel. Senator Charles McNary of Oregon, the Republican Vice Presidential candidate, will speak at a future luncheon.

CURB ON BOTTLED LIQUOR SALES TO BE HELD UP AGAIN

Another postponement was in prospect yesterday in the deadline after which drug stores, delicatessens, and department stores will be barred by city ordinance from selling bottled liquor.

The ordinance allows the sale of packaged liquor only in establishments such as taverns where liquor is the principal business. Enforcement already has been delayed twice since the measure was passed 15 months ago. Yesterday Ald. Thomas P. Keane [31st], chairman of the city council license committee, said enforcement is expected to be postponed again pending the outcome of a test suit before the Illinois Supreme court.

The ordinance was passed originally at the instigation of tavern owners when city liquor licenses were raised. Keane said the tavern owners have agreed to a new postponement.

THE CAMPAIGN
Both Sides of it

REPUBLICAN.

Smear Willkie Propaganda.

(Provided by the Republican National Committee.)

The attempt of Mr. Roosevelt's most highly placed advisers to tie Mr. Willkie to Hitler and to inject race prejudice is the ugliest piece of propaganda this country has seen for a long time.

Thanks to the honesty and love of fair play of the American people, it has recoiled on its authors. The blundering attempts of Messrs. Flynn and Michelson, the chairman and publicity director of the Democratic national committee, to explain, apologize for and cover up the dirty work are so transparent that they fool nobody.

Secretary Wallace, Mr. Roosevelt's handpicked running mate, was selected by the little group of ambitious men around the President for the first smearing job. Mr. Wallace obeyed orders. In his Des Moines speech he declared that Hitler wanted Mr. Willkie elected rather than Mr. Roosevelt.

Lehman Follows Up.

Then Gov. Lehman got his orders too, and obeyed them. He repeated Mr. Wallace's claims and enlarged upon them.

Mr. Roosevelt did nothing to prevent these appeals to race prejudice by his two trusted henchmen. On the contrary, he encouraged them by calling public attention to a Rome dispatch saying that the dictators would prefer Willkie to Roosevelt.

But it remained for the Democratic national committee to spread the real poison by issuing two pamphlets, in one of which Mr. Willkie and his wife and father were directly linked to Hitler, while in both he was accused of hatred of our colored American citizens.

This about Wendell Willkie, who enlisted on the day that America entered the first world war, who fought in France against Germany, who defended Negro soldiers before court martials, and who, as a young lawyer in Ohio after the war, battled against the Ku Klux Klan!

The third term party is in a pretty desperate fix when its own national committee has to resort to mudslinging like this.

Signs of panic have been visible for some time in the third term camp. The third termers are fully aware of the mounting tide of fear and resentment against Mr. Roosevelt's bold bid for continued and increasing power.

None of them, not even Mr. Roosevelt himself, has dared to face that issue fairly and squarely. Most of them have tried to cover it up behind a smoke screen of abuse of Mr. Willkie.

Weakness of Defense.

The third termers are fully aware, also, that the people are beginning to realize the dangerous weakness of our national defense.

Mr. Roosevelt's "nonpolitical" inspections of a few arsenals—during which third term politicians jam his special train—don't fool many American men or women.

Meanwhile, Mr. Willkie's earnest, sincere style of campaigning, his messages of hope for a better and stronger and more self-reliant America, are swinging many doubtful voters—and many doubtful states—into his column.

Smearing and smart politics are not the answers in these grave hours to the questions the American people are asking.

ROOSEVELT PLUS THIRD TERM EQUALS WAR; WILLKIE PLUS NATIONAL DEFENSE EQUALS PEACE.

DEMOCRATIC

Calling the Reserves!

The cold facts show that life insurance was never safer than it is today and life insurance companies were never stronger than they are today. We review the facts simply to explode the pernicious, undercover campaign launched by Republican propagandists in the closing hours of the campaign to destroy the faith and confidence of 64 million policyholders.

The next door Republican column printed an article last week charging a "fiendish" plot by the Roosevelt administration to get control of life insurance.

Disturbed at this assault, the association of past presidents of insurance brokers and agents has gotten out a pamphlet to scotch these attacks and reassure policyholders. This pamphlet shows that:

In 1928, 331 life insurance companies had total assets of about 15 billion 900 million dollars. Today these same companies have assets of more than 29 billion dollars.

In 1928 approximately 70 life insurance companies had failed. Since 1936 a negligible few small companies caused any loss to life insurance policyholders. From 1928 to 1940 the surpluses to policyholders had increased approximately 475 million dollars.

Assets Increased.

Louis H. Pink is superintendent of insurance of the state of New York. The companies under his jurisdiction write about 85 per cent of all life insurance written in this country. He said:

"The American people should need no reassurance as to the safety and security of their investment in life insurance. There has not been a year during the depression in which the life insurance companies have not increased the amount of assets held for the protection of their policyholders. The same companies have also increased their surplus during the depression years."

'SMEAR' ATTACK ON WILLKIE HIT BY YOUNG JEWS

Group of 100,000 Opens Fight on Tactics.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 17.—Aroused by the "smear" drive against Republican Presidential Nominee Wendell L. Willkie on the racial issue, a group of young Jewish business men, brokers, and lawyers here in New York City today began the formation of a nation-wide "committee of 100,000" to fight underhanded tactics of this nature for the duration of the campaign.

Leaders in the new movement sent out letters to Chicago last night enlisting aid from young Jewish leaders there against "smear" propaganda emanating from the Democratic national committee and other sources. The group here consists entirely of men between the ages of 30 and 40. The committee is nonpartisan, some members being Democrats and others Republican.

Thousands Join in Day.

David Z. Andrews, chairman of the committee, revealed 1,000 signatures supporting the new organization's stand had been obtained within the first 24 hours.

"Our committee was organized," Andrews explained, "because a large number of voters of Jewish faith were outraged at the smear and whispering campaign directed at Mr. Willkie. They resent the claims that the votes of any minority group, including their own, can be considered 'in the bag,' for either of the candidates."

Text of Protest.

"We, the undersigned American citizens of Jewish faith resent deeply the introduction into the Presidential campaign of the un-American and vicious propaganda directed at the ancestry of Wendell L. Willkie and his family, and furthermore——

"We deny the truthfulness of, and whole-heartedly condemn, those statements of Democratic Vice Presidential Nominee Henry Wallace and Gov. Herbert H. Lehman insinuating that a vote for Wendell L. Willkie will be a vote for Adolf Hitler.

"For ourselves, we cannot allow such malicious utterances to pass unchallenged. Obviously, it is their sinister purpose to coerce the voters of our faith into believing that failure to support Franklin D. Roosevelt for a third term will jeopardize their place in American life.

Would Decide on Issues.

"We emphatically reject and repudiate as unfounded and dangerous to that unity which America needs so desperately at this time, the claim of the New Deal party that it will receive or is entitled to receive the votes en bloc of any religious or any racial group, therefore——

"We sign this declaration in protest against all efforts designed to abridge our traditional rights as Americans to make our decision solely on the fundamental issues of the campaign."

Chairman Andrews said the committee would not sponsor either candidate, but would bend its entire efforts "to see that the campaign is fought on the basic issues and not religious prejudices."

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON CALLS HUGHES PART OF CORRUPT MACHINE

Justus L. Johnson, Republican candidate for secretary of state, told a 46th ward audience at 727 North avenue last night that he was "only repeating what the Democrats have said" when he described the Kelly-Nash machine as extremely corrupt.

To prove the point he repeated quotations taken from speeches made in primary campaigns by Gov. John Stelle, State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, and State Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski.

"Judging by what these Democrats said," Johnson averred, "the Kelly-Nash axis must be the most corrupt machine in the history of the United States. The incumbent secretary of state [Edward J. Hughes] is part and parcel of that machine."

ROOSEVELT ODDS DROP TO EVEN IN N. Y. CITY BETTING

New York, Oct. 17 [Special].—Odds on President Roosevelt to win the election declined to 13 to 10 and then to 6 to 5 in the financial district after the close of the market today, and late in the afternoon bets were being made at even money.

This showed a remarkable change in the sentiment in the district, for only a week ago bettors were offering 12 to 5 that Mr. Roosevelt would defeat Wendell L. Willkie. One of the largest reported bets made recently was $70,000 on Roosevelt to $50,000 on Willkie, made before the market close yesterday.

Until late this afternoon bettors were offering 6 to 5 that Roosevelt would carry New York state, but the odds were reversed after the market close, going to 5 to 6.

Sixty Beauties Parade for 'Baby Star' Honors

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 17 [Special].—Sixty young Hollywood girls paraded their beauty here before a jury of movie directors in competition for honors as "baby stars of 1940," similar to the Wampas choices of former years. The selection of 13 will be announced later. The judges were Orson Welles, Paul Sloan, Edmund Goulding and Tay Garnett.

OREGONIAN WINS AIR LINE AWARD IN METEOROLOGY

The winner of the Air Transport association's fellowship in meteorology for 1940-'41 is Herschel R. Snodgrass, 27 years old, graduate student at the University of New Mexico, it was announced in Chicago yesterday by Col. Edgar S. Gorrell, president of the association. Snodgrass will work in the physics department at the university in Albuquerque.

Herschel R. Snodgrass.

The award, a $500 fellowship, is given by all the commercial air lines in the United States. Conditions of the fellowship are that winners must pursue meteorological research upon some project of practical value to the industry and to agriculture as well as other than commercial phases of aviation.

Snodgrass is a native of Portland, Ore.

NUDELMAN'S AID IS OUSTED FROM POST IN CHICAGO

Robert M. Stowers, assistant state finance department director in charge of the Chicago office for the last seven years, presented his resignation Wednesday at the request of Al Carter, new head of the department, it was learned yesterday. Luke D. McCoy, Chicago accountant, was named to replace Stowers. The move was understood to be part of Gov. John Stelle's reorganization of state personnel which began shortly after Gov. Horner's death with the resignation of Samuel Nudelman as head of the finance department. Reports that Stowers was named superintendent of machinery in the highway department could not be confirmed.

Girl Marksman Calls Self Target of Discrimination

Columbus, O., Oct. 17 [Special].—Literally a straight shooter, Helen Jenkins, pretty co-ed at Ohio State university, is up in arms over a discrimination against her. She has been denied a place on the varsity rifle squad altho she admittedly is the best shop on the campus. In appealing the coach's ruling to the athletic board, Helen has plenty of student backers, a majority of whom are males.

COL. LINDBERGH AND HIS CRITICS.

Col. W. J. ["Wild Bill"] Donovan was to have made the radio reply to Col. Lindbergh's talk of earlier in the week, but he pleaded the excuse of other business and the New Dealers drafted Louis A. Johnson, former assistant secretary of war. Col. Lindbergh had criticised the leadership of the country which had sought the hostility of the world's greatest military nations without doing what was necessary to protect the country from the consequences of what had been stirred up. Lindbergh said that wasn't sane leadership and it wasn't a safe one, and that it ought to be removed.

For three years the Roosevelt administration has been making enemies and hasn't been making guns. It has hurried into every fight it could find, east and west, but it hasn't hurried up work in the arsenals. For three years it has hitched the country to conflict by threats and promises, and it is just now scrambling to get the production of war materials started. That's the basis of Col. Lindbergh's criticism.

Mr. Johnson was poor counsel for the defense. His feud with his chief when he was assistant secretary and Mr. Woodring was secretary didn't do national defense any good, and if Mr. Roosevelt had been thinking about the probable consequences of his own tall talking he wouldn't have allowed the war department to make a battlefield of its own premises.

Mr. Johnson said Lindbergh displayed his ignorance of the United States, of its state of preparedness, and, most of all, of its iron will. "Lindbergh tells us that we are a weakened nation in the center of an antagonistic world," he said. If that isn't true what is all this third term talk about? What did the conscience tell the indispensable man which compelled him to put Hyde Park out of his mind and draft himself for four more years? If it isn't true why have 16 billion dollars been appropriated and why have 16 million men registered for the draft? If Col. Lindbergh is ignorant, is the third term candidate then a fraud?

Mr. Roosevelt has two wars on order and nothing to fight them with except a navy which can only fight one of them and which cannot fight that one where he seems to be sending it, which is far out of the defense zones of the United States, either to the Philippines or to Singapore.

It is the New Deal criticism of Lindbergh which is not only ignorant but mean. Lindbergh is the leading American authority on aviation and his services to it as a pioneer in exploring routes and in advising the industry have been invaluable. His way with an airplane is that of genius. He is a student, he has traveled widely, he is familiar with the air forces of every important country, and he is the most intelligent observer the country has. He knows much more about defense than any ex-assistant secretary of war.

He says that the program Mr. Roosevelt has put on paper is not one for defense but one for war abroad, and that opinion is verified by everything currently believed in Washington today. Mr. Henning, in his Thursday dispatch, said that no one in the national capital any longer had doubt as to the purposes. All the people who know or who pretend to know think that Mr. Roosevelt's reëlection will be followed in a few months by the dispatch of the fighting forces somewhere. It may be only the navy, until a battlefield can be found, when the small boats building may put an army ashore, but it is the conviction in Washington that Mr. Roosevelt is going to war as soon as he gets what he will call a mandate for it.

The New Dealers are trying to deceive the people and that is why they are so scurrilous in their treatment of a patriotic American who says what he believes to be the truth and who supports it with facts that everybody knows.

MME. PERKINS' BOYS.

The San Francisco waterfront has seen another outbreak of violence occasioned this time by the attempt of a body of 200 C. I. O. pickets to prevent sailors from boarding the President Taft. The ship was scheduled to sail on Thursday but will now be delayed. It is one of the vessels assigned to the duty of bringing Americans home from the orient and was loading army supplies at the time the riot occurred.

Harry Bridges, the C. I. O. boss on the west coast, was not deported because Mme. Perkins' immigration bureau was unable to persuade Mme. Perkins' referee, Dean Landis, that Bridges is a communist. He is not an American citizen and he has kept the western ports in turmoil for years, to the great injury of American commerce, but he goes his way unhampered.

At the moment, Mr. Bridges' storm troopers are, as usual, pursuing the communist party line. Russia is not at all eager to have American citizens removed from the danger zone in the far east. As long as they are there Stalin can hope that incidents will occur which will embroil the United States and Japan. That will please him on two counts. It will keep Japan from encroaching on his territory and it may discourage Mr. Roosevelt from making war on Stalin's ally, Germany.

In the riot at San Francisco six men were injured, four of them so seriously that they had to be given hospital treatment. Two of them had been stabbed. In the communist reckoning that is no doubt a small price to exact for furthering the party's interest.

REBUILDING CHICAGO.

At a luncheon of the Chicago Real Estate board Mr. Holman Pettibone intimated that the Chicago Title and Trust company, of which he is the president, would assist in financing the reclamation of the rundown areas of the city. His company would do so, he said, provided there was reason to believe that the blighted districts could be made more attractive.

Mr. Pettibone reminded his listeners that the sections in question have many natural advantages which are too often overlooked. Transportation is good. All the public services are installed. All the cultural facilities of the community—its best theaters, its museums, universities, and libraries—are close at hand. With these advantages the reclamation of the blighted areas ought to be possible.

Of all the plans which have been proposed for achieving this end, by far the most promising is the proposal for the creation of Public Service Housing corporations. A bill to enable such corporations to be formed was narrowly defeated at a recent session of the legislature and should be reintroduced and pressed for passage at next year's session.

The bill authorized the condemnation of tracts of land in slum areas for large-scale housing developments. Numerous safeguards were introduced. The court must be convinced that the area to be reclaimed was actually a rundown district. Before a condemnation proceeding could be instituted options on at least half the land desired must have been obtained by direct negotiation with the owners. [This requirement could well be increased as a further safeguard to private rights.] A substantial portion of the land must be set aside for park and recreation purposes. Taxes must be paid exactly as on all other privately owned property. The scale of rents to be charged would be subject to regulation by public authority.

There is ample reason to believe that, if a bill following these general lines is enacted, substantial sums will be made available by individuals and lending institutions for slum clearance in Chicago.

Money for the purpose will be available when the investor can feel certain that the tract to be reclaimed is large enough to assure a clean and wholesome neighborhood, which will remain attractive for the life of the investment. The public service housing bill was an attempt to meet that need. So far as we know, it was the only practicable plan which has ever been offered for solving the problem in Chicago and incidentally every other city in the country.

In the last decade the population of the city showed only a negligible gain. The blighted areas are becoming depopulated. The growth was in the outlying sections. That means that the community is paying unnecessarily to provide new schools in the suburbs, to extend water mains, pavements, transportation services, police and fire protection. All of these things are available in the so-called blighted areas. As Mr. Pettibone said, they can be reclaimed if the community attacks the problem with energy and intelligence.

GUNS FOR COMRADE JOE.

Comrade Stalin is again in favor in the White House. For a few months he was in the doghouse, but it was all a regrettable mistake and now he may have what his heart desires, be it half the kingdom. In particular, the embargo upon the sale to Russia of arms, ammunition, and machine tools is no longer effective. Mr. Roosevelt has withdrawn it.

Our country is lacking in arms, ammunition, and the machine tools to make them. Mr. Roosevelt says that we are in the gravest danger of attack from the aggressive powers of the old world. Not a moment, not a gun, not a shell, and not a machine tool must be lost. And so Mr. Roosevelt is now encouraging the Russians to ship arms, ammunition, and machine tools out of this country, to be used for the strengthening of Comrade Stalin's army—which is the ally of the German army which is supposed to be menacing America with the threat of invasion almost any day.

The man who thought that one up is the man who says he must have a third term because no one else in the United States is competent to direct our foreign relations at so critical a period in the nation's history.

Mr. Roosevelt, to say the least, is a trusting soul. His first act in the sphere of foreign relations was to recognize the soviet régime. They were a murderous, double-crossing lot when he did it but he felt they had been greatly misunderstood. They have since proved even to Mr. Roosevelt that they cannot be trusted. After the invasion of Finland he put them in the doghouse, but he has now repented and Mr. Roosevelt's Sumner Welles is daily dispensing tea and cookies to Joe Stalin's Mr. Oumansky.

Thanks to Mr. Roosevelt's belligerent diplomacy, Mr. Oumansky is in a fine position to put the squeeze on the United States. Mr. Roosevelt drove Japan into an alliance with Germany and Italy, directed against the United States. That, in turn, drove Mr. Roosevelt to sue for Russia's favor. Stalin today is in the same position in which he found himself a little more than a year ago when he had Britain and Germany bidding against each other for his support. After accepting the candy and flowers, Comrade Joe double-crossed Mr. Chamberlain. When Stalin gets what he can from us he will play the same dirty trick on us. That is the way Comrade Joe does business. There is no more reason to trust him now than there was when Mr. Roosevelt recognized the soviets seven years ago.

EXAMPLE FOR A REPUBLIC.

[Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.]

Maybe, as New Deal spokesmen assert, Washington didn't expect to set a precedent when he retired from the Presidency at the end of his second term. Perhaps he nad no such thing in mind. But the fact remains that he did set a precedent and that it hasn't been broken since.

And whether Washington tried to set an example or not, his retirement was hailed as an example. The address of the house of representatives to the first President is conclusive. It read: "We cannot be unmindful that your moderation and magnanimity twice displayed by retiring from your exalted stations afford examples no less rare and instructive to mankind than valuable to a republic."

In our complicated modern setup the automatic stoker or the oil burner in the basement may displace the woodshed, but no mechanical invention can supplant the need for home discipline.—Detroit News.

TALKING TO HIMSELF.

Only 19 more days and then we'll know. . . . But if it's close, we may not be sure until the morning after. . . . In 1916 we went to sleep thinking that Hughes, the Republican, had won, and woke up to discover that Wilson, the Democrat, who was going to keep us out of war, was the people's choice. . . . The difference between them was only 23 electoral votes, and California was the gay deceiver.

* * *

When did the conscription idea come into military history? . . . We find that a theoretically noble experiment, the French revolution, turned the trick. Carnot in 1793 and Jourdan in 1798 applied the slogan, "Liberté, Egalité, Fraternité," to warfare. . . . Jourdan's law fixed the age limits at 20 to 25 years. It did not produce enormous hordes of conscripts, however, until the revolution found its dictator, Napoleon, who proceeded to overrun Europe. . . . The Prussians didn't get on the band wagon until 1808.

Who said there were only 36 tragic "situations" in drama? It seems to have been an Italian dramatist named Carlo Gozzi [1720-1806]. Somewhere in Goethe's works you can find this:

"Gozzi maintained that there could not be more than 36 tragic situations. Schiller took great pains to find more, but he did not find as many as Gozzi."

We never took the trouble to count them, but whatever the number, we can add another, and the most tragic of all: Scarcity of customers at the box office window.

AN AUTUMN MEMORY.

[See THE TRIBUNE, Oct. 16, 1938: "Autumnal Glory Lures Visitor to Wisconsin Dells," by James O'Donnell Bennett.]

Two years ago you passed this way
And wrote about autumnal glory.
You took a river, rocks and trees
And left a most enchanting story.
Dark palisades, white battlements,
The lacy fern, the pines and birds—
Of these you made a fairyland
And left a symphony in words.
You will not pass this way again
For Time has penned another story,
Yet, what a wealth of loveliness

Bands of the Beer Garden Era.

Among band leaders of yesteryear do not omit Herr Martin Ballmann, who had a sizable organization tootling at the old Bismarck Garden, at Grace street and Evanston avenue, now Broadway. German gemütlichkeit reigned supreme in that charming spot; Lemp's beer was imbibed copiously and one even heard English spoken, it is said, in the early 1900s. Ballmann's pièce de résistance was the "1812 Overture" by Tschaikowsky. He also had a specialty of a musician's strike, one man after the other leaving the stage, subsequently to return and to resume playing.

Also do not forget the former leader of the United States Marine band, by name of Santelmann, who, prior to coming to this country, was the leader of the German 25th Dragoon regiment. Of visiting musicians I have in mind Herr Ziehrer of Vienna, who with the entire band of Austria's oldest infantry regiment "Hochdeutschmeister," played lilting waltzes and stirring marches at the 1893 World's fair. At St. Louis in 1904 the band of the French Garde Republicaine packed off for home after some altercation. C. O. R.

What's the Language Coming To?

Can the Linemaster give us a little light on where we are headed in the matter of noun-verbs? At the present rate of conversion, soon every noun will become a verb and dictionaries will about double in size.

Here are a few samples taken from current papers and periodicals: "Leiber homered in the fifth inning"; "for fullest efficiency the plant should be dieseled"; "special that letter, it is important." W. P. R.

FIFTY YARD LINE SEAT.

Well, well, well—and so you rub knees
With guys of importance, like banker trustees,
Back of the fifty, where reaction is muted
When passes are tossed or kicks are booted.
But don't you feel nostalgiac sadness,
Remembering that spot on the edge of madness—
Back of the twenty, or the roaring ten,
Back where the maniacs gather again?
Where inebriates rally and form a quartet
And are childishly eager to sing, fight, or bet.
Yes, here is the spot of ideal conditions
For the proletariat to shed inhibitions;
But, back of the fifty, such doings are frowned on—
You can see what yard the ball is downed on—
Or, without climbing up some big bird in front,
Yes, there you can sit and indulge in your yen
Of imagining Chicago is playing again;
Of course with this difference in the beginning—
The Wildcats always have chances of winning.

Bad verse and the like, I am guilty of such sins—

Autumn Storm in Suburbs.

An icy wind swept down out of a cold gray sky. It flattened the trees into quivering silhouettes, and drowned the pale gold leaves in a torrent of silver rain. Just as the early dusk descended, it tore an electric power line from its mooring and plunged our street into darkness. And so I cooked by candlelight.

Outside the rain lashed at the windows with an increasing violence, and the wind whistled about the eaves. Here and there timber in the old house creaked protestingly at the violence of the storm. But in the kitchen four candles made friendly shadows that danced upon the wall, and the teakettle sang upon the stove. A sly little cricket in the corner, grateful for shelter, sang his thanks. The soft light brought a new warmth and homeliness to our kitchen, and I briefly envied my pioneer grandmother. Helene.

"Thru all my days I'll sing the praise of brown October ale." You'll be hearing that over the radio pretty soon when W-G-N cuts loose with the famous old comic opera, "Robin Hood."

"MAKE MINE WHOLE WHEAT."

It was not until the middle of the 18th century that wheat began to replace rye and oats in continental Europe. So palatable did this grain prove to be that the consumption of bread was practically double what it is today. One pound per person per day was the average among the working populace. A glance at the diets of our prerevolutionary ancestors shows the important rôle of the "staff of life." Flour was stone ground and the whole meal, therefore, incorporated both the germ and the bran. In some mills, bolting was not even thought of.

As we would expect, rye bread was displaced from the tables of rich and poor alike. It was considered a mark of superiority to serve the snowlike variety. Unfortunately, this urge led to the use of alum as a whitening agent. It was not until 1878, however, that roller mills began to produce flour similar to our modern commodity. By getting rid of the germ, the keeping qualities were improved. We now know that this very process deprived the substance of certain essential ingredients.

Later still, nitrous oxide gas was resorted to as a bleach. This in turn affected the vitamin source known as "carotene." By throwing away the germ and the outer portion of the berry [the bran], 85 per cent of the available B-1 was lost.

We may assume, then, that the superiority of whole wheat or Graham flour lies in the fact that the vitamin content is higher. Furthermore, the percentage of minerals and proteins is greater and the effect upon the bowel is more natural. While bread is not in and of itself a perfect food, it is one of our chief staples.

The lack of B is world-wide. Not that there isn't enough of this component to supply every man, woman, and child—for there is. But we fail to use it. We take edibles because of custom and taste and they may not furnish an adequate quota.

An adult will need daily 500 units of B-1 and we can easily augment our intake by substituting the whole kernel in place of "partial" bread. It was a Boston physician, Sylvester Graham, who recommended that all of the wheat, unbolted and coarsely ground, be utilized. His "Treatise on Bread and Bread Making" was published in 1837.

There is only one objection to the "whole" form—namely, that too much bran may not be desirable because occasionally it will irritate a sensitive digestive tract. Then again, what is commonly termed "whole wheat" is usually a mixture of 50 per cent or more of white. The suggestion was offered recently that white flour may be fortified with wheat germ with advantage.

From the laboratory of the school of hygiene of the University of Toronto there has come a most illuminating report dealing with the influence of bread upon the growth of young animals—first of ordinary white; second, of that containing 20 per cent whole wheat; and third, loaves with 95 per cent white flour and 5 per cent wheat germ.

In comparison with the white, there was a decided increase in development in those fed upon the brown type. With the inclusion of 5 per cent wheat germ the animals were well nourished and substantially heavier.

We have realized for a long time that removing the outer layers of the kernel, as well as the germ, discarded something which the body requires. One cannot explain the popular antipathy to a loaf that does not look like swan's down. If we insist upon the colorless product, wheat germ may be added. We can thus maintain nutrition satisfactorily.

NUMBNESS OF ARM.

Mrs. J. K. writes: I wake up frequently during the night with my right arm rigid and numb. Massage gives relief. What is the cause of this condition?

REPLY.

Your sleeping posture no doubt compresses the circulation to the arm. When this occurs the extremity becomes cold, lifeless, and sometimes painful. Accustom yourself to a new position.

ALLERGY TESTS.

V. N. writes: What is the name of the series of tests given to ascertain the cause of asthma?

REPLY.

A HOUSEWIFE'S QUESTIONS.

Bangor, Mich., Oct. 15.—I would like to know the answers to the following questions and I don't care who answers them. It can be Roosevelt, Eleanor, Mme. Perkins, Wallace, Ickes, or the man on the street. I just want to know what is what:

1. Are we going to have four more years of crises?

2. Will Roosevelt declare war, and inform congress afterwards?

3. Has Roosevelt committed us to a secret pact with some foreign country?

4. Will our sons have to fight bombs with broom sticks?

5. What will become of us women and children if bombs start falling?

6. Will the C. I. O.-communist labor union continue to slug our sons and husbands at their job?

7. Do all the common people think Roosevelt ever felt the pangs of hunger, had callouses on his hands [maybe he has had some from hauling in a fighting fish], or punched a time clock?

8. Do intelligent people believe that spending will bring back prosperity? My creditors won't let me do that!

9. Have Americans forgotten how to think? It has been said that if the gray matter isn't whipped up occasionally it will "jell."

I am just an ordinary housewife with a husband and three children, one of them a son. Right now I'm so furious with the politicians who would sacrifice our liberties for their own personal greed that I could fight. And don't forget—"the female of the species is more deadly than the male!" A. M.

Waterman, Ill., Oct. 14.—Congratulations on the cartoon on the front page of this morning's TRIBUNE. I think it is the most powerful, searching, condemning thing I have seen during the whole of this momentous crusade. I sincerely hope it receives the wide circulation it deserves.

C. R. WILLIAMS,
Superintendent, Waterman Public Schools.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Is seems to me that your cheap, childish cartoons ridiculing President Roosevelt are further evidence that your "World Greatest Newspaper" is only an idle boast. A truly great newspaper would hardly stoop to such weak comparisons as your cartoons make, and the caricatures of him are an insult.

F. S.

Fairview, Ill., Oct. 16.—In answer to the lady's opinion of your cartoon [Theodore Roosevelt's sons] I say: Thank God for you morons!

I stood within six feet of Teddy at Camp Dodge when he was talking to "those privileged to do the task his government had withheld from him." He was past active duty age but he wanted to go and do his duty. No one there doubted his sincerity.

Davenport, Ia., Oct. 13.—I am writing to compliment you on the enlarged radio program listing with your Sunday edition. I hope this feature will be continued each week, and that it may be expanded to include a more detailed listing of the programs of the remainder of the week as featured by the more important Chicago stations; i. e., along the lines of the list you publish for W-G-N.

MARSE HENRY ON THIRD TERM.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Read the immortal Henry Watterson's opinion [1910] of a third term:

"The President of the United States has more and greater power than any sovereign in Europe. He is the commander in chief of the army and navy. He has the appointment of federal officers at home and abroad. Thru the treasury department he may control the rise and fall of prices. Thru the department of commerce he may coerce the corporations. Thru the Interstate Commerce commission the railways. He is the master of the secret service. It is his to forbid an act of congress to become a law.

"All that stands between the people and these is the time limit set upon the Presidential elections and the third term tradition bequeathed us by Washington, which has for a period of a hundred years restricted the individual occupancy of the Presidential chair to eight years.

"Lift this time limit and life-tenure is the logical consequence. Life-tenure means absolutism and arbitrary power. Under the title of President we would have an autocrat, having already an imperial republic under democratic forms and names." R. R. R.

CONGRESS FEARS TO QUIT.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—There is a lot of hooey in print about the indispensability of the President to handle foreign affairs. How can any one pay any attention to such bunk when congress shows such alarming distrust of the President that it is afraid to adjourn? The very action and temper of congress nullify all the futile arguments that can be concocted in support of the chief executive's handling of foreign matters. E. W. W.

FROM A REAL PAL.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—What a venomous paper you print. Your editorial writers as well as your cartoonists must eat, sleep, and eat in venom. If Al Capone were nominated by the Republicans you would support him. This, no doubt, is headed for the waste basket. A. F.

MORTGAGE.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I would like very much to know who owns the first mortgage on a piece of land in Illinois [but not in Cook county]. The situation is about like this:

Mr. A is a very old man about 80 years old; has only two daughters whom I will call L and M. In 1931, M and her husband gave quit claim deed to this farm to A. For over eight years this transaction was kept secret from L who sees M and A quite often. L learned of the transaction from some one who had seen the court record. M and her husband have many financial troubles, judgments, etc., and the farm was probably deeded to A to cheat creditors of M and her husband.

A believes implicitly what M and her husband tell him. In a case in court M and her husband filed a statement that A gave them money to buy the mortgage and that they bought it for A and delivered it to A.

A [80 years old] knows very little of law, business transactions, etc., as he trusts everything to M and her husband. A told L he thinks some religious society has the mortgage and he probably thinks that is correct as M and her husband are still taking the proceeds of the farm, at least A says he receives no income from the farm. [A thinks M's husband pays the religious society.]

Can you suggest some way that I can get a written statement signed by A in which he tells who he thinks owns the mortgage and so that he does not know who is asking for the statement?

H. H.

If the mortgage is in the old-fashioned form, then you might get information by looking up the record in the recorder's office, but it is common now to use as a substitute a trust deed in which a third party holds the title and the name of the creditor would not appear. It seems possible that a lawyer might be able to help you in digging up the information.

AAA 'EXEMPTS' ITS 100,000 AIDS FROM HATCH ACT

Claims Committeemen Are Not Employes.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—Paul H. Appleby, undersecretary of agriculture, contended before the senate campaign investigating committee today that locally elected committeemen of the Agriculture Adjustment administration are not subject to restrictions of the Hatch act, which forbids federal employés to take an active part in politics.

Altho admitting that the department of agriculture has authority to dismiss AAA county and township committeemen, of which there are more than 100,000, Appleby denied they are employés of the government.

Shakedown List Denied.

The undersecretary also denied the AAA furnished a list of county and township committeemen to the so-called National Committee for Agriculture, a Roosevelt-Wallace campaign organization accused of shaking down AAA committeemen in 12 states for contributions.

Representative Clifford R. Hope [R., Kas.] submitted to the senate committee clippings of newspaper articles published in Missouri and other states which told of alleged efforts to force AAA committeemen to contribute part of their per diem from the federal government to the Roosevelt-Wallace campaign.

Get It Back from Farmers.

Representatives of the national committee for agriculture told the AAA committeemen that they could reimburse themselves by assessing farmers in their territory, the newspaper stories said.

Appleby also informed Senator Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.], chairman of the committee, that one A. E. Grigg, an employé of the department of agriculture in Iowa, had been dismissed for engaging in unlawful political activity. He declared, however, that the department's investigation failed to disclose that any contributions were collected by Grigg.

"There have been received from time to time complaints alleging improper or unlawful activities on the part of employés of the department and also on the part of county committeemen and employés of county associations," Appleby said. He added that such complaints are promptly investigated and when the persons involved are found guilty they are dismissed.

BARRETT WINS RIGHT TO SPEAK FREELY ON WBBM

Radio station WBBM announced last night that George F. Barrett will be permitted to include in a broadcast from that station at 6:30 p. m. Sunday the text stricken at the "suggestion" of the station from a speech he delivered last Saturday.

There were two sections deleted. One of them referred to the appointment of Elliott Roosevelt as an army captain. The other charged that Democratic precinct workers have told voters on relief and WPA that the government's payments to them will cease if President Roosevelt is not reëlected.

The station announcement also said that Barrett should not have been cut off the air when he sought to explain in that same speech that censorship had deleted two parts of his talk. The announcement was signed by J. L. Van Volkenberg as assistant to H. Leslie Atlass, vice president of the Columbia Broadcasting system.

Enid, Okla., Oct. 17. (AP).—Senator Charles L. McNary swung into the southwest's former drought belt tonight and asserted New Deal policy had dispossessed more tenant farmers than "all the dust storms that ever blew up out of Arizona."

The Republican Vice Presidential nominee said in a speech prepared for delivery at a party rally that a policy which permitted "big planters to pocket all the benefit payments" for cotton "cruelly drives thousands of tenants off the land."

"I have it on the word of a reliable informant," he said, "that 125,000 tenant farmers have been forced off the farms of Texas because of the New Deal's callous administration of this problem."

SEIZE CAPTAIN IN PHILIPPINES ON SPY CHARGES

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 17 (AP).—The arrest of Capt. Rufo Romero of the Philippine scouts on suspicion that he was preparing to give several confidential documents to unauthorized persons was announced today by the United States army intelligence service.

Romero, a graduate of West Point, was held for court martial. He has been attached to the 14th engineers, Fort William McKinley. Two Filipino civilians also were arrested.

Intelligence officers said Romero obtained the documents from Fort McKinley. Philippine scouts are members of the United States army with the exception of those taken into the Philippine army.

GARBAGE MAN NIBBLES CAKE IN CLEANEST ALLEY

An open air "clean alley" party was held last night in the 3600 block between Flournoy and Lexington streets in honor of the city's garbage men. The alley was chosen by the 29th Ward Property Improvement association as the ward's cleanest.

On the scene were Chinese lanterns, card tables with food, Ald. Joseph S. Gillespie [29th], Capt. Louis Klatzco of the Fillmore station, a bunch of kids, some adults, and the garbage man, Frank Davolio, who has cared for that particular slice of alley for two years.

Ald. Gillespie gave Davolio a piece of cake and forgot to present him with a certificate of merit. Davolio gave his speech, anyway. He said that two years ago the alley's rats were so tough they would chase the neighborhood dogs. Now, he said, it's been two months since he's seen even a mouse. He thanked the residents for coöperating.

WILLKIE'S LEAD HOLDS IN MORE ILLINOIS STRAWS

They Indicate He'll Carry State by 118,980.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

New straws from Chicago and from 17 downstate cities—8,893 in all—are given in today's tabulation of THE TRIBUNE'S straw vote now in progress in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Michigan. The new batch alters percentages somewhat in city totals and downstate totals, but makes little change in the relative standing of President Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie in the 41,873 Illinois straw ballots now tabulated.

In today's 4,083 new Chicago straws Roosevelt's percentage is 1.3 points less than he had in the previously reported polls of three days. Downstate Willkie's percentage of 4,810 new straws fell off 1.6 points from his mark of the previous tables of three days. When the new straws are added to those in tables of three previous days, Roosevelt has slipped .3 of a point in his Chicago percentage and Willkie has dropped .5 of a point downstate.

Willkie Has 50.9 Pct.

Of the total Illinois straws to date Willkie has 50.9 per cent.

An analysis of the straws, the percentages and the dispersion of straws among Chicago, the Cook county towns and the downstate cities indicates a projected lead for Willkie of 51.55 per cent in the entire state on the basis of the present straw vote percentages.

In the last Presidential election, 1936, of the total Republican and Democratic vote of 3,853,392 cast in Illinois, 42.6 per cent was cast in Chicago, 8.1 per cent in the Cook county towns and 49.3 per cent in downstate counties outside Cook.

Because of the ease and rapidity with which straws can be gathered in Chicago and the suburbs as compared with downstate, Chicago and the Cook county towns have a larger proportion of straws in the tables than they will have votes in the election. Of the total 41,873 Illinois straws in the tables, 47.2 per cent are from Chicago; 15.7 from the county towns; 37.1 per cent from downstate.

Comparison with 1936.

A projection of the straw indicated vote upon the basis of the 1936 election [the last comparable election] figures is of interest. New straws coming in and fluctuations in sentiment that may occur as Nov. 5 approaches, may affect the present percentages materially. The total vote may be larger than four years ago and may exceed 4,000,000. But applying the straw percentages to date to the vote four years ago as a measuring rod, the following results are yielded:

	1936 vote Rep.-Dem.	Roosevelt Projected vote.	Willkie Projected vote.
County towns	311,574	116,840	194,734
Downstate	1,899,022	772,902	1,126,120

Willkie's projected plurality is 118,980.

In other words, applying the present straw percentages to the figures of the last Presidential election, Roosevelt would carry Chicago by an indicated 312,132 plurality, while Willkie would carry the towns by 77,894, and downstate by 353,218.

Vote in Senatorship Race.

In today's totals of four days' street corner polls with 14,922 votes in Chicago cast on senator, Wayland Brooks, Republican, has 47.4 per cent of the straws, and Senator James M. Slattery, 52.6. Dwight H. Green, Republican nominee for governor, has 51.3 per cent of the straws, and Harry B. Hershey, his Democratic opponent, 48.7 per cent of 15,606 Chicago straws.

Downstate, Brooks has 61.9 per cent of the straws and Green has 62.2.

In Cook county State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, Democrat, has 55.3 per cent of 15,014 Chicago straws now cast on this office; Judge Oscar F. Nelson has 44.7 per cent.

The 17 downstate cities in today's table are distributed over north, central and southern Illinois. Four years ago Roosevelt carried 12 of them. In the straws Willkie leads in 15. Willkie has 58.2 per cent of the straws in these 17 cities; where Landon in the same cities had 43 per cent four years ago and Richard Lyons, Republican, 52 per cent two years ago in his race against Senator Scott Lucas.

More Returns from Chicago and Downstate in Tribune Straw Poll

Below are the sixth day's tabulations of the straw vote being taken by THE TRIBUNE in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, and Wisconsin on the principal candidates in the election of Nov. 5. These returns, from Chicago and downstate Illinois, include the candidates for President, United States senator, governor, and, in Cook county, for state's attorney. In the Presidential race the tabulation shows the number of straws cast for Willkie and for Roosevelt and the percentage for each. The table shows the percentages of the principal candidates in the elections of 1936 and 1938 in wards in which the straw votes now are being taken.

A Million Pledges

New York, Oct. 17 [Special].—The national committee of Democrats for Willkie today made public figures compiled from more than 1,000,000 pledge cards indicating that 26.7 per cent of the Democratic votes cast for President Roosevelt will go this year to Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican nominee, and that Willkie should carry New York state by 269,000. The announcement was made by John W. Hanes, former undersecretary of the treasury in the Roosevelt administration and now executive member of Democrats for Willkie.

BIG CITY STRAWS AID ROOSEVELT IN POLL OF N.Y.

The President edged forward from 51.5 to 54.5 per cent of the total to date as fresh batches of returns poured in from five door to door canvass crews. Most of the new votes, however, came from the congested Harlem and Canarsie sections in New York City and from Rochester and Syracuse, the second and third largest cities upstate.

In the third full day of polling the Republican nominee won 57.3 per cent upstate and Mr. Roosevelt took 79.2 per cent in New York City. This brought to 45.5 and 54.5 respectively their state-wide percentages to date. Out of 7,335 ballots cast so far 3,998 have been marked for Roosevelt and 3,337 for Willkie. A total of more than 53,000 will be taken.

Despite his 3 point gain in percentage, the President dropped under his 1936 ratio in every county and assembly district polled with the single exception of the 2d assembly district in Brooklyn, where he showed a 1.03 per cent gain.

The five canvass crews, composed of five to eight men traveling by automobile, are taking one straw vote for each 100 cast in the Presidential election of 1936.

Queen OF THE Roller Rink?

It's HARD to tell... but EASY to pick a winning oil

PREPAREDNESS IS HER MOTTO. The young lady is ready to take all the bumps and hard knocks on her way to the top. Can you tell whether she will end up with the championship or be one of the hundreds who flop?

Pick 'em young and you probably will pick 'em wrong. But when you are looking for an oil of championship quality, you have clues to help you choose. Here they are:

Because motorists' requirements vary as their cars and pocketbooks do, Phillips makes many oils. But you need have no question or doubt, if you want our best oil, because Phillips definitely and frankly tells you: Phillips 66 Motor Oil is our finest quality . . . the highest grade and greatest value . . . among all the oils we offer.

It's good sense to drain and replace worn oil after 1,000 miles. It's better sense . . . and economy, in the bargain . . . to pick a winning oil. So drain and refill with Phillips 66 Motor Oil at the Orange and Black 66 Shield.

IMPOUND DRAFT CARDS IN MOVE TO REMAP DISTRICTS

More Boards Sought for Cook County.

BY HAROLD HUTCHINGS.

Registration cards of Cook county's 545,549 draft registrants were impounded last night in the vaults of the Chicago board of election commissioners and the county clerk's office.

Louis A. Boening, Cook county assistant to the state draft director, took this action when returns from Wednesday's registration showed that additional local draft board areas must be created in the county if the policy of having not more than 3,500 registrants per local draft board is to be followed. Chicago now is divived into 78 draft board areas, and Cook county outside Chicago has 26 more. There are 181 downstate, a total of 285 for Illinois. Illinois' total registration Wednesday was 1,008,316, with figures estimated for a few counties.

More Boards Needed.

Returns showed that only two areas in Chicago have fewer than 3,500 registrants, and only six have fewer than 4,000. Nine areas have more than 9,000 registrants, and three—the 11th, 12th, and 28th wards—have more than 10,000. Seven of the 26 local board areas in Cook county outside Chicago have more than 3,500 registrants.

At the direction of Paul G. Armstrong, state draft director, precinct totals for Chicago were rushed by plane to Springfield. Last night state draft headquarters sought to decide how the precincts can best be regrouped.

"In some cases we probably can handle the situation by allowing more clerical assistants, or reallocating a few precincts, but more boards must be appointed," Armstrong said.

Draft Boards Sworn In.

The 412 men who make up the 104 local boards of Cook county met last night in the city hall for instructions and to take the oath of office, which was administered by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki.

"We must rearrange our setup, but that doesn't mean that the membership of the present boards will be changed," Maj. Stanley R. McNeil, of the county draft office told the board members.

It was explained that as long as the boards cannot get the cards of their areas from the county clerk, they can't assign serial numbers.

Maj. Victor A. Kleber, also of the Cook county office, told the members to obtain space for a headquarters in a public building or other free place if possible.

Regulations provide that when space in public buildings is not available, an office shall be rented, altho there must be competition among three or more sources "to obtain the lowest rental possible for suitable space." A provision that the federal public buildings administration must approve any lease before it is signed has been waived temporarily.

The board members were instructed to plan for hiring a chief clerk and other help. This step cannot be completed until the number of registrants in the board area is known. No clerk is to be paid in excess of $150 per month and an assistant clerk or stenographer shall not be paid more than $100 per month under draft regulations, except on specific authority from the national director of selective service. The maximum monthly allowance for clerical help varies from $100 for boards with 1,099 registrants or less to $350 for those with 4,500 or more.

Police Stations O. K.

The federal government pays both rental and clerical costs of the local boards. Altho employés of the state draft office must be taken from federal service lists, local boards are not required to employ civil servants.

Board members were told that their quarters should consist of two rooms with a minimum of 600 square feet of floor space. Quarters in a "modern" police station are satisfactory, Kleber said in answer to a question.

Appeals Court to Study Bootleg Liquor Fix Case

The appeal of Daniel D. Glasser and Norton I. Kretske, former assistant United States district attorneys, and Attorney Alfred E. Roth from their conviction for conspiracy to fix bootleg liquor cases was taken under advisement yesterday by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Glasser and Kretske are under sentence of 14 months each in a federal penitentiary. Roth was fined $500.

DOCTORS NAMED FOR DOWNSTATE DRAFT BOARDS

Will Examine Registrants in Class No. 1.

A list of medical officers for local draft boards in downstate Illinois counties was announced in Springfield last night by Paul G. Armstrong, state selective service director. The appointments were made by President Roosevelt upon recommendation of Gov. John Stelle. Medical officers for Cook county draft boards will be named later.

The medical officers, all physicians, will examine registrants in the draft who are classified as being in class No. 1, those available for immediate army service.

PLAN 13 STATIONS FOR SIXTH CORPS DRAFT INDUCTION

Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, commander of the 6th corps area and 2d army, announced yesterday that 13 induction stations to process men drafted for a year's army training will be established in Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, the states of the 6th corps area.

One station will handle men from the Chicago area. Four stations for men from lower Michigan will be at Detroit, Saginaw, Kalamazoo, and Cadillac, Mich. The other stations will be located at Peoria, East St. Louis and Salem, Ill.; Madison, Milwaukee, Eau Claire, and Wausau, Wis., and Escanaba, Mich.

Men sent by local draft boards will be received and examined physically at the induction stations.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 17 (AP).—Less than 18 hours after the close of draft registration, two Back Bay ministers were indicted by a federal grand jury today on a charge of knowingly failing and neglecting to register in accordance with the selective service act.

The indictments named the Rev. Keith C. Kanaga, 25 years old, assistant pastor of the Mount Vernon Congregational church, and the Rev. Harry H. Kruener, 24, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Officials said the clergymen appeared at a registration place yesterday but refused to register. Both ministers said they were ready to face any governmental investigation of their stand.

PLANT OFFICIALS ROBBED.

Three officials of the United Pressed Products company, 407 South Aberdeen street, were robbed of $183 yesterday in front of the plant by two bandits. The victims are Harry Raffles, president; Frank Raffles, vice president, and Morris Cohon, purchasing agent.

FATALLY INJURED WHEN HE WALKS INTO SIDE OF CAR

Peter Lang, 45 years old, of 1222 Roosevelt road, a laborer, was fatally injured yesterday when he walked into the side of a car driven by John S. McCoy, 61, of 1625 Hinman avenue, Evanston. The accident occurred in Roosevelt road, near Marshfield avenue. Lang died last night in County hospital.

Walter Sandecki, 27, of 3742 North Nordica avenue, a laborer, died in County hospital last night of injuries incurred several days ago at Cortez and Elston avenues when a car in which he was riding struck a post.

Leonard Fisk of 2212 Monticello avenue died in the Walther Memorial hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Monday when he was struck by an automobile at Monticello and Palmer avenues. Fisk was a laundry truck driver, 61 years old. The driver of the car that struck him was Michael Peck, 33, of 2025 North La Vergne avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 693 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 504 were killed in Chicago, where 18,712 were injured in the same period.

WOMAN PLACES CRASH BLAME ON SECOND AND PAYS $10 FINE FOR HER

Mrs. Mae Semper, 56 years old, of 1842 North Maud avenue, a widow, and Mrs. Cassie Nielsen, 22, of 1725 Warren boulevard, faced each other in Safety court yesterday on cross complaints of reckless driving. Each blamed the other for the collision of their cars last Sept. 16 at Madison street and Hermitage avenue.

Judge George B. Weiss ruled that Mrs. Semper was at fault for driving in the wrong traffic lane in order to pass a truck. He fined her $10 and costs. When Mrs. Semper said she couldn't pay, Mrs. Nielsen interceded and asked the judge to dismiss the fine.

Judge Weiss said he would not vacate the $10 fine but would drop the costs. Mrs. Semper said she still could not pay and would have to go to jail to work out the fine. Then Mrs. Nielsen reached into her pocketbook, drew out a $10 bill, and paid the fine.

"Pay me back when you can," she told Mrs. Semper as the two walked out of the courtroom.

CONFESSION READ IN MILK DEPOT BOMBING TRIAL

The confession in which Edmund Iwanski, 35 years old, former milk wagon driver, told how he tossed a dynamite bomb into a milk depot at 5716 Elston avenue last July, was read to a jury yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge John Sbarbaro. Iwanski is on trial for the bombing. William B. Crawford, assistant state's attorney, told the jury that Iwanski not only confessed the bombing but led police and investigators to his home at 5362 North Nottingham avenue where he showed them two bombs he had prepared from dynamite sticks.

MEAT

at noon for the girl who works

The quick, inadequate lunch at noon often makes for quick fatigue in the afternoon and hastens the tired, drawn lines which girls dread.

Many girls are waking up to the fact that a piece of meat at noon has what it takes, and that it gives them many of the important food requirements they need to go through the rest of the business day.

POUNDING a typewriter, powdering your nose, and everything else you do—even breathing—are part of the living process that uses up your proteins.

Proteins must be replaced and replenished regularly, for the body does not store them up.

Meat is a major source, not only of proteins, but of "complete" proteins, containing the 10 essential amino acids (ask your physician how important they are).

Not only does meat—morning, noon or night—furnish complete proteins; but it also is a natural source of certain important minerals, as well as vitamins, which you know you need.

We suggest that the girl who works let meat work for her at her noonday meal . . . AMERICAN MEAT INSTITUTE, Chicago.

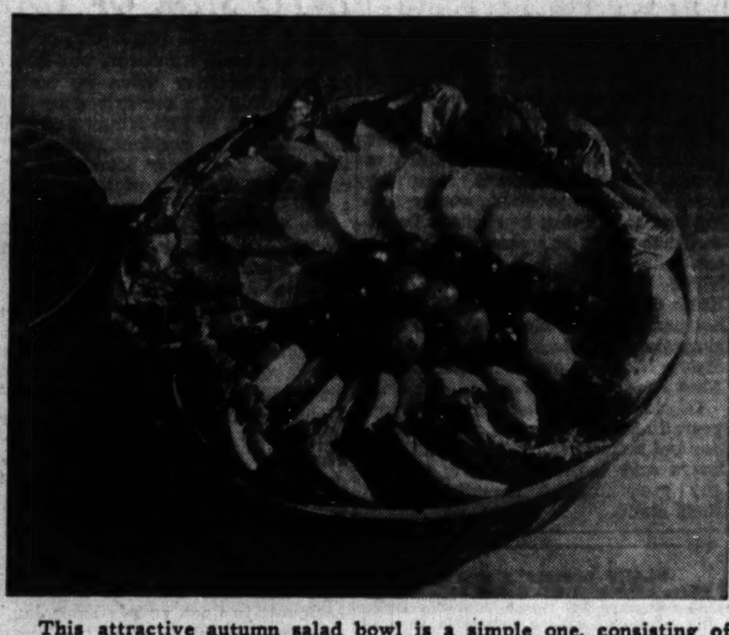
Asbestos Mats Useful Things on Cook Stove

Asbestos mats which may be placed over range burners to obtain very low cooking temperatures are an asset to the kitchen. They are useful when stews are being cooked, when sauces or gravies are to be kept hot, and they prevent scorching of foods on many occasions.

Attractive Autumn Salad Bowl



This attractive autumn salad bowl is a simple one, consisting of sliced oranges, pears, and apples, grapes and a garnish of crisp romaine. A sweet French dressing offers a pleasant flavor contrast to the tart fruits. To make the dressing, combine ½ cup lemon juice, ½ cup salad oil, ½ cup red jelly or honey, 1 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon paprika. Shake the mixture well before serving.

BEAT UP GRAHAM CRACKERS—WIND UP WITH A CAKE

2 Recipes Tell Way to Distinctive Flavor.

Graham cracker cakes have a delicious toasty flavor that's entirely their own. Their texture is necessarily a little less tender and more chewy than that of regular flour cakes, but nobody minds this.

The cakes are made pretty much by the same methods as any standard cake and may be either egg or butter cakes. The secret in making them seems to lie in rolling the crackers until well pulverized. Here are two recipes, one for a butter cake that is quite like your favorite three egg plain cake, the other for a sponge cake that contains a little baking powder to help leaven the heavy crumbs. You may use any other frosting or filling you prefer on this first cake, but the whipped cream goes particularly well with it.

GRAHAM CREAM LAYER CAKE.

½ cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
3 eggs, separated
⅔ cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt
25 graham crackers
2½ teaspoons baking powder
1 cup chopped walnut meats
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 pint whipping cream

Cream butter and sugar together well. Add beaten egg yolk, milk and salt and beat well. Crush graham crackers fine with a rolling pin; mix with baking powder. Fold into creamed mixture; then add half the nutmeats and the vanilla. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into two greased 8 inch layer pans and bake in a moderately hot [375 degrees] oven until done, 20 to 25 minutes. Cool. Whip cream and sweeten with sugar, flavor with vanilla. Fill and cover top and sides of cake with whipped cream and sprinkle with remaining nutmeats.

GRAHAM CRACKER SPONGE CAKE.
[9 inch tube pan].

6 egg yolks, beaten until thick
1 cup sifted sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup fine, sifted graham cracker crumbs
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup chopped nutmeats
6 egg whites, beaten until stiff
⅛ teaspoon salt

Beat egg yolks until they are thick and lemon colored. Add sugar gradually, continuing to beat until thoroly dissolved, and the mixture is very light. Add vanilla. Combine sifted crumbs and baking powder, and fold thoroly into the egg mixture. Add nutmeats. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry, with the salt, and fold into the batter. Bake in an ungreased 9 inch tube pan, or three small layer pans, in a moderately slow [325 degrees] oven, if tube pan is used, or in moderate [350 degrees] oven if layer pans are used. Frost with confectioners' sugar icing and sprinkle with chopped nutmeats.

HERE'S SOMETHING HOT FOR BREAKFAST: EGGS WITH SPANISH TOAST

When cool, brisk weather stimulates early morning appetites it's time to serve a hot and savory breakfast dish. Try this hearty combination of fluffy scrambled eggs with Spanish toast.

SCRAMBLED EGGS ON SPANISH TOAST.
[Serves 4-6.]

2 eggs, beaten slightly
¾ cup tomato juice
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
5-6 slices bread
3 teaspoons fat
Hot scrambled eggs

Blend beaten eggs, tomato juice, sugar, and salt. Dip both sides of each slice of bread into mixture. Brown on both sides in hot fat in frying pan. Place on hot platter, heap with freshly scrambled eggs and serve at once.

Bacon and Eggs New Way: With Mashed Potato Rings

Bacon and eggs in mashed potato rings make a hearty luncheon or supper. To prepare the dish for four persons, spread three cups of hot, well seasoned mashed potatoes in a greased casserole. Make four depressions in the potatoes with the back of a spoon, each one large enough to hold an egg. Partially cook eight bacon strips, and wind two strips around each depression. Break an egg into each, and bake in a 325 to 350 degree oven, until the eggs are set.

CRANBERRY-NUT PIE WILL PROVE A TASTY DESSERT

Cranberry-Orange Also Is Appetizing.

It's an early season for cranberries, and that's all right with anybody who is at all familiar with the good things made from the little red berries. Maybe you wouldn't think of cranberries as being just the best candidate for filling a pie plate, but they make mighty good pies just the same.

When used in pies cranberries are first ground or chopped or else cooked as in this cranberry-nut pie.

CRANBERRY-NUT PIE
[One 8 inch pie]

1⅓ cups sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
⅓ cup water
3 cups raw cranberries
⅓ cup raisins
⅓ cup broken walnut meats
2 tablespoons butter
Few grains of salt
1 baked pie shell
3 egg whites
6 tablespoons sifted brown sugar

Blend sugar and cornstarch. Add water and bring to boil, stirring constantly. Add washed cranberries, raisins, and nutmeats. Cook slowly until cranberries pop open. Add butter and salt. Set aside to cool; do not stir. Beat egg whites until stiff, gradually adding brown sugar. Pour filling into baked pie shell and top with brown sugar meringue. Bake in moderate [350 degrees] oven, long enough to brown meringue, about 15 minutes.

CRANBERRY ORANGE PIE

4 cups cranberries
¾ cup orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
2 cups sugar
2½ tablespoons quick cooking tapioca
⅓ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter

Grind or chop cranberries. Add orange juice, rind, sugar, tapioca, and salt. Mix well. Turn into pastry lined pie plate and dot with butter. Top with second crust and bake for 10 minutes in a hot [450 degrees] oven; reduce heat to moderate [350 degrees] and continue baking 40 minutes longer.

CRANBERRY MINCE PIE

2 cups fresh cranberries
1 cup suet
2 apples, peeled and quartered
½ cup mixed candied peel [optional]
1 cup raisins
1 cup currants
1½ cups brown sugar
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon cloves
⅛ teaspoon ginger
Grated rind of 1 lemon
3 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup cranberry, orange or pineapple juice
Pastry

Put cranberries, suet, apples, and candied peel thru food chopper. Add remaining ingredients and blend. Turn into pastry-lined pie plate and top with crisscrossed strips of pastry. Brush pastry topping with milk and bake in a hot [450 degree] oven for 10 minutes, then reduce temperature to moderate [350 degrees] and bake 40 minutes longer.

BY MARY MEADE.

In the good old days or bad old days, however you may regard them, turkeys came to market only for Thanksgiving and Christmas. Nowadays we get them almost year around.

This week-end we'll get them at bargain prices. So invite the relatives and friends you aren't going to have for Thanksgiving dinner, and serve them stuffed turkey Sunday. You'll find plenty of cranberries available for the sauce to go with it.

If you don't want to serve turkey, try roasting a leg of lamb, for lamb is on the bargain list for the week-end, too. Remember that it requires low heat, 300 degrees, and that there should be no cover on the roasting pan. Lamb shoulder roast also is a good buy. Lamb rib and loin chops shouldn't be overlooked, either.

Pork Prices Reasonable.

Then there's pork. Pork is one of our surplus commodities, and prices are reasonable. If you want neither turkey nor lamb, how about a pork loin roast, or fresh ham? Or perhaps a boned and rolled shoulder of pork, which many stores are featuring. Smoked picnics and butts, pork sausage patties and links, slab and sliced bacon, frankfurters, round steak, and Braunschweiger are other meat buys which you may care to investigate.

Our investigation of the wholesale fruit market turns up a few lingering cantaloupes, but the supply is almost gone. Honeydews from California and Colorado will stick around several more weeks. Texas grapefruit may seem a little high, but it is quite reasonable for this season. Oranges and pears are a little higher. Concord and Tokay grapes remain fairly steady in price and apples again are an excellent fruit buy—Greenings for sauce and pie, Delicious, Golden Delicious, Jonathans, and McIntoshes for eating out of hand.

Best Vegetable Buys.

Best vegetable buys of the week-end are green beans, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, spinach and acorn and Hubbard squash. Sweet potatoes are lower than they've been in several years. All potatoes are cheaper. There is a good supply of tomatoes on the wholesale market, so bargains should be obtainable.

Peas are a little higher, as are cucumbers. Celery is moderate in price and celery cabbage is reasonable. Lettuce is of better quality than it has been, and is somewhat lower in cost.

There are pumpkins for pies and parties, and they may be purchased without straining the pocketbook.

Asparagus on Counters.

Some of the stores are featuring California asparagus, which is not cheap, but neither is it expensive when you consider that it's out of season. Avocadoes, pomegranates, artichokes, quinces, endive, okra, lima beans, plum tomatoes and fresh dates will be found in adequate supplies in many stores.

There are bargains in canned goods, packaged cookies, pancake flours and other flours, lard and vegetable shortenings, cheese, coffee, tea, dried beans and rice, peanut butter, crackers, marshmallows, and mincemeat and pumpkin for autumn piemaking.

HOT GREENS SALAD WITH A ROQUEFORT DRESSING IS TASTY

HOT GREENS SALAD WITH ROQUEFORT DRESSING
[Serves Four to Six]
4 cups cooked spinach, dandelion greens, chard, or other greens
¼ cup olive oil or salad oil
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon sugar
1 tablespoon minced onion
½ cup mashed Roquefort cheese

Cook the greens until tender, place them immediately in a hot serving dish, and pour over them the dressing made by beating the other ingredients together. Serve at once.

CRACKLING BREAD MADE WITHOUT PIONEER'S TOUCH

When grandma used to make old-fashioned crackling bread she had to "render out" the lard before proceeding with her baking task. Her modern granddaughter, however, has discovered a new and easier way to make this tasty bread, using bits of bacon instead of crackling, and a little bran to give it that nut-like flavor.

BRAN CRACKLING BREAD.
[9x9x2-inch pan.]
1½ cups milk
1 cup whole bran
¾ cup sifted flour
3¼ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup cornmeal
½ cup chopped cooked bacon
2 eggs, well beaten
2 teaspoons bacon drippings
2 tablespoons melted butter

Pour milk over bran and let stand 5 minutes. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again; add corn meal and bacon. Add eggs, bacon drippings, and butter to bran; then add flour mixture and beat well. Bake in greased pan in hot oven [425 degrees] for 40 minutes, or until done.

EGG, CHEESE, AND RICE CASSEROLE PROVIDES A MEAL IN ONE DISH

Here's a meal-in-one dish casserole, if ever there was one. It's well balanced nutritionally and a good flavor combination. Sliced ripe olives—use the chopped canned ones to save time—give the dish extra zip.

EGG, CHEESE, AND RICE CASSEROLE.
[Serves 6]
6 hard cooked eggs
2 cups hot medium thick white sauce
2 cups cooked rice
¾ cup chopped American cheese
¾ cup chopped or sliced ripe olives
Salt and pepper to taste

Cut eggs in halves lengthwise. Combine white sauce, rice, ½ cup cheese, and the ripe olives. Pour half this mixture into a buttered baking dish, cover with eggs, and sprinkle with salt and pepper; add remaining white sauce and sprinkle with reserved ¼ cup cheese. Bake in a moderate [350 degrees] oven until cheese is melted [about 20 or 30 minutes].

Tasty Molds Transform Yesterday's Roast Pork

Yesterday's pork roast makes a welcome reappearance when it's transformed into these tasty molds. Serve the timbales on tart apple slices which have been lightly browned in butter, and garnish with sprigs of parsley.

SAVORY PORK TIMBALES.
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon butter
3 cups ground cooked pork
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
⅛ teaspoon sage
1 cup milk

Sauté onion in butter and combine with remaining ingredients. Bake in greased custard cups in hot oven [425 degrees] for 30 minutes. Unmold and serve with thick slices of apples browned in butter.

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

Ever so often we come across women who say all this fashion emphasis on lipstick shades is so much nonsense as far as they're concerned. They'd love to switch lipsticks every other day—and they'd have to do it almost that often if they tried to keep up with EVERYTHING—but what they are looking for is a wearable shade of red, a creamy texture that's kind and flattering to the lip skin and a price that's definitely low!

We know the answer to that one, too. The college girls go for it, and they're good beauty shoppers. It's one of the most inexpensive lipsticks you can find—and you can find it just about everywhere—and when it comes to texture and lasting qualities and fidelity of color, it would be awfully hard to beat. It's the bargain hunter's special.

In this stick there aren't a raft of trick shades, or at least the makers don't change shades so often that it's hard to find a little number you may have become attached to a year or more ago. This fall, for example, where some manufacturers brought out anywhere from one to six new shades, they brought out one, called it "red red" and gave it to the feminine world. And from all reports the feminine world likes it immensely.

We can't blame them. There's nothing trying or freakish about the shade. It's beautifully wearable for almost all types—a good, rich, lively red that you can wear with almost anything. This stick gets a strong vote, too, on its lasting qualities. It stays on well; if you apply it properly [press it in], you'll find that it sticks with you thru thick and thin—and even a couple of meals!

The texture is extremely good. It's not too creamy. Neither is it at all dry or pebbly. And it's very cheap!

New Symphony Acclaimed at First Playing

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Darius Milhaud, one of the most important of living French composers and an ex-member of the famous group known as "Les Six," directed the Chicago Symphony orchestra in Orchestra hall last night in a first performance of his new symphony. The work is dedicated to the resident orchestra, and is the first of the many commissioned compositions which are to punctuate this golden jubilee season.

Mr. Milhaud turns out to be a large, square man with a broad face and an impassive look. He dealt with the orchestra in an attractively matter of fact manner, showing not the slightest suggestion of temperament from first to last. Efficiently he put his new work before the audience and seemed content to let it speak its own piece.

That it did very exhilaratingly. The symphony is bold, free, packed with idea. Its workmanship is marked by competence and restraint. Surfaces are extremely attractive, with simple, staple color schemes predominating and with no hint—even when the colors are not exactly staple ones—of preciousness or of subtlety for its own sake.

Among the symphony's more arresting features are the shouts of the brasses in unashamed consecutive fifths at the beginning of the last movement, the fervent, deeply subjective quality which the third movement achieves thru the skilful integration of its numerous out of focus little motifs, the rough, infectious character of those dissonant, alarmingly chromatic themes of the second, and the spicy quality which enlists a listener's attention at the announcement of the first movement's very first theme.

In general the work shows that feeling for good theater which one would expect of a man of Milhaud's background. It puts forth its ideas vividly and simply, it deals in strong contrasts, its climaxes are cunningly handled.

Very loud and long continued applause followed the symphony, and its composer was called back to the stage several times.

Frederick Stock and the orchestra surrounded the new symphony with an all-French program of Berlioz, Fauré, Debussy, and Ravel. A high point of the evening was the suite from the second named composer's "Pelléas et Mélisande." This gloriously mystical music—quiet and remote, yet possessed of a golden medieval quality of its own—was played in a manner which did justice to its rare and subtle beauties.

Your Stars Today

By WYNN

Friday, Oct. 18.

Today's start may appear a bit glum, but reserve decisions, and don't let a slow start color the whole day. Afternoon and evening are full of new and good things [among others not so good, however]; so use discrimination and move forward.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead from today, your birthday, brings changes in emotional relations and attitudes; past things demand clearing up, secrets must be worked out; then more happiness. Think, try. Danger: Oct. 29-Nov. 17; March 18-26.

Tomorrow.

Get things done; test theories you are sure are sound.

Do you want an individual interpretation for your own personal date? Send 10c for your 1941 horoscope (or 5c for balance of 1940 horoscope—15c for both) to WYNN, Tribune Astrologer, 286 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, date of birth, and address.

Press Women's Meeting.

Important for a First-Born to Feel Secure

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The new baby may be a delight to every one's heart, even including the little sister or brother who already is on the scene, but at the same time the baby is a joy to his big brother or sister, he may also be a "headache." For it is possible for "Sister" to dearly love "her baby," it is possible for "Brother" to enjoy the baby boy and play with him and be tender with him, and still possible for either first born to feel, deep down, a little bit set aside. It is in a way a separate emotion, one which may never show itself in dislike of the baby. Nevertheless, if there are signs that it exists, they should be heeded.

After all, a child only gauges the love felt for him and his importance to his parents by the signs he sees. If mother has little time for him and plenty for the baby, if certain little ways and customs that he has enjoyed "go by the board," he can't understand without having it all explained.

But he needs more than the explanations, especially if he's little. He needs once more some of the special things he enjoyed based on his parents' love and time for him, such as being read to at bedtime, or taking small trips, or even such a seemingly unimportant thing as just being listened to and answered when he talks. Or he may need compensations of another sort to make him feel as important as he was. That some of these measures may include his being taken into mother's confidence and companionship in protecting and doing little things for the baby should not be overlooked.

All this not only contributes to the first child's happiness, but secures in him an unmixed love and loyalty toward the baby.

Art Collection Given to National Gallery by Widener Family

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 17 (AP).—The multimillionaire Widener family announced today the gift of their art collection to the national gallery at Washington as "another evidence that democracy in its fullest scope is working to preserve the fine arts and culture."

The collection has been valued unofficially at between $12,000,000 and $50,000,000.

Some of the masterpieces among more than 100 famous paintings will be placed in the gallery when it opens next spring. Others will be transferred there after the death of Joseph E. Widener, 68 year old sportsman and art connoisseur.

Rehearsals Are Started by New Polish Ballet

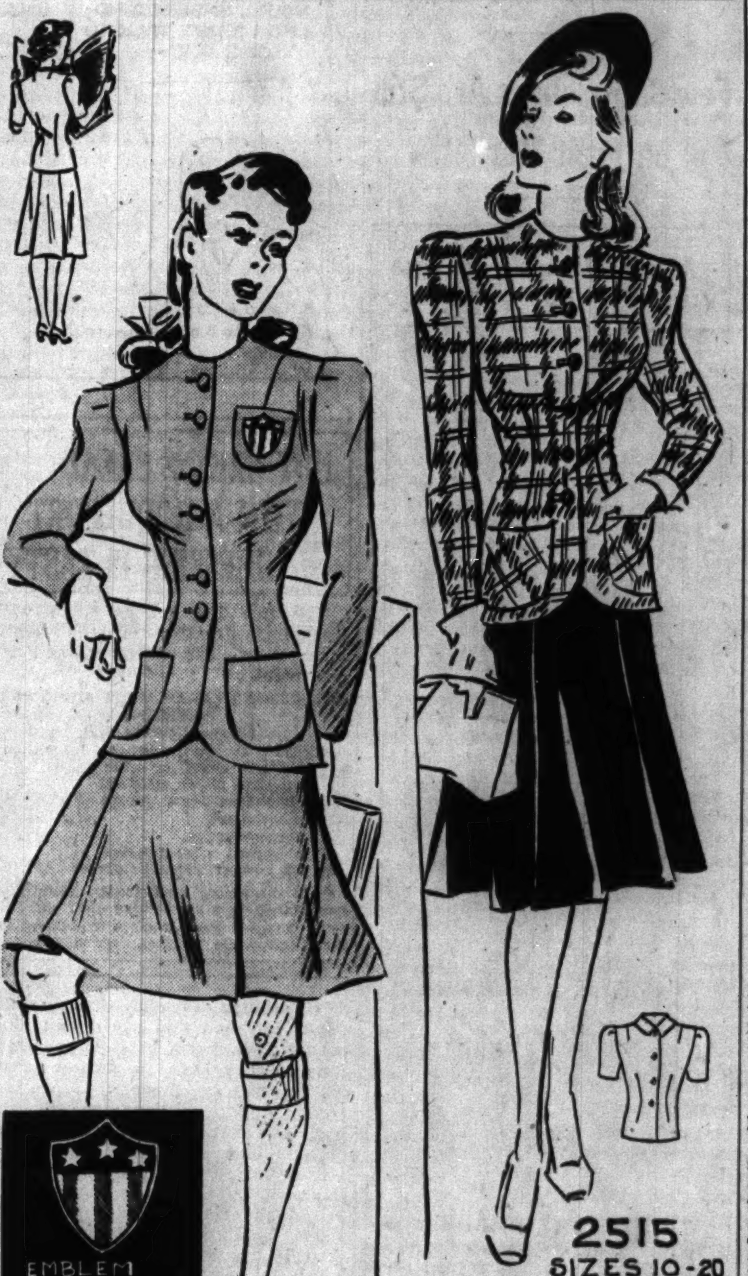
The Polish ballet, recently organized under direction of Felix Sadowski, former ballet master of the Warsaw Opera company, rehearsed last night in the Civic Opera house in preparation for its American première there Saturday evening. Sadowski, Tosia Nowicka and Janina Frostowna are the company's principal dancers. Miss Nowicka fled from Warsaw after its occupation by the Nazis. The company will dance to the music of Polish composers and will wear Polish costumes.

A Youthful Autumn Suit



SUIT IN MISS' SIZES.

The stamp of youth is upon this autumn suit, to be made with either regulation length skirt or the shorter model for sports, both active and spectator. Notice that the snugly fitted jacket is long length, and that the pockets are larger than ordinarily. The only trimming is a patriotic emblem, the pattern for which is included at no extra cost. All types of woolens may be used, and the jacket and skirt may match or contrast.

Style No. 2515 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 54 inch material for suit, or 1⅞ yards of 54 inch for skirt and 1¾ yards for jacket.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Oct. 18, 1940.

Universal day—Express love today by doing something for some one else even if it means sacrifice on your part.

Working With Numbers—Some of the readers have asked me how they should work with their numbers. This means that if you know that you are a five year, for instance, and you yourself have a five birthday [5th, 14th, or 23d], then either don't make plans at all, or make them so tentative and yourself so adaptable that you won't be disturbed or thrown off balance when everything shifts and changes around you constantly all year. Your chart will show you that an upsetting, changing year is in store, and knowing that, you aren't going to make things difficult by being "set" in your ideas and plans.

Year ahead—Begin to draw in from the public eye now for you have a rather difficult year ahead. It can be very constructive if you study, work out a hobby, or examine your philosophy of life.

Singing Better than Acting in "Cavalleria"

The San Carlo Opera company turned in a good performance of "Cavalleria Rusticana" last night at the Auditorium theater. If the acting of the principals had only been as good as their singing it would have ranked as one of the best Chicago has seen in a long time.

Fresh from an engagement in Buenos Aires, Norina Greco made her first appearance this fall in the rôle of Santuzza. Never an ideal part for her, it nevertheless revealed her as a more mature and better singer than before. In the upper register the voice rang out effortlessly and beautifully with only an occasional creeping in of the edge that sometimes mars the tone. Miss Greco has always had an innate feeling for the onward sweep of Italian operatic melodies, but she has learned to adorn the arias with expressive varieties of tone that enrich her musical performance.

Opposite her Sydney Rayner presented a vocally gratifying Turiddu. It's been a long time since either at the Auditorium or the Civic Opera house the off stage serenade has been sung on pitch. Such a task was easy for Mr. Rayner, and his secure vocal production stayed by him all evening. Stylistically his arias had considerable bite and gusto, and his duets with Miss Greco rose to splendid climaxes.

Charlotte Bruno's Lola and Stefan Kozakevich's Alfio were also well sung, but like Miss Greco and Mr. Rayner neither possesses much acting ability. Flora Shennan, in execrable makeup as Mamma Lucia, completed the cast.

"Cavalleria" was followed by its usual buddy, "Pagliacci." Having heard only 15 minutes of it, I can only report that it started off with considerable spirit, both in the direction of Carlo Peroni and the singing of the principals, Leola Turner of Nedda, Aroldo Lindi as Canio, Mostyn Thomas as Tonio, Francesco Curci as Beppe, and Mr. Kozakevich as Silvio.

Moscona in Recital

Nicola Moscona, bass of the Metropolitan Opera company, appeared in a song recital at the Civic theater last evening. His program included arias by Handel, Beethoven, Gomes, and Verdi; Stephen Foster's "Old Folks at Home"; and two groups of modern Greek songs. Euthalia Broolis, pianist, accompanied Mr. Moscona and played two short groups of solos.

The natural quality of Mr. Moscona's voice is exceptionally beautiful, especially in the mellow warmth of the middle register and the sturdy amplitude of the lower reaches. The upper portion of the voice takes on something of a baritone timbre, capable of excellent volume and impact, albeit a little dry in sound. It is one of the major bass voices now to be heard in this country.

Mr. Moscona has developed excellent technical command in every way, and makes frequent use of a particularly attractive pianissimo. Indeed, the flexibility and responsiveness of his voice had a tendency at times to lead him astray interpretatively, as tho he enjoyed doing things with his voice whether the music itself gave him any justification or not.

Women World Wide
by Ruth DeYoung Kohler

NO group of citizens will give more patriotic service in behalf of the national defense during the months—and perhaps the years to come—than the Red Cross nurses now being called up to minister to America's expanding army.

They may not turn out to be Florence Nightingales. But they are women of training and character, unselfish and deeply human in their sympathies, as necessary to the country's military forces as a professor is to a schoolroom.

The first call is for 4,000. This will in no way exhaust the register of the American Red Cross Nursing service, for it totals 42,000 graduate nurses.

Nevertheless, as the Illinois State Nurses' association is stressing at its annual meeting this week-end in Chicago, every graduate registered nurse who qualifies for the Red Cross service is urged to "enroll now to be a first reserve instead of a last resort."

At the helm of the Red Cross Nursing service is a woman whose name looms large in the nursing profession in the United States. She is Mary Beard, not to be confused with Mary Beard, the historian.

Miss Beard has held this post since 1938, when she resigned as associate director of the international health division of the Rockefeller Foundation. For the foundation she made numerous health studies in this country and abroad, wrote several books on nursing education and practices. During the world war, as head of the national organization for public health nursing, she had the job of maintaining civilian nursing standards at a time when many nurses were with the armies.

THAT civilian standards in nursing may be maintained thru this present period of uncertainty, and also that the profession may serve the country in every way possible, a nursing council on national defense has been formed. At the head of this is Maj. Julia Stimson, president of the American Nurses' association and former superintendent of the Army Nurses' corps. Figuring prominently is also Mary M. Roberts, editor of that "bible" for nurses, the American Journal of Nursing.

I ALWAYS will hold women trained in healing in the highest respect, even tho I was somewhat disillusioned a few years ago. Suffering a severe illness, I was confined to a hospital for more than three weeks. It was an established conclusion that my illness would have been very much less severe had my private duty night nurse been less zealous in her desire to smoke and more diligent in her attention to the case to which she was assigned.

Scarlet red finger nails ministering to young and old was the impression of most of the nurses on my floor that I carried away. Other patients expressed the same reaction. The trained nurse I brought home with me had to be constantly followed in order to maintain any semblance of order in the household.

But since then I have had occasion to employ a nurse, a splendid woman, who has served my family with unswerving loyalty and administered the best of care. The others to the contrary, I cannot but feel that this woman, Agnes Schroeder, personifies the nursing profession today as it is carried on thru private duty and institutional work, thru public health service and nursing education, and thru the Red Cross.

WITH the opportunity for service granted now in the national defense and also in consideration of the fact that nursing remains a woman's job, the profession should be overcrowded with young applicants this year.

Only 2 per cent of the nurses in the United States are men. The remaining 98 per cent who are women—including student nurses—numbered 288,737 when the 1930 census was taken. Men nurses, both graduates and students, numbered 5,452.

That she will get a job right away. There were 20,000 openings in 1940.

That she will earn $800 to $1,500 a year to begin.

That she will travel.

That she will have one chance in a thousand to be an airplane hostess.

That she will be happy in her work.

Hiplength Fur Capes Latest Lure of Shops

BY REA SEEGER.

Capes and big bulky fur coats make shopping records the first fall days. A good snappy spell of weather will pull out smart furs better than all the carefully chosen adjectives known to the advertising wizards. Hip length capes matched with cossack turbans transform wool dresses, making them costumes of individuality and chic. Whether you want fur accent for high colors, for monotones or the gay plaids and checks, fur capes are the best answer for this problem in good fashion.

Dress parade all black dresses acquire additional swank and dash with capes of fluffy furs or the smooth affairs like sealskin, caracul or broadtail. The smartest capes swing around the hipline. Shorter models, ideal for shorter figures, clear the waistline. Shoulders on nearly every model are smoothed in a dolman outline.

Hats to match, featuring the face framing models, use matara brown sealskin as smoothly as tho it were satin or velour.

Bulky swagger coats come in stunning dark gray opossum skins, in sable dyed skunk, muskrat, civet cat, beaver, nutria, and pitch black sealskin. A brand new length that reaches the kneeline makes them practical, warm for the coldest weather and yet short enough to keep the flair of smart slenderness.

Even the sports outfits for football games sport capes. Smartest and coziest of these are the "teddy bear" cloth capes lined with gay green, or vivid red wool with or without hoods.

Fashion photograph . . . new padded and quilted house coat uses luscious soft velvet to contrast a gay flowered silk inner lining. Long sleeves, wide revers and a tie belt to accent the wide swirl of the long skirt all combine to make this particular garment smart and cozy for the chilliest morning.

The men's glee club of the university will sing.

A Striking House Robe

Free Concert Draws 10,000 to Stadium

Musical history was made in the Chicago Stadium last night when 10,000 persons gathered under one roof to hear classical music.

The music, moreover, was free. It was sponsored by the Chicago Committee for Music Appreciation on the theory that music, if it is to be great, must not only come from the heart of a people, but must be heard by all the people.

Into the vast Stadium then, to hear the golden notes of Grace Moore, to soar with the music of Wagner, Enesco, Liadow, and Tschaikowsky as interpreted by the Chicago Opera orchestra under the baton of Henry Weber, and to see Irving Berlin honored for his contributions to popular American music, trooped music lovers from all walks of life. They came and applauded for five minute stretches.

Miss Moore, radiant in a flowing gown of electric blue and powder blue, with a cluster of blue flowers nestled in the back of her blonde hair, drew applause that almost pulled the steel girders from the roof. Again and again she returned to smile, try to withdraw and then give another encore.

Mr. Berlin, wiry, dark haired, and mobbed by autograph seekers, was there to receive a plaque. Lawrence W. Scudder, presenting it on behalf of the music appreciation committee, of which he is Chicago chairman, referred to Berlin as the man who, "more than any one living and more than many who have gone to the past, helped music become a national pastime, an expression of the deepest patriotic feeling."

The composer, in turn, told the audience that Chicago was the first to applaud his first song hit, "Alexander's Ragtime Band," which was introduced here by the late Emma Carus in 1911. As for "God Bless America," which a chorus of 1,000 school children sang in conclusion of the program, he said he is "still a little bewildered about it."

Mary Wyman's Debut Party to Be Nov. 15

BY JUDITH CASS.

FRIDAY, Nov. 15, is the date decided upon by Mrs. William Kennard Kenly for the debut tea of her granddaughter, Miss Mary Ann Wyman. The party will be given at the Fortnightly. Earlier Mrs. Kenly had thought of a Thanksgiving tea at which to present her granddaughter, the only child of the late Rebecca McDoel Hickman Wyman and Walter Frothingham Wyman of New York, but she has decided to give the party earlier.

Miss Wyman is a student at Smith college this winter. When she is at home for the Christmas holidays her grandmother will give a supper-dance at the Casino for her. After the tea on Nov. 15 Mrs. Kenly will take the bud and her assistants and their beaux for dinner and dancing at the Camellia house in the Drake.

Mr. and Mrs. James Norris have decided to give a supper-dance instead of a dinner-dance at which to present their daughter, Eleanor, on Christmas night. The party is scheduled for the Racquet club. Mrs. Norris is departing today for a brief stay in the east, where Miss Norris is studying art and science at Cornell university.

Luncheon to Be Given Dec. 26 for Debutante Peggy Boyd.

Mrs. William B. Albright and Mrs. Norman J. Albright will give a luncheon at the Arts club on Thursday, Dec. 26, for debutante Peggy Boyd, daughter of the T. Kenneth Boyds of Winnetka. Mrs. William Albright is the bud's grandmother and Mrs. Norman Albright her aunt.

Miss Boyd, who is a freshman at Wellesley college, will make her debut at a tea dance at the Indian Hill club on Tuesday, Dec. 24. She and Miss Gertrude Scribner, who goes to Pine Manor, will be introduced jointly.

Darius Milhaud, who came from Mills college in California to conduct the Chicago Symphony orchestra in his "Symphonie," written especially for the orchestra's golden jubilee, is speaking at 11 o'clock this morning at the Arts club on "Modern French Music." Among those who have made reservations for the lecture and luncheon are Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. William B. Hale, Mrs. Arthur Bissell, Mrs. Jefferson Jackson, Mrs. Moise Dreyfus, and Mrs. Edward A. Leight.

Only One New Name Among Passavant Aid Officers.

There is only one new name in the list of officers of the Woman's Aid society of the Passavant Memorial hospital, that of Mrs. Edward Byron Smith, who is to be the assistant recording secretary. All of the other officers were reëlected at the annual meeting yesterday. Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman is the honorary president, Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, president; Mrs. James R. Offield and Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm, first and second vice presidents, respectively; Mrs. Byran Reid, recording secretary; Mrs. Alden B. Swift, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Gardiner Van Ness, treasurer, and Mrs. Frank Sims, assistant treasurer. The board is giving its annual benefit on Nov. 21 at the Civic Opera house when "Salome" will be the attraction.

Pacific Coast Weddings of Interest in Chicago.

From the west coast come several bits of romantic news of interest in Chicago. The A. Howard Richardsons' nephew, Robert C. Lyon, son of Mrs. Adelene Lyon and the late John Kellogg Lyon of South Pasadena, formerly of Chicago, is to be married on Oct. 30 to Miss Florence Stringfellow, daughter of the William Boothby Stringfellows of Sierra Madre, Cal. The ceremony will take place at the Stringfellow ranch at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Lyon, a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R.

Milhaud Speaks.

The invitation given Darius Milhaud, famous French composer, last year in Paris by Dr. Frederick Stock to write a symphony for the Chicago Symphony orchestra's jubilee year turned a great genius back to creative work. So says Milhaud, in Chicago to conduct his symphony last night and this afternoon. Dr. Stock's commission, given in July, 1939, helped him put aside his despair over events of the war.

"I could write nothing; I could think of nothing in the midst of the terrible happenings," said the 48 year old French composer. "But I realized I must not fail to pay my tribute to the fine Chicago orchestra and to do my best. This determination brought me back to my work and I found myself again thru it."

Sophisticated Students.

The teacher in a Chicago high school was explaining the different kinds of comedy to a high school dramatic class. "There are three kinds of comedy," she said. "The first is high comedy, which has a plot running thru it and usually has a happy ending. The second is farce, which is hilariously funny and has no definite plot. The third is burlesque, which is a take-off."

Beginner.

The story of the beginner's description of how to write the new word he had learned brought in a tale from Mrs. James Mason about her son who entered the first grade this autumn. The little boy explained how he writes the word "see": "First I make a little snake, then the two sleepy eyes."

SYNOPSIS.

Rowan Wilde, an American girl, goes to the isolated cottage of Hazel Fordyce in England, to do some studying. Arriving at night, she begins investigating the house and when she opens a closet door, a dead man falls out. As she rushes from the cottage, she runs into 32 year old Stephen Smedley, who because of ill health, has left his publishing business in the city and come to the country for a rest. He is living alone in an old chapel near the Fordyce cottage. Rowan at first suspects Stephen as the murderer, when he fails to return after telling her he will go for help. Later she finds him prostrate on the ground and helps him into the house where he collapses on the sofa. Rowan leaves him and goes to her bedroom for a nap, but is awakened by Stephen entering her room holding a large knife. A sharp command from Rowan makes him drop the knife and retreat. The next morning he seems to remember nothing of the knife incident and they find the body has disappeared. Mrs. Yalilee, mother of Egbert the caretaker, arrives to get Rowan's breakfast and later the Rev. Bogge and Lord Romrytch, neighbors, call saying they are trying to find the vicar's brother, Bertram, who was allowed to study in the Fordyce cottage. Stephen advises Rowan not to mention finding the body, as its disappearance might get them both into trouble. Romrytch invites Rowan, Stephen, and the vicar to lunch and a searching party is made up later to find Bertram. Rowan learns that Bertram has a bad reputation; that he was known to forge notes and that he had assaulted the vicar's maid, who was Egbert's fiance. Romrytch tells Rowan that he thinks Bertram was insane as he claimed to know Hitler, Mussolini and many internationally known persons. Stephen admits to Rowan that he had met Bertram in a bar and that Bertram had written a book which he was trying to get Stephen to publish. Rowan has found the manuscript with other documents in Stephen's brief case and has hidden it unbeknown to Stephen. Rowan invites Stephen to dinner, planning to return his brief case, but she opens a cupboard door and the corpse falls out. She faints and when she recovers, Stephen is standing over her and the corpse has disappeared again. This time they notify the police. In the middle of the night Rowan hears her own typewriter going downstairs and later notes are pushed under her door, demanding the brief case under penalty of death. She escapes thru the window and flees to Stephen's chapel. He is not there, but arrives later. The following morning they arrive at the cottage and find Rowan's bedroom door locked.

INSTALMENT XXIX.
BODY RECOVERED.

O, why had she said that? Rowan was floundering in a bog. Stephen's gaze was darkening. In another moment he'd have it all out of her, all about the carving knife and—

"Look!" she cried. "Here's Mrs. Yalilee and a gardener. They're joining those men. Why has the gardener got a rope? O, hurry, let's see!"

A car was stopping in the road below. A second pair of figures made their appearance round intervening shrubbery—the Rev. Cyprian Bogge and a lumbering man in gray flannels whom Rowan recognized as Lord Romrytch's secretary, Mr. Forbes. The newcomers reached the path, making for the end of the garden.

"There's no corpse in this garden. If there had been I'd have seen it."

The vicar, leading the way along the flags, was trampling the trailing tulips under his large, well shod feet. The secretary hesitated, as if reluctant to follow. His larger, pulpier person seemed to shrink, and when his glasses toppled off Rowan had to fall back to let him retrieve them.

There was not room on the small platform for all those assembled. The cluster it was now seen consisted of Inspector Moody, a second sergeant and Constable Potter, supplemented by two gardeners, one old, one young, and by Sarah Yalilee.

"O, so you've got here, Mr. Bogge!" the inspector accorded him a nod. "Millstone or not, sir, Potter says it was put here to seal up an old well, and you can see for yourself it's been recently dislodged. Now, where's that crowbar? The stoutest of you lads had better lend us a hand."

The young gardener sidled up, spat on his palms, and gripping the crowbar gave a wrench. The stone lid lifted, but fell back. Declining assistance the leverer bore down again till his veins stood out, hoisting to the limit of his powers. With a deep toned clatter the millstone jammed down on the surrounding pavement, revealing a black cavern.

"Stand back, please!" ordered the inspector as those below made a forward surge. "I'll just have a look."

"Well done, young Alf," chuckled the elder gardener. "'Taint only Eg wot can 'andle weights, eh lad?"

"Vicar didn't do so bad at that there hammer," muttered young Alf, glancing slyly at the Rev. Cyprian. "A-watching him, I was, over at Lydport.

Mr. Bogge, disregarded this, seemed to find his collar a constriction. "Empty, of course?" he snapped.

"No, sir, I think not. Got the grappling irons attached, sergeant? Then let them down."

Fishing, thought Rowan as with suspended breath she watched the thick rope pay out from the coil. Down, down it slid, to what must be the bottom of the hill—and still it had farther to go. A mouldy smell gushed forth, staling the sweet air. Far in the bowels of the earth the iron hooks clanked against the masonry of the well. Something jarred her arm. It was Sarah Yalilee, trembling.

"That's got it." The inspector peered down the hole. "Now lift!"

It was a straining job, evidently. During a long interval of thudding bumps the ring of faces registered acute tension, a climax reached when the irons at last appeared. Their tentacles burrowed into an object so bulky there was difficulty in steering it thru the opening, and just in time to save the prize from falling two pairs of hands fastened a grip. Back staggered the inspector, dragging with him a ponderous cylinder swathed in maroon velvet. It was spiraled tightly with cord, and to it clung dried grasses, tufts of dank mould and small creeping life.

"Now for the identification." The inspector cut the upper strands of cord with his knife, peeled off the damp cerements and grunted. "Yes. Not much doubt as to how this poor gentleman met his end. Mr. Bogge, I'm afraid I shall have to ask you to perform a most unpleasant duty. Can you manage a look?"

The vicar had already mounted the platform, presenting his broad back and bull neck to the circle below.

"It—it is certainly my brother," he said in a choked voice. Getting control he added in an undertone almost hectoring, "Inspector kindly undo the wrappings. If this should be suicide we may find some message in a pocket."

"Suicide, sir?" Dumfounded, the inspector scratched his chin. "O, I see! You think the person who found the body. . . . Not very reasonable, I'd say, but. . . . Had you cause to think your brother might take his own life?"

"He—he was very erratic. I should like to determine—"

"Here, sir, don't disturb those cords, if you please! All that will be done properly and in order. You'll receive a full report when. . . . Hold hard, what's happening down there?"

Without the least warning Lord Romrytch's secretary had keeled over among the peonies.

It was Rowan who raced for brandy, her gray slacks flapping in the breeze. She got back to find Mr. Forbes being unpleasantly sick, while the vicar, callously ignoring the incident, still hovered close to his dead brother. Brandy was offered him. He jerked it rudely away.

"Now, now, Mr. Bogge," soothed the inspector, "my advice to you is to get along home where we can telephone you. Just as soon as——" At sound of a long, sibilant whistle he wheeled. "O!" His tone subtly altered. "Am I addressing Lord Romrytch?"

No one had noticed the arrival to another car, and awareness of the small figure in plus fours brought a sudden awed hush. Red eared, a little rasped from too arduous shaving, Lord Romrytch let his keen eyes take in the scene.

"My word! You don't mean that's——?"

"The missing man, your lordship. Throat cut, remains, as you see, dumped down this dry well."

"Whew!" Lord Romrytch eyed the cavity, the ponderous stone that had sealed it, last the lumpy parcel propped stiffly against the bench. With veiled shrewdness he let his gaze flicker toward Cyprian Bogge. "Any notion when it was done?"

"Not the death, your lordship. It seems reasonable to assume the body was transferred to the well."

Inspector Moody explained.

"Good God!" Lord Romrytch spun round on Rowan. "Fell on you, did it? Out of what? O, a cupboard! I see."

Rowan knew what he meant. He had predicted mischief for her, told her straight out how unwise it was to stay here without a companion. Realizing perhaps that expansiveness just now might be a mistake, he shut up like a clam, cast another bird-like glance round and discovered his secretary furtively attempting to rise.

"Forbes! What the devil are you up to?"

"Don't you recall sir? You—you suggested my driving to the vicarage to inquire, and——"

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 17.—Not since the "Gone With the Wind" stuff in Atlanta has there been a movie opening like tonight's Carthay circle debut of Alexander Korda's "The Thief of Bagdad."

Celebs, eager to turn out in some new jewels and clothes after a summer of roughing it in slacks and last year's diamonds, will be the proverbial and uncannily accurate dime a dozen. Mr. Korda's Mr. Birdwell says he is spending $25,000 of Mr. Korda's money just for tonight's ballyhoo. Discount that for cash and it's still a lot of money. Tickets, at $5 a copy, will bring $3,000 to the British-American ambulance corps and $3,000 to the motion picture relief fund. An estimated take of $3,000 for souvenir programs will also go to the corps. This will make enough to buy four ambulances.

Here are some of the expense items: Foot police, to handle a crowd of 25,000 onlookers, $400. Mounted cops, $100. [This town isn't like New York, where the regular police force is capable of handling anything, for free. Studios always have to have their own police.] A "magic carpet," extending from Wilshire boulevard to the theater, four blocks long, and some archways and Bagdad stage sets, $4,500. Bleachers, where several thousand onlookers can goggle in comfort, $660. Flowers for the lobby, $128. The usual floodlights, $1,500.

Bill Liebling has sold Gilbert Miller a play by Ernest Pascal titled "Peep Show." . . . Earl Carroll is putting a Wall of Fame in his night club, with celebs signing their names in new cement. . . . Veteran Jesse Lasky became a legit producer by putting up the money for a comedy about a movie studio, "Quiet, Please." Unveiled Tuesday at the Biltmore and slated to move to New York in three weeks, it's an unusual Hollywood comedy in that it isn't a burlesque. Authors F. Hugh Herbert and Hans Kraly have written about believable people, and it should shake down into something fairly amusing. Jane Wyatt plays a star who is so in love with her tomcat husband that, to pay him back, she has an adventure with an automobile service station boy. The lad who plays this rôle is a find—Gordon Jones, former University of California footballer who has been kicking around in picture bits. Morning after the opening his agent got three bids from studios.

No matter what's doing, Clark Gable has to open the duck-hunting season—so at dawn yesterday he was in a blind at Point Magu, and worked at night on "Comrade X" to make up for it. He was afraid his screwball wife, Miss Lombard, might ruin his day by removing half the powder from his shotgun shells, so he bought ten new boxes and hid them in his car. . . . Miss Lombard's latest prank, by the way, fizzled. She got word that Basil Rathbone was bringing the British minister to Bolivia for a visit on the "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" set. Knowing that Rathbone is a habitual hand-kisser, she deployed the studio crew to find something that smelled awful bad. A still fotog turned up a loathsome concoction from his darkroom and she put it on the back of her hand. Basil arrived—and for the first time in years failed to kiss a lady's hand. He just gave her the usual actor's greeting—a hug and a "Darling!" . . . An early riser these days is James Stewart, who's at a valley airport every 8 a. m. building up flying time to get a transport license. . . . The Tony Martin-Lana Turner thing looks pretty good, and everything will be more convenient when they begin work together in "Ziegfeld Girl." . . . The Metro lot is awash with beauties, with Pop Leonard looking for twelve new faces—that's what he says, faces—for the "Ziegfeld Girl" chorus. They have to be husky babes, because they'll be carrying heavy costumes up and down the usual staircases.

Miss Mary Hill, M. L. Rockwell Are Married

Miss Mary Hill, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Giles Hill, became the bride of Matthew Laflin Rockwell yesterday afternoon in a service read by the Rev. Dudley Stark in the chapel of St. Chrysostom's church. Only relatives and a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony but a larger group attended the reception at the Casino. The bride, always called Molly, was lovely in a moyenage gown of white brocade and taffeta, and a short tulle veil. She had no train and her veil was held to her head simply in a cap effect formed by orange blossoms. Her lovely bouquet was of lilies of the valley bordered with petals of Easter lilies.

Miss Diana Hill, her sister's only attendant, wore a gown of light copper velveteen, made much like the bride's, and a tiny hat of tulle and feathers in the same rich color. Her flowers were bronze pompons in a loose, round arrangement. Benjamin Weisbach was his half-brother's best man.

Mr. Rockwell, son of Mrs. Harry Weisbach and of Lawrence D. Rockwell, is a grandson of the late Elisha P. Whitehead and a great-grandson of Matthew Laflin, well known early Chicagoan.

Mr. and Mrs. Rockwell will go to Bermuda and then will be for three months in Providence, R. I.

Miss Adelle Shaw and Robert White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. White, will be married at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Florence Shaw of 5853 Winthrop avenue. Miss Shaw was graduated from Roycemore school and the University of Illinois and studied in Paris for four years. She is a member of the Jeunes of the Alliance Francaise and is a fourth generation member of the Chicago chapter of the D. A. R. Her fiancé was graduated from the Campion Military school.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Schmidt of 6145 North Fairchild avenue announce the marriage on July 27 of their daughter, Lotus Gwendolyn, to Donald M. Ericson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Ericson of Evanston.

The marriage of Miss Jane Karen Austin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Austin of 801 Dobson street, to Joseph S. Peacock will take place today in the chapel of the First Methodist church of Evanston. Mr. Peacock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Peacock of 7415 Sheridan road, and his bride will be at home in Rogers Park.

Women World Wide

That she will marry.

That she will leave the service before 10 years are up or finish with an ambition to teach nursing.

ONE person who has given her life to pulling the nursing profession by its immaculate white bootstraps up to the status of a learned profession is Annie Warburton Goodrich, former dean of the Yale Medical school.

During the world war Miss Goodrich started the Vassar camp. Many then warned against taking up nursing via this route, for, they counseled, the war would probably be over before the three years' training was finished.

So it was. The war was finished just as the student nurses finished their course at Vassar camp. But Miss Goodrich, then dean of the Army School of Nurses, advised those Vassar camp girls to stand by their training, that they would probably be heading the profession in years hence. Previous to that time college girls in the profession had been rare. Of the original 500 girls in the Vassar camp one-fifth stayed on. I am told that today they hold many of the chief posts in the nursing profession thruout the United States.

Lyon of Chicago, is a graduate of the University of Southern California. His fiancée is a member of the Pasadena Junior league.

Another approaching wedding of interest in Pasadena is that of Harvey Skinner Hewitt, son of Mrs. Raymond Boileau Mixsell and grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Fletcher Skinner, formerly of Chicago, and Miss Mary Drummond Baer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Shaw Baer of South Pasadena. The ceremony will take place on Oct. 26 in the Pasadena Presbyterian church. The bride's grandfather, the late Dr. John Willis Baer, was once moderator of the Presbyterian General assembly, and a former president of Occidental college.

Another Chicagoan's Granddaughter to Wed.

From Norwalk, Conn., comes the announcement of the engagement of Miss Mary Hamilton Chandler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. E. Chandler, to Roger Fenn of Concord, Mass., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Duncan of Scarsdale, N. Y. Miss Chandler, a graduate of Wellesley college, is a granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. John F. Williams of Chicago. Her fiancé, whose parents are former Chicagoans, was graduated from Exeter academy and Harvard university.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

LAST FRIDAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 14: You are East, defending against South's four spade contract, doubled by your partner. Your hand and dummy are as follows:

NORTH [Dummy]
♠ 9 4 2
♥ J 6 5
♦ K Q 4
♣ Q J 9 4

YOU [East]
♠ 5
♥ A K 10 8 4 2
♦ A J 10
♣ 7 6 2

West opens the heart nine. [You had bid hearts.] Dummy plays low, you win with king and South drops the queen. What card do you return?

Answer: You should return the diamond jack. This establishes two diamond tricks for your side when partner gets on lead with a trump or a club. You dare not return a high heart on the mere hope that South's play of the queen was a false card. A club return, establishing dummy's club suit before you have set up two diamonds for yourself, would be very bad defense [30 points demerit for a spade, heart, or club return; 15 points demerit for diamond ten return; 50 points demerit for diamond ace return].

Question 15: Both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	1 spade	Pass	2 spades

You are South and hold:
♠ 2 ♥ A K 10 7 ♦ A Q 10 4 ♣ K Q 10 5

What call do you make?

Answer: Double. This is a take-out or informatory double, and with your great strength in three suits, is the only correct action. If North holds some strength in spades, he can make a penalty pass; otherwise, he must show his best suit. It would be foolish of you to "stab" at either diamonds or clubs in the hope of "hitting" partner's length [25 points demerit for a three diamond or three club bid; 40 points demerit for any other call, including a pass].

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 22: You are East, defending against a three no trump contract. [Your side did not bid]. Your partner leads the diamond ace. Dummy comes down with the 6-3 of diamonds; you hold the J-8-2. What card do you play, and why?

Today's Hand

Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♥ A 6 5
♦ A K 10 4 2

WEST
♠ J 9 8 5 3
♥ 8 7 4
♦ 9 5
♣ 8 7 2

EAST
♥ Q J 2
♦ Q 8 3

SOUTH
♠ 10 6 4
♥ K 10 9 3
♣ K Q 4

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the five of spades, dummy played low, and East's queen won the trick. Delighted that the ace was now blank in dummy to permit the establishment of his king, East returned the deuce of spades! The diamonds were cleared and East, on lead with the queen, now cashed his precious spade king. After that, he looked around for more tricks, but couldn't find a single one. The contract was fulfilled with an extra trick.

The most superficial thinking on East's part would have saved the game. It should have been obvious that one spade trick more or less was of no consequence. The important point was that unless West had at least a five card suit to the jack, defense was hopeless. The diamond suit obviously would be established with the loss of only one trick and dummy's clubs suggested two or three tricks in that suit.

The unblock of the spade suit should have been the only consideration in East's mind, but he hated to smother his own king.

Appeals to Be Made Sunday in Churches for Community Fund

Pulpits thruout the city on Sunday will appeal on behalf of the Community fund. Headed by the campaign chairman, Merle J. Trees, concerted petition will be voiced in churches of all denominations. In the synagogues the appeal will be voiced tomorrow.

The goal this year is fixed at $3,604,000 to meet the needs of Chicago's 185 social and welfare agencies—Catholic, Protestant, Jewish, and nonsectarian.

George A. Ranney, president of the Community fund, states that the total budgets of the charitable agencies which will benefit from the fund are approximately $17,500,000. Of this amount $9,000,000 is received from earnings and endowments, and about $4,896,000 from contributions.

SOPER'S RETURN BOLSTERS N.U. FOR BADGERS

MICHIGAN SEES TROUBLE AHEAD WITH ILLINOIS

Rates Illini Stronger than 1939 Victors.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 17.—There is a time worn admonition in football that a team can't score until it gets the ball. While this isn't technically true, if you consider the lowly safety, this adage does point the way to defeat for Michigan Saturday afternoon when the Illini come to town.

With Tom Harmon, the highly regarded ball carrying genius, playing safety against Illinois' attack, the burden of taking the ball away from the Illini falls on his mates and principally on the linemen. Harmon, or another back, may intercept an Illinois forward pass, but otherwise the boys in the front line defense will soon make a report on Illinois strength.

Illini Passes Dangerous.

At luncheon this noon with the football coaches who now have directed the Wolverines to three rousing victories in three sectors of the nation, none mentioned the score of last year's Michigan-Illinois game. In case you don't remember may we remind you that Illinois upset Michigan 16 to 7 and effectively doused the Wolverines' championship hopes?

Because mention of last year's score apparently is taboo it doesn't follow that the coaches or players have forgotten. The wish for revenge merely may be father to the thought, however, and Coach Fritz Crisler is certain that Illinois this year has more reason to expect a victory than the 1939 eleven had.

Wallie Weber, Michigan coach who watched Illinois whip Bradley and lose to Southern California, reported that against Bradley the Illini passers completed 15 throws in 28 attempts for 266 yards. In the Trojan game Illinois completed 13 passes in 25 for 137 yards.

Stronger Than Last Year.

From these facts Crisler reasons the Michigan defense will be completely occupied. To complicate the coaches' problem, Weber reports that six different backs threw the passes and that the first 11 caught went to 11 different players.

"This is like getting ready for a carnival," Crisler remarked perplexedly as he closed the book of Illinois plays.

"Illinois is at least 25 per cent stronger than last year," Crisler continued. "The line has improved a lot and Coach Bob Zuppke has more capable substitutes. When a coach can send in an entire new team as Zuppke did against Southern California it indicates he is confident of his material.

Michigan at Full Strength.

The Wolverines will be at full strength since Norm Call, right half, can be used Saturday if necessary. Dave Nelson apparently has been picked to start in this position. Joe Rogers, regular end who suffered an injured shoulder in the Harvard game, will be ready to start.

The Illinois squad will arrive tomorrow afternoon and go to the practice field. The team will stay tomorrow night in Dearborn, Mich. Zuppke, Wendell Wilson, director of athletics, and Doug Mills and Ray Elliot, assistant coaches, will represent Illinois at the 40th anniversary dinner Saturday evening to Fielding H. Yost, Michigan's director of athletics who retires this year.

Yost to Receive Parchment.

Two thousand are expected to say good-by to Yost, whose point a minute teams in the early years of this century never will be forgotten as long as football is played. Justice Frank Murphy of the Supreme court, Senator Arthur Vandenburg, Grantland Rice, and Branch Rickey, St. Louis Cardinals vice president, will speak.

Coach Zuppke will present an illuminated parchment to Yost between the halves of the game. The tribute was written by L. M. Tobin of the University of Illinois athletic publicity department and designed by Prof. Charles E. Bradbury of the Illinois art department.

ILLINI LEAVE TODAY.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 17 [Special].—With 2,000 student rooters expected at the sendoff, 35 Illinois football players will leave early tomorrow morning for Ann Arbor.

The Illini completed drills for the game today, running thru a snappy signal practice and dummy scrimmage against the freshmen. Bob Wilford, a sophomore, was placed at center. In order to give George Bernhardt and Paul Milosevich more contact work, Coach Robert Zuppke used them in the back field of his third team in a short scrimmage against the plebes. Milosevich was shifted back to left half, since neither Dick Good nor Jimmy Easterbrook, reserve left half backs, is in the best playing condition.

ENDS—O'Neill, Phillips, Marlaire, Gibbs, Engel.
TACKLES—Riggs, Wallin, Nelson, Kolens, Dillon, N. Johnson, Niedzelski.
GUARDS—Turek, Pawlowski, Machak, Hurley, Siebold, McCullough.
CENTERS—Cherry, Cheely, Wilford.
QUARTER BACKS—Ehni McCarthy, Blum.
HALF BACKS—Worban, Good Easterbrook, Bernhardt, Elting, Milosevich, Astroth, Falkenstein.
FULL BACKS—Peterson, Piggott, Pfeifer.

MOON MULLINS—TOO MANY TRICKLES IN THE TILL

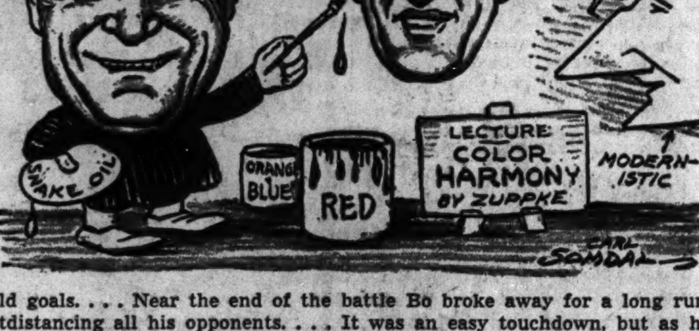
In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

BOB ZUPPKE says Red Grange would have been the fastest 100 yard sprinter in the history of the world if he had concentrated on that sport. . . . "I clocked him in 10 seconds one day when he was running in street clothes, and I'm a conservative timer," the Illinois football coach recently told this department. . . . Zuppke rates Tom Harmon of Michigan the best of the current half backs in intercollegiate football. . . . "It's difficult to compare Harmon with Grange," Zuppke says, "because Harmon runs in angles and Grange was the snaky type." . . . One of the long list of legends about the playing career of Bo McMillin, Indiana university coach, came up last week before the Hoosiers' game with Nebraska at Lincoln. . . . It happened in the days when Bo, the most famous athlete of his time, was playing for Centre college. . . . He was wont to make an occasional wager with a friend and admirer—hats, shirts, and ties being the stakes. . . . Came Centre's game with DePauw that year. . . . Bo and his friend agreed to have a bet on the side. . . . Bo had been winning right along, so he had decided to make the requirements a little tougher for himself this time. . . . He said he would try to make four field goals for as many new shirts. . . . In the course of the game Centre took a commanding lead, McMillin making three field goals. . . . Near the end of the battle Bo broke away for a long run, outdistancing all his opponents. . . . It was an easy touchdown, but as he neared the 10 yard line he decided to win those shirts. . . . He planted the ball on the 5 yard line, and on the next play stepped back and made his fourth field goal. . . .



After the final game of the 1940 world series, in which Dick Bartell held the ball while Frank McCormick ran home with the tying run, an elderly gent climbed the stairs to the roof press box at Crosley field. . . . "I hope you weren't too rough on Richard for holding that ball," the gentleman told a group of scriveners. . . . "His dad and I are members of the Elks lodge in Alameda, Cal." . . . Everybody will know it by the end of the current season, but this department would like to go on record as rating Milt Piepul the greatest full back Notre Dame ever has had. . . . He does everything. . . . He's the toughest plunger the Irish have had since Savoldi's time; he can kick with the best, he passes beautifully, he's an effective blocker and on off tackle plays he runs like a half back. . . . He also is the best defender against forward passes on the squad. . . . With all his individual brilliance, he's the best team man at Notre Dame. . . . Rudy York of the Tigers belies the time honored conception of the silent red man. . . . The big Cherokee is one of the most jovial men in baseball and one of the most popular with rival players. . . . A Stockton, Cal., football program lists J. E. [Blind] Isola, referee. . . . Hmmmm!

The Coach.

Today they offered me a job as coach,
And when I thought about it I just wept;
I know the condemnation and reproach
That will be mine if ever I accept.
Every young squirt who got a monogram
For doing needlework at Podunk High
Will feel quite free to tell the boys I am
An awful flop, and give the reasons why.

As they treat other men around the place;
He's always out there working for the team
To save the school from imminent disgrace,
And those who ought to root for him the most

GREATEST IRISH FULL BACK? THE CHOICE IS PIEPUL

'The Moose Really Has It,' Says His Coach.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 17.—The kid with the thick-lensed spectacles looked like any other studious young gent as he and other husky citizens filed out of the auditorium in the law building on the Notre Dame campus at noon today. It so happened this wasn't a regular class, however, but a routine chalk talk given to the Irish squad by Coach Elmer Layden.

A second glance at the boy with glasses revealed why he had been present to give ear to Prof. Layden. Those 210 pounds, distributed over 6 feet and 1 inch, identified him as a football player, and so he is—Milton John Piepul, captain of the 1940 Notre Dame eleven and generally rated the greatest full back in Irish history.

This may sound like limb-climbing, but the Piepul-is-the-best movement in these parts is quite unanimous. This opinion is found everywhere, despite the fact that the Thompsonville, Conn., boy has played only two games thus far this year, and that he and his mates have seven more to work, leading off with the Carnegie Tech battle here on Saturday.

Overshadows Them All.

Dissenters, if any, could reel off the roll of men who have made themselves famed as Irish full backs—Red Salmon, Ray Eichenlaub, Prof. Layden himself, Moon Mullins, and Joe Savoldi. But in the eyes of students, observers, and the coaches, Piepul overshadows them all, and one of the first to subscribe vocally to this statement is Layden.

"The Moose really has it," said Layden this afternoon at lunch. "It's very easy to say that a player is good, but too often we forget why he is entitled to recognition. In Piepul's case, that recognition must be given not only on his ability as an individual, but also as a team player. You know his record to date, and I think he will more than add to it. He can kick. He can pass. He can run. I don't know of any situation that can confront a football player that Milt can't meet."

High praise this, coming from Layden, who was some shakes as a full back himself and who has seen a few in his time. The modest Milt himself, a young man with a heap of savvy, will give you little hint of his personal conception of his talents, but a glance at the 1939 statistics more than makes up for his reticence.

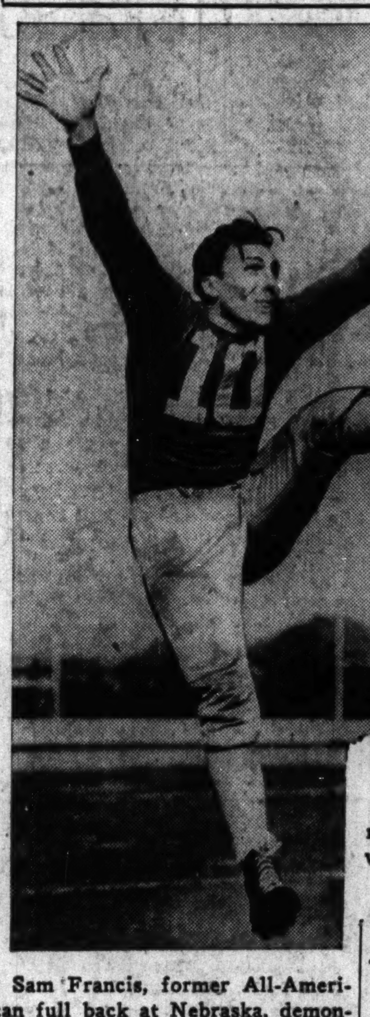
The first back to be captain of the Irish since 1926, Piepul led the team scoring last year with six touchdowns. He carried the ball 84 times, eight more than anybody else, collecting 427 yards on rushing efforts, a margin of 102 over all his associates. From this you might gather that the young man is the typical full back, but not so. He runs unusually high, after the manner of a half back, but Layden attributes this to his height, pointing out that he has power and knows how to utilize it to the full extent, particularly with a hip twist which leaves two and three tacklers in his wake. He lost yardage only once, on an end sweep against Army. Chet Grant of the Irish coaching staff explains this error with the remark, "He couldn't shake off that seventh tackler."

Handles Several Chores.

This year, Piepul is not only serving as the individual inspiration of what may well prove to be one of the greatest Notre Dame elevens, but he is finding time to handle such chores as running, passing, kicking off, punting, and converting extra points. And, O yes, he backs up the line, too.

Piepul is now in his eighth year of full backing. Two of those were spent at Thompsonville and two at Cathedral high in nearby Springfield, Mass. While at the latter school, Milt played guard on the basketball team which represented Cathedral in the National interscholastic tournament in Chicago. Barring this, Milt has confined himself to football, altho he confesses a weakness for roller skating.

Are You Ready, Bears? They Mean Business



Sam Francis, former All-American full back at Nebraska, demonstrates the kicking form that makes him a valuable member of the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Dodgers, one of the strongest teams in the east, meet the Bears in Wrigley field Sunday.

Banks McFadden of Clemson, who was a member of the Tribune's All-Star squad this fall, is one of the most dangerous backs in the National league. He will be a constant threat to the Bears.

HOCKEY LEAGUE WILL PAY CASH FOR AMATEURS

New York, Oct. 17 (AP).—Governors of the National Hockey league today authorized President Frank Calder to sign an agreement with the Canadian Amateur Hockey association under which the N. H. L. will pay cash for amateurs who sign pro contracts.

The meeting, attended by representatives of all seven clubs, discussed the referee situation but spent most of its time going over clause by clause the agrement with C. A. H. A. It was agreed that the N. H. L. will pay $250 to the C. A. H. A. when any amateur player signs a contract offered by a professional club in a minor league affiliated with the N. H. L. If the player signs a N. H. L. agreement the C. A. H. A. receives an additional $250.

Calder settled a player dispute by deciding that Garnett Betts of Winnipeg is the property of the Chicago Blackhawks, rather than of the Montreal Canadiens. His ruling was appealed to the full board, which upheld him.

Bears Plan to Still Tongue of Dodger Coach

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

The task of building the Brooklyn Dodgers into a National Football league power has not taken so much of Dr. John Bain Sutherland's time as to leave the former Pitt coach speechless. Among his recent utterances was an expressed preference for coaching in the National league because the professionals are so much easier to fool than college opponents.

Dr. Sutherland, a mouse trap manufacturer of considerable repute in football, brings his Dodgers to Wrigley field Sunday to meet the Chicago Bears. The Bears' daily preparations for this game, in which the Denver sanatorium will share in advance ticket sales, includes frequent reminders of Dr. Sutherland's observation.

They'll Try to Pour It On.

These preparations also have included some line scrimmage and live tackling for backs, marking the second consecutive week that Coach George Halas has broken precedent by dealing out midweek contact work after the start of the season. From this, it is suspected that the object in Sunday's game is not so much to win as to win decisively. Halas apparently is working on the theory that the more touchdowns the Bears make, the less time Sutherland will have to issue expert opinions.

At the same time, Halas is not overlooking the possibility that there might be something in what the Dodgers' new coach says. For the last two days defense has been chief item of the Bears' training. A scouting report from the east, where Walter Halas, coach at Drexel in Philadelphia and brother of the Bears' boss, has been watching Brooklyn all season, indicates that the Brooklyn offense is as tricky as it is well planned and executed.

Dodger Offense Balanced.

An abundance of mouse trap plays, double and single wing back reverses, with Banks McFadden carrying the ball and Ace Parker passing, gives the Dodgers the best balanced offense in the eastern division.

McFadden, the former Clemson half back who was a leading member of this year's Tribune All-Star team, has gained 239 yards off these reverses in four games, and leads the National league in individual gains. Fifth place among the league's ground gainers belongs to Pug Manders of Brooklyn, brother of the Bears' Jack Manders. Pug is a burly, bruising full back, who has averaged 4.4 yards an attempt in four games.

Former Bear to Return.

McFadden's relief is Sam Francis, the former Nebraska, Chicago All-Star and Bear full back, who has an average of nearly five yards an attempt so far this season.

With such an array of ball carriers deploying behind a line that includes Bud Svendsen, former Packer star at center; Bruiser Kinnard and John Golemgeske, formerly of Wisconsin, at tackles, and Perry Schwartz and Waddy Young at ends, Sutherland has plenty of power. If these boys all block, as Sutherland promised they would when he criticized the pros for neglecting this art, extra sessions in defense will not be a waste of time.

THREE CHICAGO BOYS WILL FACE NAVY FOR DRAKE

Drake university's football team stopped off in Chicago yesterday en route to Annapolis, Md., where it will meet the Navy tomorrow afternoon. The squad was headed by Head Coach Vee Green. Three former Chicago district prep players were in the party. They included Mike Garrity, center, Evanston; Ernest Michna, tackle, Whiting, Ind., and Ted Czech, guard, Harvey, Ill.

Ripper Collins Marries Motion Picture Actress

Las Vegas, Nev. Oct. 17 (AP).—Baseball player James A. [Ripper] Collins, 35 years old, and Jeanne Houser, 20, motion picture actress, were married today in a double ceremony with Jane Ullman, 27, of Beverly Hills, and Maurice Goodstein, 31, Los Angeles attorney and former college football player. Miss Houser's home is in Syracuse, N. Y. Collins, former first baseman for the St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs, now is with Los Angeles.

COACH WARNS SQUAD; CITES UPSET IN 1938

Close Scores Mark Recent Meetings.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

"Remember 1938! Forget that you whipped Ohio State last week-end! Fear Wisconsin with all the fear you can think up! Don't decide that the Ohio triumph put you on the short cut to a championship!"

These and a few other pertinent reminders were uttered yesterday by Coach Lynn Waldorf as he ran the Northwestern Wildcats thru their final strenuous exercises prior to a ride to Madison tomorrow for a football argument with Harry Stuhldreher's Badgers.

And, while Waldorf's fearing might be nothing more than observance of the oldest rule in the coaching profession, he insists he is not purposely seeing a mountain where only a molehill exists. For proof, he points out, you have only to look back on the crazy battles the Wildcats and Badgers have waged since he took over Northwestern's gridiron problems in 1935.

Prove Line Is Good.

Last week Waldorf wasn't fearing. Instead he was hoping. The hope was that his untested team wouldn't look too bad against the supposedly unstoppable Ohio combination. The Wildcats didn't come even close to looking bad. They took that Ohio outfit up and down the field with the ease of a fall wind moving a curled leaf.

By doing that they demonstrated there was no reason for all the pregame concern about the strength of their line. Even the sub forwards fitted into the scheme to push the Ohioans around. The absence of two important backs wasn't noticeable.

But despite this 60 minutes of football happiness, Waldorf doesn't view the Badger meeting with calm because Stuhldreher's pupils are quick scoring guys, a talent demonstrated both against Marquette and Iowa altho they were beaten by the latter.

Points Are Plentiful.

Free scoring has been the theme in three of the five games played between the two schools under the Waldorf régime. In 1935, it was 32 to 12 for the Wildcats. The next fall it was Northwestern, 28; Wisconsin, 18. In 1937, the only one of the five played in Madison, the Purple won, 14 to 7. In 1938, the Badgers came down to Evanston and, with a 20 to 13 victory, ruined a possible Big Ten title for the Wildcats. Last year the Badgers were beaten, 13 to 7.

"That game of last year," said Waldorf, "is another reason why I figure the Badgers are tough. We didn't beat them. They beat themselves by making mistakes on which we capitalized after they had taken the lead. They waited for fourth down to punt and the punt was blocked on their 15 yard line. We scored from there. They passed in their own territory, Northwestern intercepted and scored again. They may not make mistakes Saturday."

Hahnenstein May Not Start.

It is possible that two Wildcat backs will have to sit out tomorrow's engagement. Ike Kepford, victim of a shoulder injury in the Ohio battle, is definitely sidelined for another week. Red Hahnenstein, who couldn't sub for Bill De Correvont last week because of an ankle sprain, removed the cast yesterday but was forced to take his exercises in light doses. But Paul Soper, who missed the entire Ohio State game, has recovered and will be available, either as a full or half back.

The Badger lineup may remain a problem for Coach Stuhldreher right up to starting time. Injuries may keep Right Guard Dick Embick and Left Tackle Dick Thornally on the bench. Mark Hoskins, sophomore left half, has shaken off ailments collected in the Iowa battle and there remains a possibility that Bob Baumann, end and kicker of note, will clear up his scholastic difficulties.

The Wildcats will leave for Madison from the Morton Grove station of the Milwaukee road tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock.

IVY AND GERMAN JOIN CARDINALS; KLUMB RELEASED

Frank Ivy, former Oklahoma end, who played with the College All-Stars last August, and Jimmy German, a fleet tail back who played with the Washington Redskins, joined the Chicago Cardinals yesterday. The Cardinals also announced the release on waivers of John Klumb, former Washington State end, to the Pittsburgh Steelers, from whom Ivy was obtained on waivers.

German played with the Redskins last year, but was farmed out to the Wilmington, Del., team of the American association this fall. The Cardinals purchased his contract from Wilmington. German and Ivy will accompany the Cardinals to Cleveland for Sunday's game against the Rams, but probably will not be used until the Cleveland game in Comiskey park a week from Sunday.

'NOTHING CAN BE DONE IN MAAG CASE'—GRIFFITH

Coaches Are Responsible for Substitutions.

"Nothing can be done about it now."

This was the verdict of Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the Western conference, yesterday when informed that Coach Francis Schmidt of Ohio State had admitted that Tackle Charley Maag was illegally substituted by mistake in the Purdue game on the Ohio field Oct. 5.

Maag, who kicked a field goal in the last minute of play to give the Buckeyes a 17 to 14 victory over the Boilermakers, had entered the game for the second time in the second period, which is contrary to the rules.

Rule 5, Section 2, of the collegiate code, says: "A player may be substituted for another at any time, but a player withdrawn from the game may not return in the same period or intermission in which he is withdrawn . . . Penalty—the player shall be suspended for the remainder of the game and his team shall be penalized 15 yards."

Coaches Are Responsible.

"If Maag was substituted illegally," Griffith continued, "it was a mistake which cannot be corrected because conference coaches have agreed to assume responsibility for the legality of substitutions."

THE TRIBUNE's play by play account of the game, as well as motion pictures, showed the double substitution, as announced in the Wake of the News yesterday.

"Some years ago," Maj. Griffith said, "players carried cards into the game when substituting, handing them to the umpire for recording. This slowed the contests, with the result that coaches agreed to be fully responsible for the legality of substitutions. Since cards are not used any more, blame for a mistake of this kind cannot be placed on the umpire, who formerly was responsible for checking all substitutions. If one of the coaches made a mistake, it's too bad. The incident is closed."

"Game Is Over"—Elward.

Coach Mal Elward of Purdue had little to say about the incident yesterday. Altho admitting that motion pictures indicated that Maag had been illegally substituted and that the situation was unfortunate, Elward said: "That game's over as far as we are concerned. It's too late to worry about Ohio State. We're concentrating on our future games with Wisconsin, Iowa, Fordham, Minnesota, and Indiana."

Chicagoans Gain Finals in Hot Springs Golf Tourney

Hot Springs, Va., Oct. 17 (AP).—George H. Flinn of Pittsburgh and James Ames of Chicago will meet tomorrow in the finals of the Hot Springs golf tournament. Flinn today defeated Gordon Douglas of Palm Beach, 4 and 3, and Ames eliminated Beverley R. Shriver of Pittsburgh, 1 up. Mrs. Beverley R. Shriver of Pittsburgh, defending champion and medalist in the women's division, lost to Mrs. Wyndham Hasler of Chicago, 1 up. Mrs. Joseph T. Richardson of Charles River, Mass., defeated Mrs. George McLaughlin of Chicago, 8 and 6. Mrs. Hasler and Mrs. Richardson will meet for the title tomorrow.

Tribune Team Receives Two Softball Cups

Two softball trophies were presented yesterday by the park board to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, whose team, composed of members of the various departments of the paper, won the Lake Shore Park Industrial league championship in the season just closed.

After losing its first four games, the Tribune team rallied to win nine of its ten remaining games and take the league championship and qualify for the tournament of champions. It won three of its four games in the play-off, losing only to the Tomans, sponsored by County Treasurer John Toman.

For the play-off game, however, the Tomans, beaten twice by the Tribunes in the regular season, fortified their lineup, in violation of league rules, with four stars from other teams. League officials allowed the Tribune team's protest and awarded duplicate trophies for the play-off.

Teams in the play-off, in addition to the Tribunes and the Tomans, included Publishers' News company, Popular Mechanics, Peanut Specialty company, and Kraft Cheese.

The Tribune team was composed of D. Feore, circulation department, captain; F. Hibbard, advertising department; B. Tito, mail room; F. Doll, stock room; K. Bowler, auditing department; F. Herr, press room; J. Paleczeny, J. Michels, J. Kramascz and W. Foster, circulation department; A. Ambrosia, mail room; W. Mau, electrician, and L. Olliger, W-G-N.

Wally Sears Is Due Today for Marigold Bout

Wally Sears, Philadelphia heavyweight, will arrive today for a 10 round bout with Carl Vinciquerra in Marigold Gardens Monday. Sears, who has met some of the best boxers at his weight in the east, will be making his Chicago debut. Promoter Irving Schoenwald yesterday arranged the supporting card. Mickey Hayes, Milwaukee, also a heavyweight, will meet Frank Green in a six round semifinal. Four round events will bring together Bill Peterson, Indiana Harbor heavyweight, and Lou Campbell; Connie Branski, light heavyweight, also of Milwaukee, and Speedy Schaefer, and Jimmy Santora and Andy Canal, Chicago featherweights.

CATHOLIC PREPS IN CHICAGO SHUN ILLINOIS GROUP

State Association's Bid Will Be Rejected.

Members of the Chicago Catholic High School league will reject any invitation to join the Illinois State High School association, the Rev. Patrick Conaty of Fenwick High, president of the Catholic group, said yesterday.

The Catholic schools' stand was revealed after it was announced 17 members of the Illinois association's legislative commission adopted in the Hotel La Salle last Sunday a proposal authorizing the board of directors to admit non-public high schools. The board is to act on the proposal at its annual meeting Nov. 1.

Downstaters Receptive.

The action is the forerunner of an invitation to a group of Catholic schools to join the association. However, if they join, their athletic teams under the association's rules would be prohibited from engaging in interstate or national tournaments such as the national basketball tournament conducted annually under the auspices of Loyola university.

Catholic schools in downstate Illinois have expressed willingness to join the association, according to athletic officials at several institutions. Iowa, which last spring was represented in the Loyola tournament by Dowling High of Des Moines and Loras academy of Dubuque, this year will have competition between public and Catholic schools. Non-public schools, with a few exceptions, have not yet joined associations in Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin.

C. W. Whitten, executive secretary of the Illinois association, said non-public schools have joined associations in at least half of the states in the union. Loyola university hopes to attract championship basketball teams in the other states to the meet next spring.

No Change in Tourney.

"Loyola has conducted a national basketball tournament for many years," said the Rev. Edward Maher, chairman of the athletic board and director of the 1940 meet. "We do not feel it should be abolished. Despite the action taken in Illinois and other states, we plan to present a tournament next spring, drawing squads from Chicago and from states in which Catholic teams do not belong to associations."

The legislative commission of the Illinois group also adopted a proposal which would prohibit schools from engaging in spring football practice, but would allow an additional week of practice in the fall. Prep elevens in the state now are permitted to start practices on Sept. 1.

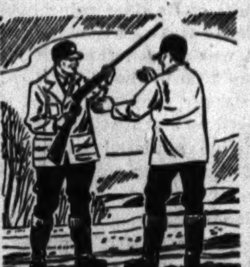
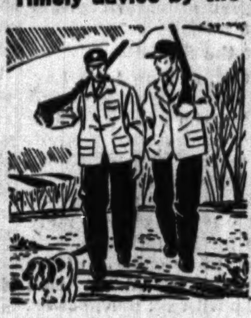
Here's how... TO HUNT MORE SAFELY! by Bob Edge

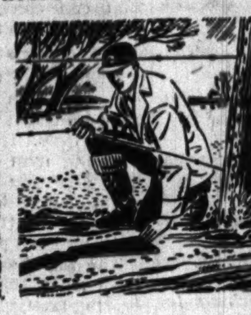
Timely advice by the noted radio commentator on hunting and fishing



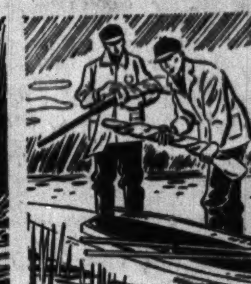
Never point the muzzle of a weapon in anyone's direction. To inspect a gun, break weapon first, check for shells in magazine or chamber. When passing weapon to a friend, hold it sidewise, barrel pointed in the air.



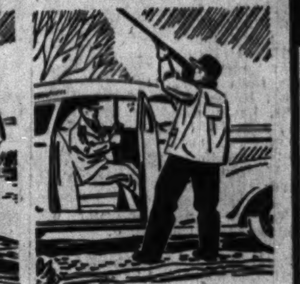
In hunting, here's how a rifle or shotgun should be carried. The safety should always be on—and should be checked often. The muzzle should be pointed to the sky. In case of accidental discharge, no harm is done.



If you must climb a fence, here's how: Remove shells, "breaking" the gun if a double barrel. Push your firearm through the fence, stock toward you. Then climb or crawl through, pick up the gun and reload.



Handling guns in a boat is risky—here's how to do it safely. First, unload the gun. Then place it (wrapped securely in oiled rags or other protective material) muzzle pointing ahead, in the bow. Then step in.



Handling guns in a car. Make the driver responsible for seeing that all guns are unloaded before the hunters take seats. Let each hunter hold his own gun, muzzle pointing to car roof, firearm held between knees.

Here's how... TO "SIGHT" A GREAT WHISKEY

Head for SEAGRAM'S 5 Crown—and "bag" real quality at a budget-saving price you can afford.

• Thank you, Bob Edge! We all favor safety. And when the day's hunt is over and the guns are set aside, we favor a certain whiskey—one that's always in our price range—a blend that's mild and mellow, sure to satisfy . . . Seagram's 5 Crown.

INDIANA PLANS TO SILENCE CRITICS WITH A VICTORY

Iowa Faces Determined Foe Tomorrow.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 17.—People come from everywhere to southern Indiana at this time of year to see the beautiful trees in their red and gold autumn dress, just about as pretty a sight as Mother Nature ever paints. The red shades are especially glowing this fall, so brilliant, in fact, that they are reflected in the necks and faces of Coach Bo McMillin, his staff, and the football boys of Indiana university.

It seems the student body isn't exactly elated over defeats at the hands of the University of Texas and the University of Nebraska, and the alumni aren't too wrought up over the prospect of victory over undefeated Iowa, which will participate in the Hoosier homecoming here Saturday.

A Tackle Takes Pen in Hand.

Contemplation of the state of affairs has reached the vox pop or letter-to-the-editor stage. One of those anonymous things [you remember, they used to print 'em in the Daily Maroon at the University of Chicago in the pre-six man intramural days on the Midway] touched off the journalistic phase right here in Bloomington, blasting the team even more severely than that lyre player gave it to the Northwestern Wildcats at about this time last autumn.

"We have had a bad luck team, but we are going to make our breaks. We would like a student body which fully expects us to win, which radiates this feeling to us, and, by all that is sacred, we will win not one, but the major part of our scheduled games.

"We will win if you believe it in your hearts as we do. Watch Indiana's spirit and coöperation from now until Nov. 23. We [and I mean the whole team] are going to prove that Indiana has more than a good band."

Expect Passing Duel.

From what we can learn Saturday's game, which will be Indiana's first Big Nine try and Iowa's second, should be a lively encounter involving a lot of pass stuff. Last year's 32 to 29 victory over the Hoosiers was one of the real circus events of the season. And, by the way, Hal Hursh, who completed 18 passes against the Hawkeyes is in fine fettle for Saturday's contest.

Unfortunately, all the Hoosiers do not share Hursh's excellent health. Coach McMillin revised his back field lineup for the Iowa encounter, a step necessitated by injuries suffered by two key men—Jolting Joe Tofil, full back and Harry [Tuffy] Brooks, [there's that Brooks again] hard driving ball carrier and a capable signal caller. Tofil incurred a shoulder injury in the Nebraska game, but Brooks has never even seen game action, having been hurt the first week of practice.

McMillin thought Brooks would be all ready to go against Iowa, but a teammate, Dwight Gahm, regular center, fell on him in practice this week, with the result that his injured ankle is out of commission again. Harold [Red] Zimmer, fastest and one of the smallest backs on the squad, hasn't completely recovered from rough treatment he received in the Texas battle, and is not in top form.

IOWA FEARS PASSES.

The squad, devoid of injuries, will leave tomorrow morning and will stop over in Chicago for a workout on Stagg field in the afternoon before continuing to Indianapolis, where it will be quartered. The squad:

RIGHT HALF BACKS—Burdell Gilleard, Bill Gallagher, Bernard Merles.

GOPHER SQUAD OF 36 LEAVES TO PLAY BUCKEYES

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 17 [Special].—Thirty-six players made up the Minnesota football party today as it left for the Ohio State game in Columbus Saturday. The squad will go to Dayton, O., arriving there at 10 a. m. tomorrow for a workout on the University of Dayton field and continuing in to Columbus Saturday morning. A student pep rally sent players away to an enthusiastic start.

The game is regarded as the turning point of the season for the Gophers. Altho they have played two games thus far, Coach Bernie Bierman isn't sure just what he has. He is certain the Buckeye game will establish the level of the Gophers who profited from an open date Saturday and are in excellent physical condition.

CENTERS—Co-Capt. Bob Bjorkland, Gene Flick, Bob Kolliner, and Don Nolander.

GUARDS—Bill Kuusisto, Gordon Paschka, Bob Smith, Helge Pukema, Neil Litman, Howie Straiton, and John Billman.

OHIO TAPERS OFF.

The Ohio lineup which starts against the Gophers again will be minus Jimmy Strausbaugh at left half back. Dick Fisher once more will get the call, altho Strausbaugh will see service in the game.

Practically every seat in the Ohio stadium and all its temporary seats have been sold for the Minnesota game, the first sellout since Notre Dame appeared here in 1935. Indications are that between 72,000 and 75,000 will attend.

Northwestern, Wisconsin Alumni to Lunch Today

It's an OLD FAVORITE with Young Men

Robt. Burns de Luxe

YOUR father went to masquerades too, and he enjoyed his Robt. Burns Panatela de Luxe then as much as you do today. For many a year this long, suave cigar has been as much a part of youth as dancing and falling in love. » » Young men, then as now, have always loved its smooth-smoking, ultra-mild quality that comes of painstaking craftsmanship and superb 100% Havana filler. » » Sophisticated ladies and debs, now as then, always admire its graceful shape and the sophistocratic poise it gives an escort.

VINUM WINS FOR CREECH STABLE; TWO OTHERS FAIL

Tin Devil Finishes 2d, Dusky Prince 3d.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The veteran trainer, Bennie Creech, sent three consecutive favorites to the post yesterday at Sportsman's Park—Vinum in the fourth, Tin Devil in the fifth and Dusky Prince in the sixth. Vinum succeeded but the other two failed, Tin Devil running second to Getaway Jack, and Dusky Prince finishing third behind Weisenheimer and Shirley G. All were ridden by Al Ebberts and all carried the blue and red colors of Mrs. A. M. Creech.

Vinum was scoring his third consecutive victory. After engaging in a prolonged duel with Office Hour in this gallop of a mile and 70 yards, Vinum finally took command in the stretch and drew out gradually in the last sixteenth to win by three-quarters of a length. Might Step took third money. Because of his good recent performances, Vinum drew so much backing that he paid $4.80, $2.80, and $2.80 across the board.

It's a Race for Second Place.

Next Tin Devil got his chance. This 4 year old colt had been beaten by only a nose by Chance Ray in his only previous start at Sportsman's Park. The betters figured he was set to win and backed him down to 6 to 5 odds.

For quite a while it seemed as tho he would justify his backers' confidence. While Goshen set the pace in this mile and a sixteenth run, Tin Devil held second place. Getaway Jack raced well back.

As they went into the last turn, Ebberts sent Tin Devil up along side Goshen and it seemed the race might become a struggle between these two. It was—but for second place. For Getaway Jack, under Willie Smolinski's driving, came up on the curve approaching the stretch, took the lead and drew out easily to win by four lengths. Tin Devil, unable to shake off Goshen, took second place by a nose. The winner returned $9.80, $3.40, and $2.80.

Dusky Prince Starts Slowly.

Creech's third representative, Dusky Prince, was also backed down to 6 to 5 odds. He got away very slowly, however, in this seven furlong sprint and used up so much of his energy working his way toward a contending position that he wasn't able to catch the front runners. Meanwhile Weisenheimer, the 3 to 1 second choice, had gone out to take the lead and hold it all the way home. He withstood the closing bid of Shirley G. to win by three-quarters of a length. Shirley G. was a length and a half in advance of Dusky Prince.

Jockey Joe Marinelli joined T. P. Martin and Willie Hanka on the suspended list when he was set down for five days for rough riding on Goshen in the fifth race.

DOUBLE HEADER OPENS MAROONS' SIX MAN SEASON

The first regulation six-man football games of the year are scheduled at the University of Chicago this afternoon at 4 o'clock, with Gophers meeting Red Devils and Bears meeting Unexpecteds in a simultaneous double header on the two adjacent Stagg field playing areas.

Originally scheduled for last Tuesday, the openers were postponed to permit playing of a scrimmage between the Maroon A, or inexperienced squad, and Wilson Junior college. The four six-man teams made up of inexperienced players, comprise the Midway's B league.

The double header is the first of nine scheduled by Coach J. Kyle Anderson, to be played twice a week. Admission is free. Coach Anderson said last night that the Maroon football squads have shown more than a 50 per cent increase since practice sessions began Oct. 3.

MIGRATION MOON IS OUT AND SNIPE ARE ON THE WING

Wisconsin-Illinois Line Is First Objective.

BY BOB BECKER.

The hunter's moon, which may be seen in the October sky, also is the migration moon. It looks down on the annual flights of waterfowl from the north and it also lights the way for the other smaller game birds which travel only after dark and slip quietly and almost mysteriously into middle western marshes. In this group of night flyers that came down from the north at this season of the year is the jacksnipe, considered by many sportsmen as one of the sportiest game birds that may be taken with a shotgun.

Some jacks already have moved into northern Illinois and lower Wisconsin, as we learned this week when we visited some of the marshes around Lake Geneva and Delavan, Wis. We found them just as tricky as ever, just as skilfull in erratic tumbling flights, and as unpredictable as ever in the way they will either sit tight before the approach of a hunter, or flush wildly to give the shooter all kinds of difficult angling shots.

No Bag to Hold Here.

A boggy, uneven pasture near a stream in the Delavan hunting country gave us the most fun with the jacksnipe in the course of our visits to several typical spots for these birds. Henry O'Brien, Delavan sportsman, steered us to this spot after he had forecast we would find from 12 to 15 of the birds playing hide and seek behind the hummocks.

With Lyman Barr of Highland Park, on our left, and O'Brien on the right, we moved into the bog in a sweeper movement to see if we could locate the fast flying birds. Walking at heel were two game finders, our Labrador Dawn of Kezar, and Pat, an English setter that likes to retrieve snipe.

A Difficult Angle Shot.

The snipe "bombed" us before we had walked 50 feet. Five of them flushed like quail from under our feet. From that point on up the slough, the birds hopped into the air at all angles. We recall one shot over the fence way to our left as the bird tried to run the ends. O'Brien dropped one with his full choke gun at long range. A little later Barr got a wild, skyscraping bird that was zooming toward the stratosphere.

The value of retrievers as game finders and game savers was well illustrated on this hunt. Without dogs we would have failed to find several birds which fell in marsh grass. And in snipe hunting, trained retrievers also save you from many a punishing walk thru deep muck, a point that was emphasized on this hunt when we got into such soft, clinging mud that it was difficult to pull a foot out of it without leaving a boot behind.

BLACKHAWKS O.K. ICE IN HIBBING; OPEN SCRIMMAGE

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 17 [Special].—Jubilation was rampant here this morning among the 25 Black Hawks when the almost frantic ice makers of Hibbings memorial rink, after five days of trouble with machinery, finally provided a fine sheet of ice. The difficulties were overcome just as the Chicago team had packed and made ready to move camp to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

The frozen surface stood up well under two 90 minute tests. It was the first time sticks and pucks were on the ice. In the short practices held heretofore, when the ice was of such an inferior quality that it finally collapsed entriely, Manager Paul Thompson confined the workouts to straightaway skating. Their first scrimmage of the season was held this morning. Another followed in the afternoon.

Rookie John Mariucci reported this morning, completing the squad. Because of his outstanding play at defense for the 1939-'40 University of Minnesota hockey team, Mariucci was regarded by coaches as the best American born college hockey player ever developed.

ROOSEVELT ACTS TO PUSH SEAWAY POWER PROJECT

Appoints Four to Direct Preliminary Work.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—President Roosevelt today named an advisory committee to conduct preliminary work on the development of the power phase of the controversial St. Lawrence hydro-electric project.

Leland C. Olds.

The four members of the commission include three open advocates of the proposed power and navigation development. They are Leland C. Olds, chairman of the federal power commission; A. A. Berle, assistant secretary of state, and Gerald V. Cruise, representative of the trustees of the power authority of the state of New York. The fourth member is Brig. Gen. Thomas R. Robins of the United States Engineer corps.

The appointment of the committee was announced in a special informative message to congress.

Treaties Twice Rejected.

The President did not ask for professional approval for his move to develop a project which became his pet when he was governor of New York. Congress has twice rejected treaties which contemplated development of the power and navigation phases of the project.

In the special message Mr. Roosevelt announced that he had allocated $1,000,000 from his special defense contingency funds for preliminary borings and other exploratory work looking toward the erection of a power dam in the International rapids section of the St. Lawrence river.

Congress Not Consulted.

At his press conference Mr. Roosevelt said he was making the allocation because of the pressing need for power by both Canada and the United States to carry forward defense programs. He said it was not necessary that he consult congress on the project because he was not proceeding with the controversial navigational phase of the waterway development.

In the message to congress the President said surveys made by the federal power commission and the national power policy committee, both of which groups he packed with advocates of his pet project, had convinced him that the development of power production in the International rapids section should be undertaken at the earliest possible date.

Recently the government responded to Canada's plea for more power at the Niagara river by consenting to the diversion of 5,000 cubic feet of water on either side of the stream. Canadian diversion was stepped up despite the fact that the balance of diversion is already heavily in Canada's favor. She has insisted that Chicago's be held down to 1,500 cubic feet per second even tho the ratio of diversion was 36,000 cubic feet to 20,000 before the increase was permitted at Niagara.

Sees Need for Expansion.

"The potential power at this site [International rapids] is best adapted to meet the requirements of expansion in certain essential defense industries, including aluminum, magnesium, ferro-alloys, chemicals, etc," the message said.

"Actually, the Aluminum Company of America has recently arranged for the import of 30,000 kilowatt of additional power from Canada to meet the pressing requirements of its existing plant located at the very site of the proposed St. Lawrence project, and, I am reliably informed, is seeking additional supplies from across the border."

Retired Wisconsin Educator Is Critically Ill in Chicago

Dr. William A. Ganfield, who retired last year as president of Carroll college, Waukesha, Wis., is critically ill in Presbyterian hospital, it was learned last night. Dr. Ganfield, who is 67 years old, was at one time president of Centre college in Kentucky.

C. S. Dewey to Be Feted at Political Rally Tonight

SEEK TO RETURN ORGANIZER FOR ALLEGED FRAUD

Chicago authorities were planning last night to extradite from Cleveland a man who said he was John M. Holzworth, former assistant district attorney of Westchester county, N. Y. He is wanted here for allegedly passing a worthless check for $700 and for failure to pay office help.

Holzworth said he had been organizing a "physicians' national committee for Willkie and McNary" and that his arrest was intended to obstruct this work. Detective Lieutenant Thomas A. Murphy in Cleveland said that Republicans there said Holzworth had no connection with the Willkie campaign.

Assistant State's Attorney James Cunningham here said the check was given for printing. Complaints by persons who said Holzworth left without paying wages due them are on file in the detective bureau.

Fire Sweeps River Forest Home; Wife, Ill, Is Rescued

Fire did an estimated $7,000 damage last night to the home of Dr. Arthur H. Conley at 559 Franklin avenue, River Forest. The blaze, which started in the attic, was detected by Mrs. Conley, ill in bed, who smelled smoke. She was helped out by neighbors and taken to the Oak Park hospital. Five regular firemen and seven volunteers under Chief Alfred Zay fought the fire for four hours before bringing it under control.

FEDERAL COURT O. K.'S PURCHASE OF 34 GAS BUSES

The purchase of 34 new gasoline buses for $275,000 by the Chicago Surface Lines was authorized yesterday by Judge Michael L. Igoe of the federal District court. The buses will be placed in service on three new routes, one of which was opened two weeks ago with buses already available. This is a line in North Central avenue from Milwaukee to Devon avenues. The other two routes are: Division street from California to Monticello avenues, and the Kimball-Homan route which runs from Kimball and Wrightwood avenues to 25th street and Central Park avenue.

107 Year Old War Veteran, John N. Ridgley, Is Dead

Portland, Ore., Oct. 17 (AP).—John N. Ridgley, 107 year old civil war veteran, died today. A year ago he won a court fight to prevent his 78 year old son, W. S. Ridgley, from being appointed his guardian and being given control over his $77,000 estate. The elder Ridgley contended his son was too old for the job. The veteran's great-granddaughter was named his personal guardian and a bank was given charge of the estate.

CAST OF REVUE BREEZES THRU SHOW ON W-G-N

A half dozen fresh, sprightly tunes, being aired for the first time, set 600 pairs of feet tapping last night in the W-G-N audience studio during the In Chicago Tonight broadcast. As breezily gay as their music were the youthful members of the cast who, true to the title of the revue, "Meet the People," in which they are appearing at the Grand Opera house, made their entrance from the rear of the studio, shaking hands right and left with the audience.

These were the young Hollywood actors who, tired of getting only bit parts to do in the movies, banded together, wrote their own lyrics, music, and sketches, and produced a now famous musical show. The radio version of the revue was arranged by William A. Bacher, W-G-N production chief. The program was carried by the Mutual Broadcasting system.

Highlights of the production were "The Bill of Rights," a musical skit featuring Barney Phillips; "In Chichicastenango," a tune of Latin-American flavor, sung by Bernice Parks; "Elmer's Wedding Day," with Marion Colby as the featured singer; impersonations by Elizabeth Talbot-Martin, and a comic radio sketch, "It's All Right, Joe," in which Jack Albertson played the principal part.

Divert 10 Planes Seized at Manila to U. S. Defense

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 18, Friday (AP).—High Commissioner Francis B. Sayre said today that 10 American made light dive bombing planes halted here en route to Thailand [Siam] definitly had been requisitioned by the United States army for defense purposes. Sayre said he did not know whether the bombers, which were detained when the state department revoked the export license, would be kept in the Philippines or returned to the United States.

LEW LOYAL'S 2D EXPLOIT TO BE HEARD TONIGHT

The second episode in the adventures of Lew Loyal, the typical patriotic American boy, will be broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system at 7 o'clock tonight. The experiences of Lew Loyal; his girl friend, Betsy True, and Uncle Mack, a federal agent, are broadcast each week at this hour, and their further adventures appear in the Comic magazine of THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

Besides affording youngsters a chance to share in his adventures, Lew Loyal offers boys and girls a chance to participate in the $10,000 cash prize contest by sending in their pictures to be used as models for Lew and Betsy. Thousands of boys and girls have already sent in their pictures since the contest was announced last week.

Besides the grand prizes of $2,500 for the winning boy and $2,500 for the winning girl, 20 prizes of $25 each will be awarded weekly starting Oct. 27. Pictures of the weekly winners will be published in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE. Full particulars of the contest will be given in SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE.

RAIL OPERATING REVENUES SINK IN SEPTEMBER

Both Freight, Passenger Totals Reduced.

September operating revenues of 88 class one railroads yesterday were estimated at $311,139,719 by the Association of American Railroads. The total was $312,821,780 in September, 1939, and $381,504,682 in the corresponding period in 1930.

Class one railroads are those with annual operating revenues exceeding $1,000,000. The association said that the 88 reporting roads represent 82.1 per cent of the total operating revenues of all class one roads.

Freight revenues in September totaled $255,828,562, compared with $256,344,262 in the corresponding 1939 period and $297,282,317 in 1930.

Passenger Revenues Decline

Passenger revenues also showed a decline. September revenues totaled $30,187,694, compared with $31,464,073 in 1939 and $50,133,671 in 1930.

The Chicago Great Western reported it had a net loss of $14,286 in August, compared with a net income of $67,417 last year. Its loss for the first eight months of this year was $680,730, against $493,511 in 1939.

Net income of the Pere Marquette in September was $183,466, a decrease of $118,394 from 1939. The road reported a profit of $529,105 for the first nine months of this year after having a loss of $698,815 in the corresponding period last year.

Pennsylvania Gross Rises.

Martin W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania, estimated that September gross revenues increased 6.4 per cent over 1939. He reported the road's gross revenues for the first week of October were slightly above a year ago.

Earnings of railroads reporting yesterday follow:

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BOB BECKER

Pheasants Run Together

Oct. 17, 1940.

THE three varieties of pheasants on the Du Page county farm are forming small flocks and getting along well. The boys on the farm are getting quite a thrill out of seeing them together. This is the first time since game birds have been raised and freed on the farm that three varieties have been turned out together.

Ringnecks nest there every year. In addition to the wild birds which stay on the farm year after year, many more have been raised under bantam hens and released each season. Since no hunting of pheasants is permitted there these birds naturally have increased.

This summer Chinese and blackneck pheasants were hatched in an incubator and then turned out. Both have distinctive markings. The Chinese pheasant, with lovely blue and light brown tints in its plumage, is a more strikingly colored bird than the ringneck, while the larger blackneck pheasant has deeper and richer colors.

Interbreeding Predicted.

Arthur MacArthur, Janesville, Wis., game breeder, predicted this week that the three varieties of pheasants will interbreed to produce birds with rather unusual characteristics. He said that both the Chinese and the blackneck [from England] are hardy and should come thru the winter in fine style.

The flockmaster has been seeing a flock of pheasants go into a hedge row near the barnyard to roost every evening. Noticing that some of the birds seemed to be lighter in color than the ordinary ringneck, he flushed them and found that the lighter colored birds [seven of them] were Chinese pheasants. One of the other farm workers reports that several times he has seen groups of ringneck, Chinese, and blackneck pheasants coming in near one of the groups of farm buildings to get gravel.

The pheasants now may be seen in fairly open fields. They seem to realize that they're protected and need not be afraid. One evening this week we saw some of the birds in a grain field when we were on our way to the bird banding traps.

A Ringneck Is Flushed.

The field was so flat that there was little protective cover, so we weren't expecting to see any pheasants. But a noisy, cackling, ringneck darted up a few feet ahead of us, and when it took off the explosion of its fluttering wings made us jump with surprise.

Altho there have been several rather cool days and nights on the farm, the gardener still is harvesting vegetables. Carrots, beets, potatoes, and parsley are being provided for the farm tables, and the last of the tomato crop also is being utilized. Several of the farm wives have stocked their pantry shelves with jars of fresh tomato juice which will find a place on the farm tables this winter.

CONTAINER CORP. TO PAY 75 CENT DIVIDEND NOV. 20

Worthington Pump Votes Two Distributions.

An increased dividend of 75 cents a share on capital stock was authorized yesterday by the Container Corporation of America, Chicago, large producer of paperboard products. It is payable on Nov. 20. The company paid 25 cents each in previous quarters this year.

Worthington Pump and Machinery corporation, Harrison, N. J., declared its first dividends in two years. The payments of $1.12½ each on the 4½ per cent prior preferred and 4½ per cent convertible prior preferred stock will apply on arrears, which will then total $9 a share. The last disbursements were the same amounts, Sept. 15, 1938.

Exchange Offer Ends Dec. 4.

The company will terminate on Dec. 4 the opportunity offered to holders of its class A 7 per cent preferred and class B 6 per cent preferred stock to exchange their shares for the prior preferred and common under the recapitalization plan of 1937.

Jonas & Naumburg corporation, New York, producer of hatters' fur, announced a year-end dividend of 70 cents. The company last paid 10 cents on Oct. 25, 1939.

CONSOLIDATED OIL 3½s.

I have been thinking about buying some Consolidated Oil 3½s. What is the rating of these debentures?—T. R.

Answer: The Consolidated Oil corporation's 3½ per cent convertible debentures due June 1, 1951, represent $45,296,500 of the company's total funded debt of $70,481,429. The debentures are direct obligations of this leading oil producing, refining, and marketing organization, but are not secured by a mortgage on the company's properties.

The 3½s of 1951 are redeemable on any interest date [June and Dec. 1] upon 45 days' notice at 105 and interest before June 1, 1941, and at a diminishing premium thereafter until they may be called at par after June 1, 1950. They may be converted into the company's common stock at $25 a share thru June 1, 1941; at $30 a share thereafter thru June 1, 1946, and at $35 a share thereafter until maturity.

Fixed charges on the company's funded debt have been covered by earnings 11.69 times in 1937, 4.60 times in 1938, 3.84 times in 1939, and 2.58 times in the first half of 1940. The company's net working capital [excess of current assets over current liabilities] of $98,179,410 at the end of 1939 exceeded its total funded debt. The debentures are considered of fairly good grade but require constant reappraisal for new developments.

MAIDEN AUNT.

When I was 58 years old I legally adopted an orphaned niece and nephew. I brought them into my home because I was alone. I have never been married. I have worked as a clerk in a small department store for about 20 years and I hope to retire after I am 65 years old next May. I understand I am eligible for old age benefits but would my adopted children, both under 16, receive supplementary benefits or would they not be covered by the social security law?
Miss C. R.

Answer: Because the children were adopted legally before you were 60 years old and are dependent upon you for their support, each would be entitled to receive a monthly benefit equal to one-half of your monthly old age benefit. Forms for estimating what social security benefits may accrue to you and the children may be obtained by sending a stamped, addressed envelope to the Investors' Guide.

NICHOLS PUSHES FIGHT DESPITE THREAT OF QUIZ

ndorses Willkie in Another Ad.

J. M. [100 per cent] Nichols, president of the First National Bank of Englewood, said yesterday that he would not be deterred from expressing his militant opposition to the Roosevelt administration by the threat of a senate investigation.

J. M. [100%] Nichols.

His declaration was made after Chairman Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.], of the senate campaign investigating committee announced in Washington, D. C., that an inquiry would be made to determine if an advertisment the bank recently placed in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE violated the federal statute forbidding political contributions by national banks and corporations.

The advertisment was a statement of the bank's condition, to which was appended this note: "In a last stand for democracy, every director and officer of this bank will cast his vote for Wendell Willkie."

McCormack Protests Ad.

A protest against the advertisment was made by House Majority Leader John W. McCormack [D., Mass.], who charged in a letter to the senate committee that "powerful financial groups hav launched an advertising campaign designed to evade the Hatch act." Altho Senator Gillette ordered an inquiry, he indicated he was not impressed by McCormack's contention.

Far from being cowed by the proposed investigation, Nichols said he would be "delighted" if an issue is made of the matter. He disclosed that the same advertisment will be published tomorrow in the American Banker, a New York publication.

"The editor queried me after learning of Gillette's statement to find out if I wanted the ad run as previously scheduled," Nichols said. "I told him to use it but to add another line in large type at the top saying, 'We repeat,' and draw an arrow down to the statement which declares that our people are voting for Willkie."

An Outspoken Critic.

Nichols has been an outspoken critic of the Roosevelt administration since its inception. He has criticized particularly its fiscal and banking policies. His bank conformed reluctantly to the federal law which requires that all national banks obtain membership in the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation. He has chafed under the requirement that notice of FDIC membership be included in bank statements. He has met this requirement by having the notice set in small type in an inconspicuous part of the statement.

"They may put me in jail but they can't bully me," Nichols asserted. "We have been running our bank on a sound basis for 51 years and I consider it my patriotic duty to tell our depositors what will happen if Roosevelt is reëlected.

"Break the third term tradition and you break the backbone of this democracy. It will mean the end of my business and the business of the other fellow.

Country 'Worth Fighting For.'

"I'm stubborn enough to believe that this country is worth fighting for. I will fight as long as I can."

If the President is reëlected, Nichols said, the First National Bank of Englewood probably will liquidate its assets, pay off its depositors, and distribute what remains among stockholders.

Nichols owns 1,220 of the bank's 2,000 shares. There are 26 other stockholders. Nichols has headed the bank for the last 30 years. His father, one of the bank's founders, was president before that time. Nichols got the nickname "100 per cent" from other bankers because he has followed a policy for several years of maintaining cash and other liquid assets sufficient to pay off all deposits in full.

The bank had deposits of slightly more than 6 million dollars at the end of September. It has not accepted deposits from new customers for several years. Nichols explains that he doesn't know of a safe place to put the money.

U. S. CONSIDERS MAKING MORE LOANS TO CHINA

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 [Special].—In his capacity as federal loan administrator, Jesse H. Jones today announced that he is conferring with T. V. Soong, chairman of the Bank of China, on the subject of granting further loans to that country in exchange for essential defense products needed by the United States.

Soong, who was present when Jones made his statement at a press conference, expressed his opinion that China would have no difficulty in protecting the Burma road against Japanese attacks. The road was reopened today by Great Britain so China could receive vital supplies.

Jones said he could not specify what this country would obtain from China in return for any new loans, nor could he say how much money in addition to the $85,000,000 already lent to China may be involved.

Brand Federal Policy Harmful to Arms Work

Boston, Mass., Oct. 17 (AP).—H. W. Prentis Jr., president of the National Association of Manufacturers, asserted today that "Government unfriendliness to business is a real hindrance to the country's defense program."

In an address to the 25th annual convention of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, he maintained:

"If the emergency is so acute as to warrant the drafting of our young manhood for national defense, and the conscription of industry in the preparation for that defense, then it is sufficiently crucial to give defense the supreme national right of way.

Policy Is Assailed.

"If defense does not come first now, the nation may come last later. Defense is not coming first when the present emergency is used to try to enforce the Wagner act by extra legal means, to realize ambitions for the mastery of free private enterprise, or to reward 'the faithful.' Nor is defense coming first if it be secrificed in any fashion for so-called social gains."

Prentis said that there were 212 commissions in the federal government "which if they are not soon regulated by some congressional enactment will destroy our liberties with their insatiable lust for power.

"In our desire to protect our freedom against external aggressors we must not allow the substance of that freedom to vanish at home and leave us only an empty shell."

Welfare Subject to Whims.

James D. Mooney, vice president of General Motors corporation, maintained that under the New Deal "prices, investment, and the savings and insurance of American families are all subject to the whims, caprices, and stupidites of a political burocracy."

He declared that the executive branch of the government had shown "little genius for organization and no grasp of the administrative technique needed to utilize such vast power wisely and effectively. Accordingly, we find ourselves in a condition that one might characterize as 'regimented anarchy.'"

UNIFORM RULES ARE PROPOSED BY BROKERS' GROUP

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 [Special].—The National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., announced today that its committee on uniform practices had approved trade practice standards for the over the counter securities business. The announcement said the rules are expected to be adopted soon by the association's board of governors.

The standards will govern trading in securities thruout the country, but will be so construed as to allow such local variations as are deemed essential, it was announced.

It was understood that an association committee would confer shortly with Securities and Exchange commission officials on trade practice rules pertaining to investment trust securities. Under the investment companies act of 1940, a registered association will be given the task of proposing rules and regulations governing such securities.

REPORTS PICKUP IN CHICAGO AREA DEFENSE ORDERS

Chicago district companies had $124,828,000 of defense orders on their books on Oct. 1, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. Of this amount $94,668,000 was for manufactured products and $30,160,000 for new construction work.

"The proportion of orders placed here in the last fortnight has been much more gratifying than previously," the association said. "Firms in the Chicago ordnance area have now taken the lead in important new commitments for artillery and other essential fighting material."

At Washington, D. C., the war department announced contracts for artillery ammunition parts aggregating more than $3,200,000, distributed among 15 companies.

Contracts amounting to $7,347,000 for housing facilities at naval bases were announced by the navy department.

TEXTILE OUTPUT IS APPROACHING RECORD LEVELS

New York, Oct. 17 (AP).—Under the stimulus of heavy defense buying, major branches of the textile industry are rapidly moving toward capacity operations and record production, trade surveys reported today.

The Textile World said its index of textile mill activity for the first nine months of 1940 was 134 [on the basis of 1923-1925 as 100], topping the 1939 calendar year's 132 which stood as a record.

Besides the huge purchases of fabrics for clothing and other equipment for the armed forces there has been a largely increased demand incident to expanded public purchasing power. Purchases of printcloths, broadcloths, and like fabrics in the Worth street district reached a peak yesterday at an estimated 30,000,000 yards. Prices were boosted an average of ⅛ cent a yard.

Navy May Use Idle Plant in Willkie's Home Town

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP).—Representative William H. Larrabee [D., Ind.], announced today the navy department has sent an inspector to Elwood, Ind., to make a survey of the idle plant of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation to determine whether it can be converted into an ordnance plant.

ENGINEERING AWARDS BREAK ALL RECORDS; 31% ABOVE 1930 PEAK

New York, Oct. 17 (AP).—A tremendous upswing in public and private work lifted engineering construction awards this week to the highest total ever reported, Engineering News-Record said today.

The total, $238,793,000, was 31 per cent above the former record established in the week ended March 20, 1930, and almost three times as large as in the preceding 1940 week. Public awards were the highest ever reported and private contracts were the largest since June 24, 1937.

Government owned manufacturing plants, shipways, cantonments, and barracks accounted for the gain in public work, which nearly tripled the previous week. Comparisons follow:

STRIKER RELIEF ISSUE CARRIED TO SUPREME COURT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 [Special].—In an issue involving the "little steel" strike of 1937, government attorneys demanded before the Supreme court today that the Republic Steel corporation repay federal work relief agencies for wages paid men who went out on strike.

The case is an outgrowth of a National Labor Relations board order commanding Republic to reinstate a large number of strikers with back pay, and, where the strikers obtained federal relief work, to deduct this and hand it to the relief agencies.

When the Supreme court declined to review the Republic case last spring, it appeared that reinstatement and any necessary reimbursement of strikers would have to be carried out as directed by the third Circuit court. Soon afterward, however, the second Circuit court, in another case, ruled the reimbursement illegal. As a result, the Supreme court reopened that angle of the Republic case.

RFC LOANS SINCE FEBRUARY, 1938, ARE $2,710,692,448

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 [Special].—Since the Reconstruction Finance corporation resumed lending during February, 1938, it has authorized 8,485 loans, aggregating $2,710,692,448, it was announced today. Of these loans, 6,867, aggregating $412,872,864, were granted to business, exclusive of national defense loans, including $23,802,758 later taken up by banks.

The Federal National Mortgage association has bought 47,317 Federal Housing administration insured mortgages, aggregating $190,412,352, and has commitments to buy 1,433 additional mortgages, aggregating $5,868,791. It has authorized 14 large scale housing loans, aggregating $5,650,500.

MINTS' OUTPUT JUMPS 155 PCT.; WORK 24 HOURS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 [Special].—The three United States mints, working on a 24 hour basis, produced 155 per cent more coins in the September quarter than last year, and demand for coins shows no signs of letting up, the treasury department reported today. The mints turned out 449,855,841 coins with a value of $15,797,820, compared with 175,812,015 coins in the comparable 1939 period.

Anticipating the busiest year in its history, the bureau of the mint is adding new machinery and equipment at the Philadelphia, Denver and San Francisco mints to cope with expected demands, it was said.

Equity Suits Against 16 Insurance Firms Dismissed

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe yesterday sustained motions to dismiss a number of equity suits brought against 16 mutual life insurance companies and which involved approximately half of their billion dollar surplus funds. Plaintiffs in the cases were former policy holders who based their claims on the argument that policy holders are partners in the business, and thus are entitled to a proportionate share of the company's surplus in addition to the cash-in value when their policies lapse. The suits were filed nearly a year ago.

Needs of Army Give Big 'Kick' to Shoe Firms

Shoe requirements of the United States army after the induction of conscripted recruits into the armed forces will be increased five to seven million pairs a year, H. M. McAdoo, group executive for leather in the industrial materials division of the defense advisory commission, said here yesterday. McAdoo, president of the United States Leather company, spoke before the Tanners' Council of America on leather requirements in the defense program.

McAdoo said that altho the exact total footwear needs in the current program cannot be stated it is estimated that the consumption rate per man may average between four and five pairs a year, or about twice the rate of civilian consumption.

Gives Estimated Needs.

He said that to provide five million pairs of shoes for the army, manufacturers would require the equivalent of a million hides. He said other defense items would take 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 hides annually. Normal commercial demand has ranged from 20,000,000 to 22,000,000 hides a year.

"Important price rises will be scrutinized by government officials to determine whether they are justified," McAdoo said. "If the increases are found unjustifiable, widespread publicity will be given to the facts in each case. If this is not sufficient to bring about a correction, price controls undoubtedly will be developed."

September Output Lower.

Approximately 35,000,000 pairs of shoes were produced in September, a decline of 4.9 per cent from an output of 36,807,000 pairs last year, the tanners' council reported.

The council said production in October probably would be slightly larger than a year ago. Production for the first 10 months of 1940 is expected to approximate 337,428,000 pairs, or 7.1 per cent fewer in the corresponding period in 1939.

BANK CLEARINGS TOTAL RISES ON NEW YORK GAIN

New York, Oct. 17 (AP).—Bank clearings in the five day business week ended Oct. 16 topped the corresponding 1939 period for the third consecutive week, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. The rise was due chiefly to larger New York clearings.

The check turnover in 23 leading cities totaled $5,308,783,000, or 5.5 per cent more than $5,032,512,000 a year ago, also a short week.

New York City volume rose to $2,950,430,000 from $2,613,790,000 a year ago, a gain of 12.9 per cent. Other cities, however, dropped 2.5 per cent to $2,358,353,000. Chicago check clearances amounted to $324,900,000, or 0.8 per cent under $327,500,000 last year.

Copper Supplies Exceed Quarter's Requirements

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP).—The Bureau of Mines reported today that available supplies of copper for the last quarter of 1940 exceeded consumers' requirements by 81,000 tons. It placed fabricators' requirements for refined copper for domestic and foreign trade at 361,000 tons and estimated the available supply at 442,000 tons.

NELSON ROCKEFELLER IS APPOINTED HEAD OF INTER-AMERICAN UNIT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP).—Secretary Jessie Jones of the commerce department announced today that Nelson Rockefeller has been appointed chairman of the inter-American development commission.

Nelson Rockefeller.

Rockefeller, already co-ordinator of commercial and cultural relations between the American republics, will succeed Edward Noble, former undersecretary of commerce, as chairman of the development commission. This agency was set up to collaborate with private capital in the United States and Latin American countries in developing new industries in Latin America.

Jones also announced the appointment of W. L. Clayton of Houston, Tex., as a deputy federal loan administrator to work with the Export-Import bank, now conducting negotiations with several South American republics on new loans.

BUSINESS LOANS HIGHEST SINCE 1937 IN CHICAGO

Commercial, agricultural, and industrial loans of federal reserve system member banks in Chicago rose 12 million dollars in the week ended Wednesday to 453 millions, the highest level since 1937.

Figures issued yesterday also disclosed that such loans by New York member banks rose 19 millions to 1,800 millions, also a peak since 1937.

AUTO INDUSTRY TO BE SURVEYED FOR PLANE WORK

Endeavor to Speed Defense Program.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 17.—Plans for an early survey of the facilities the motor car industry can make immediately available to the United States government for the speeding of mass production of airplanes were disclosed today by the Automobile Manufacturers' association.

A committee to make the survey and in other ways coöperate in speeding the defense program will be named at a meeting here Oct. 25. In asking the heads of the nation's automobile plants to be represented at the meeting, Alvan Macauley, president of the automobile association, said it would be attended by William S. Knudsen, member of the National Defense Advisory commission, in charge of production.

May Have Specifications.

Knudsen, Macauley said, hoped to be able to present to the car manufacturers a list of the airplane parts, with blue prints and specifications, which are desired by the government.

Executives representing all the automobile and truck manufacturing companies at a meeting in New York earlier this week adopted a resolution undertaking "to subordinate work on automotive model changes to the necessities of the defense program and specifically to aviation procurement."

Macauley was directed to name a committee to coöperate with all those in the automotive industry, the aviation industry, the tool and die makers, and automotive body shops in determining and listing available facilities adaptable to airplane production.

Accepts Industry's Offer.

Macauley's announcement that Knudsen would attend the meeting next week is taken in automotive circles here to mean that the government has accepted the industry's offer to enlist its stamping presses, dies, and machinery in the effort to get into volume output of airplane body parts in the shortest possible time.

As the plan was interpreted here the production of completed planes in automobile plants is not contemplated, but rather the making of standardized parts that can be shipped in an ever growing stream to established aviation plants thruout the United States.

A curtailment of automobile and truck output may not be required under the plan, one source close to the motor industry and the Defense Advisory commission indicated today, if the airplane work is widely distributed.

AUGUST STOKER SALES SET NEW PEAK AT 23,469

Factory sales of mechanical stokers in August were the largest for any month on record, United States bureau of the census figures showed yesterday. The figures were based on reports made by 107 manufacturers representing 95 per cent of the total value of industry's output.

Sales numbered 23,469 machines of various sizes and types, an increase of 54 per cent over August, 1939, when 15,209 stokers were sold.

Stoker sales for the first eight months of 1940 numbered 77,705, compared with 51,813 in the 1939 period, an increase of 50 per cent.

2 Million More Jobs Forecast in '41 Upswing

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 (AP).—The bureau of agricultural economics predicted today that American business and industrial activity in 1941, influenced largely by national defense spending, should expand to the extent of employing at least 2,000,000 more persons than in 1940.

Such an increase, when coupled with prospective enlargement of the armed forces under conscription, should, the bureau said, reduce the nation's unemployment rolls—which it placed at between 8,000,000 and 9,000,000—by about 2,500,000 persons.

Other develpments forecast included higher wholesale prices, some wage increases, an increase in steel production, improvement in textile output, a "considerable" increase in heavy construction, and a further slump in agricultural exports.

Military Spending May Rise.

"If the international situation as it involves the United States should become much more acute, military expenditures in 1941 might be much larger, industrial activity would experience a greater increase, and price changes might be greater," the bureau said.

Settlement of some of the world's present difficulties would bring "a letdown in tension and decelerate the industrial machine," it was said.

The bureau said that industrial exports to Great Britain should increase if that nation continues the fight with Germany. It is believed, the bureau added, that the British have sufficient buying power to finance any possible purchases of industrial products in this country during 1941.

Expect Favorable Conditions.

"Business men are anticipating several years of generally favorable business conditions and possibly rising prices, which may cause them to be less apprehensive over their inventory positions and more inclined to take risks in developing new or expanding old enterprises," the survey said. "Buyers of durable consumers' goods such as houses and automobiles may be similarly affected."

The bureau said that if the war continues exports of industrial products to South America and other parts of the world also may increase somewhat. Such expansion will be definitely limited, the bureau said, by restricted purchasing power of these countries, which have lost many of their usual markets for their surplus agricultural and industrial raw materials.

MACHINE MAKES SHELL FORGING EACH MINUTE

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 17 (AP).—A machine capable of turning out a shell forging per minute has been designed for the army by the machine tool industry, a joint meeting of the American Society of Tool Engineers and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers was told today.

Tell Berna of Cleveland, general manager of the National Machine Tool Builders' association, said a model was now under continuous life test in the Studebaker plant at South Bend., Ind..

Thus in event of war, Berna declared, "the army will have tested designs which could be followed by any manufacturer equipped for this type of production; would insure a broad source of supply in large volume with minimum delay."

Gas Cheaper than Water, So State Buys Lots of It

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 17 [Special].—New York state has let a contract for 2,000,000 gallons of gasoline to the Socony-Vacuum Oil company at the lowest price on record, 5.74 cents a gallon, it was announced today. The state pays 12 cents a gallon for bottled drinking water.

BIG INDUSTRIAL FIRM EARNINGS FAR ABOVE 1939

General Electric Ne Up 48 Per Cent.

Net earnings of the General Electric company during the first nine months of 1940 increased 48 per cent over last year's level, a report to shareholders disclosed yesterday. Several other large companies in varied fields, including the Allegheny Ludlum Steel corporation, the Owens-Illinois Glass company, and the Worthington Pump and Machinery corporation, also reported substantial gains in income.

Charles E. Wilson.

Equal to $1.29 a Share.

Charles E. Wilson, General Electric's president, announced that net profit applicable to the common stock amounted to $37,094,776 for the nine months ended with September, compared with $25,022,631 a year ago. The earnings were equivalent to $1.29 and 87 cents a share in the respective periods.

Net sales in the first nine months amounted to $287,249,930, an increase of 32 per cent over $217,900,154 a year ago.

Wilson forecast a further increase in sales in the fourth quarter "due to the record volume of orders being received," but added that much of it represented large apparatus requiring months to complete and will therefore not be reflected in profits until well into 1941.

"It is not presently anticipated that profits will increase proportionately, however," he said, "because of the greatly increased provision for taxes, lower margins on products for national defense, and the necessity for a speeding up of production which will undoubtedly involve some sacrifice in efficiency."

Dividend of 35 Cents Voted.

A dividend of 35 cents a share was ordered on common stock, making a total of $1.05 to be paid out of profits for the first nine months, compared with 75 cents a year ago.

For the quarter ended Sept. 30, Allegheny Ludlum, large producer of alloy and special steels, realized net profit of $1,300,582, equal to 99 cents

STOCK MARKET STRENGTHENED BY STEEL GROUP

Firmness in London Also Is Influence.

New York, Oct. 17 (AP).—Gains of one to two points for some of the steels gave stability to a thin stock market today. Final quotations were generally higher by fractions, altho most of the gainers, at some time in the session, had been below yesterday's close.

The Associated Press average of 60 selected stocks advanced 0.2 point at 44.7 for the third consecutive rise, reaching the highest level in 10 days. Transactions totaled 648,900 shares, compared with 662,850 yesterday.

Commentators regarded the action based largely on technical adjustments of position by professionals, because few "outside" orders were reported.

London Market Firm.

Contributing to sentiment for the advance was the firmness of the London exchange under the fury of German air attacks and the strong lift in the Toronto exchange, which experienced a 300,000 share day.

Chief among the gainers were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, Douglas, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, New York Central, Great Northern preferred, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Chrysler, Allied Chemical, Air Reduction, Kennecott, American Smelting, Loft, and International Paper.

Chicago Stocks.

Price advances predominated on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Turnover totaled 22,000 shares. Lindsay Light preferred and Yates American Machine established new high marks for the year at 12 and 3¾, respectively, up 2¾ and ⅛.

New York Bonds.

New York, Oct. 17 (AP).—The bond market had numerous individual firm spots today but there were enough laggards to give a spotty appearance at the close.

The industrial and utility groups in the Associated Press averages reached new 1940 tops at 104.7 and 99.1, respectively, while other components of the index marked time.

United States governments closed unchanged to 8/32 of a point higher.

Bank Stocks.

Harris Trust' shares jumped 10 points to 300 yesterday as stocks of larger Chicago banks moved upward. Northern Trust advanced 5 points, First National 4, La Salle National and Continental Illinois 2 each, and City National 1. Chicago Title, selling ex dividend, declined 4 points.

WHEAT EXTENDS LONG, BUT SLOW RISE IN PRICES

Wheat advanced yesterday, continuing the creeping rise which began last August. Prices on the Chicago Board of Trade rose ⅝ to ¾ cent and closed at the top with May and July options at new seasonal high figures.

Other grains showed a strong undertone and May and July corn and all deliveries of oats sold at new seasonal high marks. Corn gained 1⅛ to 1¼ cents. December corn at 61 cents sold at the highest price since last May. Oats gained ⅝ to ¾ cent with the May future highest in about five months. Rye finished ¼ to ⅝ cent higher. Profit taking developed in soy beans and the market lost ½ to 1 cent.

Altho December wheat sold at 5⅛ cents a bushel over the government loan basis for No. 2 hard in Chicago, there was no material increase in country offerings. Wheat was reported still going into loan storage on a big scale.

COTTON

Cotton markets showed a somewhat easier undertone, with the active futures closing .01 cent higher to .02 cent a pound lower. Trading in October contracts ceased at noon yesterday, with prices .01 to .05 cent lower.

Reports indicated that the demand for cotton goods was less active following purchases of 30,000,000 yards the preceding day. Prices are said to be ¼ cent a yard higher generally than early in the week.

Cash cotton closed .06 cent lower to .02 cent higher, with New York, 9.80 cents; New Orleans, 9.41 cents; Galveston, 9.21 cents, and Houston at 9.20 cents a pound. Prices follow:

COPPER AND LEAD REACH NEW PRICE PEAKS FOR YEAR

Rubber and Silk Rally from Recent Breaks.

Copper and lead again established new high prices for 1940 yesterday as most of the key commodity futures markets moved upward. Rubber and silk rallied after recent breaks, and wool tops, domestic sugar, cocoa, and cottonseed oil advanced. Hides lost ground to interrupt several days of steep climbing. Santos coffee and world sugar were lower.

Copper futures rose 0.17 to 0.24 cent a pound, with December deliveries at 11.66 to 11.75 cents. Lead gained 0.01 to 0.06 cent a pound, December quoted at 5.22 cents. Cash metals remained generally firm, but tin weakened fractionally.

Rubber Futures Higher.

Rubber futures closed 0.18 to 0.32 cent a pound higher, and the cash market advanced 0.18 to 20½ cents. December contracts were at 20.39 cents. Silk futures were 1 to 2 cents higher, and the cash market held steady at $2.82 cents a pound.

Wool tops pushed ahead ½ to 1 cent a pound, December contracts finishing at $1.11 3-10 bid. The cash market was unchanged at the season's peak of $1.25. Hides were unchanged to 0.08 cent a pound lower. December closed at 12.2 cents. The cash market, however, advanced ⅛ at 14½ cents.

Coffee Trading Quiet.

PRICES OF COAL ARE HIGHER, BUT ADVANCES VARY

Result of Government's Control Plan.

Increases in retail coal prices as a result of the federal schedule establishing minimums at the mines on Oct. 1, are generally in effect in Chicago, dealers reported yesterday. Some made them applicable yesterday. Others started them gradually as fuel purchased at the old figure was exhausted.

Most of them gave customers the benefit of the week or 10 days for shipments to arrive from the mines, charging them on the preschedule basis during the first few days of October.

Price Variations Reported.

A wide variation in prices results from the schedule, with some industrial consumers paying 50 to 70 cents more a ton. However, the majority of dealers said the increase for most domestic and industrial users will average not more than 5 cents to 25 cents a ton. Some asserted that most of their prices were the same as a year ago.

As an example of the difference in prices, one company said that the fine Illinois coal for apartment building stokers and industrial use is 5 cents a ton higher, retailing from $5.50 to $7 a ton. Pocahontas mine run coal from West Virginia for hand fired boilers is 25 cents a ton higher, the top quality selling at $8.60 a ton.

Reports Several Unchanged.

Coal from eastern and western Kentucky, Indiana, and parts of Illinois for industrial plants and stoker equipped apartments and buildings was priced high enough previously to permit it to hold unchanged, the company reported.

The price changes have caused little public reaction one official said, because they were anticipated. Purchases generally have been moved two months ahead of usual because of the war "scare" and the law which established the minimums at the mines, he said.

JAPAN DICKERS TO GET 40% OF OIL IN DUTCH INDIES

New York, Oct. 17 [Special].—Arrangements have been virtually concluded whereby approximately 40 per cent of Japan's oil requirements for the next six months will be obtained in the Netherlands Indies, it was disclosed here today. Final details are expected to be ironed out at a meeting tomorrow in Batavia between a Japanese economic mission and private oil companies.

Pressure by the Japanese government on the Netherlands Indies government is said to have been an important factor in the deal.

Under the proposed plan the Royal Dutch-Shell group and a subsidiary of the Standard-Vacuum Oil company will supply 7,000,000 barrels of oil in the six months.

In the past Japan has purchased only a comparatively small amount of oil in the Indies. Normally Japan imports about 30,000,000 barrels of oil annually. Of which four-fifths comes from the United States.

Consumers Public Power Loan to Be Offered Soon

An issue of $1,100,000 of Consumers Public Power district bonds will be offered in a few days by a group of investment companies including John Nuveen & Co., A. C. Allyn & Co., and Ballman & Main. They bear interest of 3¼ per cent, mature from 1943 thru 1965, and are payable from the earnings of the Southern Nebraska Power company properties being acquired by consumers.

Peter Fox Brewing Earns 97c a Share in Quarter

The Peter Fox Brewing company yesterday reported September quarter net income of $119,097, equal to 97 cents a share, compared with $99,832, or 82 cents a share, for the 1939 period. The quarter's sales were $1,025,439, against $696,050 of last year, an increase of 47 per cent.

FIXING OF COAL PRICES REDUCES FREIGHT TRAFFIC

Dealer opposition to government fixed bituminous coal prices that went into effect Oct. 1 caused a decline in railway loadings of revenue freight last week from the levels reached a year ago. Traffic figures issued yesterday by the Association of American Railroads showed that coal loadings dropped 45,232 cars. The preceding week's coal traffic had also shown a reduction from last year.

Coal company officials said that the low point in coal shipments probably would be reached this week. The railroads hauled 120,310 cars of coal last week, 7,383 less than in the week ended Oct. 5.

The association reported that loadings of all freight totaled 811,906 cars, an increase of 5,920 cars, or 0.7 per cent compared with the preceding week, but a loss of 28,046, or 3. 3. per cent, compared with a year ago.

PACKING PLANT OUTPUT VALUED 5% LOWER IN 1939

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 [Special].—Last year's production of the meat packing industry, one of the three largest industries in the United States, was valued at $2,649,292,810, the department of commerce reported today.

The industry employed 120,467 wage earners who received $162,180,141. Salaried personnel, exclusive of those in administrative offices, numbered 17,156, who received $40,002,900.

In comparison with the last previous census of manufactures in 1937, the value of products dropped 5 per cent. There were 1,516 establishments in operation in 1939, an increase of 30.7 per cent over the 1937 number.

Production by these plants represented approximately 100 pounds of meat for each person in the United States.

TWO INSURANCE FIRMS REFUSE LOAN RATE CUT

New York, Oct. 17 [Special].—Two of the group of insurance companies that purchased privately from the New York Telephone company a year ago a $75,000,000 issue of 3¾ per cent bonds, have declined to accept the interest reduction to 3 per cent which the other seven have agreed to make, it was reported in financial circles here today. A division of their $15,000,000 holdings among six of the other participants in the original purchase has been arranged by the company, it was learned.

An application for approval was made to the public service commission on Oct. 4 and a hearing has been set for Oct. 22. The company will not redeem the 3¾ per cent bonds at the price of 105 fixed in the indenture, but will stamp the old bonds to record the interest rate reduction.

Delist United Stockyards Convertible Preferred

New York, Oct. 17 [Special].—United Stockyards corporation has been permitted to withdraw its cumulative convertible preferred stock from listing and registration on the New York Stock exchange, effective at the close of business on Nov. 15, the exchange was informed today by the Securities and Exchange commission. The company said that much of the stock remained in the hands of an underwriter and that a broader market may exist in the over the counter trade.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The market for top grades of spring pigs worked down toward the $6 line at many of the leading packing centers in the middlewest yesterday as farmers continued to sell in large volume. Prices in Chicago were steady to 10 cents lower.

Demand for highly finished beef steers and yearlings worth $13.00 or more was sufficiently broad to hold these kinds in line with the 1940 peaks established Wednesday, but other steers and yearlings sold weak to 25 cents lower.

Illinois Supreme Court Will Hear Oil Well Suit

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 17 (AP).—The Illinois Supreme court today decided to hear a suit filed by the Texas company charging that oil wells on an adjoining strip of land were tilted to take oil covered by the company's subsurface rights. The suit originally was filed in Marion county Circuit court, which dismissed the complaint against D. M. Hollingsworth and others. Later the 4th district Appellate court reversed the Circuit court decision and ordered a subsurface survey.

LOANS—PERSONAL AND BUSINESS.

Personal Loans
On Your Own Signature

Here salaried men and women [single or married] can get $25 to $250 or more entirely on earning capacity and personal responsibility. We prefer to make these loans the way most people like—without security—without endorsers.

NO WAGE ASSIGNMENTS.

Simply do this:

1. Make application. [Can be in person or by phone.]
2. Come in, sign and get the cash.

Pick Your Own Payments.

Take a year or more to repay. You know best how much you can afford each month—you name the payment which best fits your income.

PRIVACY.

We keep the entire transaction strictly between us. Your employer, friends, or relatives are not notified.

SIMPLE TO GET.

Our loans are made on the simple basis of your ability to make small regular payments, and if you can, you should not hesitate to see us for a loan at once. Come in or telephone.
